Lame back-swollen hands and feet-Rheumatism and Sciatica - Neuralgia -all are cured to" stay cured, by

OR-FRUIT LIVER TABLETS.

They heal the kidneys and purify the blood. Made of fruit 1uices and tonics. 50c a box -at all druggists'.

SAUCE

The Original and Genuine Worcestershire

The greatest globe-trotter of the century.

Well known and appreciated throughout the world. 167 J. M. DOUGLAS & CO., Canadian Agents, Established, 1857.

TUDEWDITING

stenographer and typist and we are prepared to do strictly first class copying of all kinds. Headquarters for Typewriters, Repairs and Supplies.

J. R. C. Dobb, & Co.

171 Wellington street.

COAL!

The sudden changes in weather bught to suggest the wisdom of putting in some good coal. We sell good Coal. It's the kind that sends out the most heat, and makes the home comfortable; it's the best money can buy, there is none better mined. We deliver it to you clean and without slate, at the yery bottom

Booth & Co., Phone 133. Foot of West St *************

Carrying a Rible under the arm more than you. Johnny-Well, pa. does not prevent carrying poison un- why don't you take chloroform be-Carrying a Bible under the arm

NEW LIGHT HAS RECENTLY BEEN THROWN ON IT.

There is a Possibility That the Noted Pirate Was a Tool of a "Grafter."

Some interesting manuscripts have been discovered at Welbeck Abbey. contested in the sensational Druce case, which throw some new light on the career of Capt. Kidd. They are mostly letters from the Earl of Bellomont, who was sent out by William III. as governor of New York and Massachusetts with special instructions to suppress the pirates infesting the Atlantic. He supplied Kidd , with a vessel of thirty guns and a commission under the great seal, both to act against the French and seize the pirates. Kidd, as everybody knows, fell a victim to temptation and turned pirate himself.

There was much suspicion at the ime that Lord Bellomont was really backing Kidd in the pirate venture and was not at all averse to making money that way, as long as his own participation in the nefarious business was not disclosed. Kidd, in his "protest," which is included in the documents, says

"The ship being bought, rigged manned, and named the 'Adventure Galley, the Lord Bellomont encourthat the noble lords above mentioned (the Duke of Shrewsbury, the Lord Chancellor, Earl of Romney, and Admiral Russell) should stifle all complaints that should be made in England, and he himself would prevent all clamors in those parts where he was governor by condemning all the goods and treasure I should bring in. and disposing of them privately, and satisfying the owners for such part as should be due to them."

These accusations Lord Bellomont. of course, bitterly resents, and declares that the pirates have cost him, more trouble and torment than any business during his whole life, and he is not a brass farthing the better for them. One of the most interesting disclosures made by these documents is that it seems to have been hard at that time to tell just who were pirates and who, were not, so dishonest were the King's own officers. Gardiner, the deputy lieutenant of Rhode Island, refuses to give up to the earl all the pirates in his hands and "has writ me an evasive, tricking letter,' writes the earl. "He is an ill man. Capt. Gullock assures me that a silver tankard of his that was in the ship Bradish (one of Kidd's crew) ran away with and was seen in Gardiner's house. It is scandalous that such a man should be in the King's

He adds that he is continuing the search for Kidd's treasure, "but without much success." "A Capt. Thomas Clarke," he continues, "was said to have £10,000 or £12,000 in his hands and I have confined him in the fort at New York. I was in hopes he was going to give it up, but some pettifogging lawyers advised him to set me at defiance.'

In another letter he writes: "The preserving of Kidd and the rest and hindering their escape out of prison is in great measure owing to the rewards I gave the sheriff and keeper of the prison here in New York, and the caresses and good words they had every day from me. Up to the last Kidd protested his innocence and said that far from being a pirate himself he had done his level best to capture the famous pirate ship, Mocha, with all its vast store of treasure. But Joseph Palmer, one of his men, turned state's evidence to save his own skin and deposed that he had encouraged and aided the Mocha instead of attempting to cap-

Kidd is spoken of in the correspon dence as a "villainous monster," and everybody seems to be disgusted with the whole affair. The earl writes: "Sir Edmund Harrison, who sent me to America, gave me a terrible hard Presbyterian gripe in the articles be-tween him and me," and he speaks elsewhere of being given a "Presbyterian gripe"-apparently the worst possible thing that could befall an English nobleman of the seventeenth

Frequently in the correspondence $12,000 is inadequate and beseeches his friends to use their influence to get it increased. He makes frequen allusions to his rights in the booty captured with the pirates. "I am told as vice-admiral of these seas," he writes in one place, "I have a right to a third part of them; if the rest of the lords come in for snacks shall be satisfied."

Hunting For Treasure.

Mr. Wigglesworth, an Englishman. who lives at Arcis, is to make a search mysterious treasure buried by one of his ancestors in that portion of the wall of Joan of Arc's tower at Rouen which formed the old dungeon of the castle.

The treasure had been a family tradition, but its whereabouts was unknown. Mr. Wigglesworth states that one of his ancestors was a Bailie. or Moyar, of Ronen, at the time when the town belonged to the English. He says that he discovered quite re-cently some papers which prove that treasures belonging to his family were. hidden in several places in the ruins of the old town of Rouen.

