THE 5 P.M. EDITION AT THE POLICE COURT

FINED FOR KEEPING SLOT MACHINES.

Two Tobacconists Called Upon to Pay $10 and Costs Each—Money Given For Poor Relief.

John McGill and Daniel Fitzgibbon, tobacconists, Princess street, appeared before Magistrate Farrell, this morning, charged with keeping slot machines in their stores for gain. Each pleaded guilty, and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed in each case. The three machines confiscated a few days ago by Constable Bateson, were produced in court, two of them were taken from McGill's store. The court ordered that the money in the machines, which will amount to a few dollars, be handed over to the poor relief.

For the past two weeks, the police have been keeping watch on the cigar stores, but it was only at these two stores that the slot machines were found, by dropping one cent into these slots, a wheel turns around, and there is the chance of winning from one to three cigars. The game has been played to a large extent. Some have made good, while others did not fare very well.

Mr. Fitzgibbon stated to the magistrate that he did not know that there was harm in the running of the slot machines. "I did not think there was any more harm in these machines than there would be in a shooting gallery," he said. "At a shooting gallery you have to pay for your shots, and if you don't hit the bull's eye, you don't get anything. It is just the same with these machines. I do not see any harm in the machines; they have been operated for years, and there has been no warning given."

"It is to prevent young men and boys from getting into the way of gambling habits," said the magistrate. "I think possibly, that there is a good deal in what you say. These machines have been used without the knowledge of the danger, and I am willing to take this into consideration, although there is the old story 'ignorance of the law does not excuse.' However, I think that the ends of justice will be served in imposing a fine of $10 and costs in each case."

The fines were paid immediately after court was over. The machines will be held by the police.

STILL INSULTING LADIES.

King Street West Quartette and Two Lady Students.

The gang on King street are again making themselves troublesome to people passing by. Last evening two lady students were insulted as they were walking on King street, near Centre street. As the two girls passed the corner four fellows walked down Centre street, two of them stepped out in front of the girls and two of them behind, and walked this way for over a block. Numerous times the girls tried to pass the men in front but were not allowed to do so. The language used by the men, and the remarks made about the girls were shocking. These people have been causing much trouble lately in the vicinity, and before long some of them will run up against some person who will hand them a few to remember the occasion by.

It is known that the people who are causing the trouble do not live in that section of the town, but congregate around there to disturb the people. A few complaints have also been made about a bunch that hang around Union street, near Collingwood street, and the athletic grounds. A military man and his lady friend were given quite a reception in that vicinity a few nights ago.

THE NEW HONORS.

Some Good Kingston Men Were Overlooked.

The ranks of the formidable army of king's counsel has been depleted and reinforcement is timely. Of course, to the victors belong the spoils and the new dignitaries are conservatives. Not only that, but they have walked straight, and been near the handle of the local machine. The ins and the outs are thus arrayed:

- |                   |                   |
|-------------------|-------------------|
| King's counsel.   | Not K. C.'s       |
| G. M. Macdonnell, | J. M. Farrell,    |
| J. L. Whiting,    | J. Maesse,        |
| John McIntyre,    | A. B. Cunningham, |
| Donald McIntyre,  | Francis King,     |
| R. V. Rogers,     | George Smythe,    |
| W. F. Nickle,     | W. Mundell,       |
| J. B. Walkem,     | D. Givens,        |
|                   | J. M. Mowat,      |
|                   | T. J. Rigney,     |
|                   | T. L. Snook,      |
|                   | John Strange,     |
|                   | C. R. Webster,    |
|                   | W. H. Sullivan.   |

What's the matter with King, Rigney and Givens? Haven't they done woman work for the party? These three address would have evoked up the forces, and they should not have been overlooked. It is not too late to correct the omissions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Principal Ellis' Address.

Kingston, Jan. 22.—(To the Editor): I was asked to give a statement of what I understood Mr. Ellis to say in his address to the Young Men's Club, on Sunday afternoon, January 12th. This statement was desired because of the controversy that has occurred with respect to certain points on which there has certainly been a misunderstanding.

Mr. Ellis was invited to speak to the club some weeks ago, and suggested as his theme, "Clean and Honest Government." His subject was approved, and his address was an exceedingly able one, comprehensive, clear, and instructive. At its close the club tendered him a cordial vote of thanks.

I was about to give my impression of the address, and one very favorable to Mr. Ellis, when it occurred to me that it would be better, for all concerned, if it were repeated, under the same auspices, in the same place, at an early day. The members of the council and of the school board will be pleased, of course, to hear it, and so will many who could not be present on January 12th, in consequence of the stormy weather.

It had been proposed that the address be given later in any case, but the action of the council makes this the more necessary, and Mr. Ellis will probably be greeted with a much larger audience on his second appearance.—Yours, R. MEEK.

Late Mrs. Angus Burnett.

Last Friday night Mrs. Angus Burnett passed to rest at the general hospital. She had been suffering with paralysis for the past three years. During all that time she bore her illness with great patience and Christian confidence. The deceased was born in Hamilton, Scotland, sixty-five years ago. Her maiden name was Elizabeth McNaught. Mrs. Burnett was a member of Cataragui Methodist church. She leaves five sons and three daughters: John William and Henry; Mrs. Walter Clarke, of Haverlock; and Alfred, of Ottawa; Mrs. Walter Jackson, of Limerick, N.Y.; Mrs. Charles Anderson, of Racine, Wis., who was unable to attend the funeral, and Frederick, on the homestead, Cataragui, where the funeral was held. Service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stillwell, of Cataragui, after which the remains were placed in the vault.

Lillian Russell In "Wildfire."

Lillian Russell made her debut last season as a comedienne after achieving fortune and fame as a prima donna. She will appear at the Grand Jan. 22nd, to-night, in a racing comedy by George Broadhurst and George V. Hobart.

Wildfire, owned secretly by Mrs. Henrietta Barrington. Her husband died, leaving her nothing but a racing stable. For various reasons, important among which is the engagement of her sister to the son of a reformer, she must not let it be known that she is the real owner of "Wildfire," and from this situation the comedy is natural that there should be a love affair.

The County Council Episode.

It seems strange that every member of the county council was present for the inaugural session, anticipated for Tuesday, when the fourth Tuesday of the month is the date provided by the act. Two weeks ago a Whig representative was informed by a councillor that June 21st was the time of meeting. Even the time-honored caucus was held on Monday night. The council should see that thereafter no such serious bungling should occur. Every member who was present on Tuesday will have to defray his own expenses, unless the council at its session next week orders the treasurer to pay. No meeting was called by the county clerk.

Their Design Stood Second.

The Daily Standard, of Regina, Saskatchewan, states that the plans of Storey & Van Egmond, of that city, stood second in the competition for the new parliament buildings to be erected, but that many are of opinion that they are best. The designs submitted were those of E. and F. G. Maxwell, Montreal. The parliament buildings will cost about two million dollars. Mr. Storey was formerly an architect of Kingston, and went to Regina a couple of years ago, where he has been doing well.

Canada In Line.

A Whig correspondent reports the occurrence of an earthquake at Tremore, county of Renfrew, on Sunday, 19th, at 8:25 p.m. The rumble lasted about a minute and the houses shook perceptibly. The writer says this is the third quake experience there during his residence of twenty-three years.

SAD END OF ROMANCE

KILLS HIMSELF BY SWEET-HEART'S BODY.

Covers Her Bed With Fragrant Flowers, Then "Blows" Out His Brains.

Nice, Jan. 22.—A tragic ending to a romance of two young French people of good family occurred at Nice, yesterday, when M. Georges Hucher, a medical student, and the son of a well-known official, of one of the government offices, killed himself at the bedside of his dead fiancée, Mlle. Juliette de Raymond.

Mlle. de Raymond had been under treatment at the private hospital of Dr. Poitier, in Paris, where M. Hucher was an assistant. The student fell in love with her, but his parents would not hear of a marriage, owing to the girl's delicate state of health.

The pair finally eloped. They went to Nice, where they took a beautiful ground-floor flat, with a large garden overlooking the Promenade des Anglais, and M. Hucher hoped that the warmth of the climate would cure his sweetheart and enable them to marry. But Mlle. de Raymond grew worse, and died in her lover's arms on Thursday morning.

Hucher was frantic with grief. Yesterday he stripped the garden of all its flowers, roses, arum lilies and white lilac, and ordered large quantities from Nice. He went into the bedroom, where his fiancée was lying and covered her with the flowers until the bed was one large floral bank.

Then he stretched himself at the girl's feet and shot himself through the head.

SICILIAN'S ROUGH TRIP.

Liner Puts Into Halifax With Damaged Steering Gear.

Halifax, Jan. 22.—The Allan line steamer Sicilian, Capt. Campbell, six days out from Philadelphia for Liverpool, via St. John's, Nfld., came unexpectedly into port, yesterday afternoon, with her steering gear damaged. In the hurricane which raged off the Nova Scotia coast on Saturday and Sunday, great seas washed over her deck, one large one breaking a portion of her steering gear, and while this was being repaired the other part gave way, leaving the big liner at the mercy of the seas. It was impossible to guide her, and she was driven 180 miles off her course. Part of the broken gear was patched up, and Capt. Campbell shaped his course for this port, and was sighted off the harbor shortly after noon, steaming slowly up. During the storm the chief officer had his leg fractured and is now confined to his room. Another member of the crew had his hand frostbitten.