One place indicated was a hole in the Joan of Arc tower, covered by a stone on which the word "Open" was cut in English. The place was examined, and a stone was found bearing the letters "en"—the last two letters of the word "Open."

Mr. Wigglesworth has had photographs taken of all the places indicated, and in every case the photograph shows that the brickwork has seen interfered with at some distant One of the statues in the tower, of which a photograph has been tak en, is that of an ancestor of Mr.

He has written to the Ministry of rules for me to pick it up?" Refunded I you buy hirts freet us. Sints stipped snywhere the stone bearing the letters "en"

COTTAM BIRD SEED the stone bearing the letters "en"

82 Bathurse have been bearing the letters "en"

and secure the treasure,

THE DEADLY HOUSE FLY.

Worst Known Disseminator of Disease

The common house fly is one the greatest enemies of man. He is one of the worst disseminators of disease known. In spreading evil he so far surpasses the mosquito as to render the needle-beaked insect a negligble quantity by comparison. thrives where the mosquito would die of inanition. He is omnipresent, and the amount of danger that he can spread over a city absolutely stagthe seat of the Duke of Portland, | gers the imagination. With one kick whose titles and estates are being of a hind leg, for instance, he can distribute among men, women and children one hundred thousand disease-laden germs.

Medical men have long known that typhoid and other intestinal diseases are due to a germ which arises from fecal matter, but they have been at a loss to know how these germs have been disseminated. New York health officials claim to have solved the puzzle. They have traced the crime home to the house fly, have caught him with the goods on.

This is how the fly was unmasked Under the direction of Dr. Daniel D. Jackson, fly-traps were placed this summer on piers, under piers one block from the river and so on, around the waterfront in the various boroughs. Inspectors were detailed to gather the captive flies, which were taken to the laboratory, and daily records made of their numbers and the material on the body, mouth and legs of the insects examined. To prove by experiment, captured flies were thoroughly cleaned and then allowed to walk over infected material. They were again examined and the material which they carried was analyzed In one instance, a fly captured on South street this summer was found to be carrying 100,000 fecal bacteria, showing the affinity to dangerous germs of this active medium of dis-

DEAD FOOD FOR SNAKES.

Dr. Jackson, who made most of the experiments, declares solemnly, that the flies are responsible for 5,000 of the 7,000 deaths annually in New York

from typhoid and other intestinal

Successful Attempts to Cultivate Reptiles In the Zoo.

"Can the snakes in the zoo be civilzed?" It is a vital problem, especially to the ravenous reptiles that swallow their food while it is alive and kicking. Dr. Chalmers Mitchell, the secretary of the Zoological Society, London, and Mr. R. I. Pocock, the superintendent of the gardens, have been gauging the niceties of the reptilian palate by a series of interesting experiments, says The Daily News. These experiments were made in the ptile house at feeding time. After carefully noting the way in which the reptiles ate and the manner in world. which they approached their prey, they came to the conclusion that all the snakes would swallow warm, freshly-killed food, and that small animals and birds, which are generally the favorite dish of captive snakes, were not frightened when put into the eage. Even the great python, which thought nothing in the old days of swallowing a live goat, a couple of rabbits and several pigeons, was sat-

One of the results of these experiments is that a motion will be brought forward at the next meeting of the society recommending the council to discontinue the feeding of the snakes with live animals. There are still one or two fastidious reptiles in the zoo that will not take their food dead, but the civilizing influence of the officials is being brought to bear upon them. It is contended by those who wish to see the live diet continued that a python or a boa constrictor can people who visit the reptile are cap- The third bar is the crimson of Hin- poison his cattle and burn down his able of-that it is killed more neatly and with greater suddenness. There are others who contend that dead food is not a natural diet. In spite of this, Dr. Hornaday of New York was successful in inducing venomous snakes to swallow freshly-killed food.

sfied with the same menu when served

Fox-Hunting Curates.

To The London Times a correspondent writes: "Once when a duke of Grafton was thrown into a ditch a young curate, who had been closely competing with him for pride of place, shouted, 'Lie still, your grace,' and cleared him and his hunter and the fence at a bound. So pleased was the duke with the performance that he declared he would give the young divine his first vacant living, and not long afterward carried out the promise, vowing that if the curate had stopped to pull him out of the dyke he would never have patronized him. 'Sporting parsons' are still to be found in almost every county to-day who can hold their own in the first flight when hounds run hard, and some of the keenest fox hunters in all times have been supplied from the ranks of the clergy. Even the warning against their "hawkynge, huntynge and dansynge,' in the reign of Henry VI., appears to have had very little "It is difficult, indeed, to understand why riding to hounds should be considered an unclerical practice, for if skill with bat and ball is comwhat illogical to condemn the love of field sports in a vicar, and men the stamp of Rev. Jack Russell Rev. Charles Kingsley, were not the worse clergymen for being ardent for hunters. But reverend masters hounds are becoming scarce.

Dodging the Rules.

After being conducted through an old church by the verger a visitor was so pleased with the official's courtesy and information that he insisted on giving him half a crown. The man shook his head sadly "Thank you, sir,' he said, "but it's "I am sorry for that ." crown to his pocket. "But," added the verger, "if were to find a coin lying on the

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is

IS BRITAIN TO LOSE INDIA?

Native Woman In America Stirring Up Sympathy For Hindors.

Driven from her country by British story, Mrs. Phik tayi Rustom Cama, wife of a Bom my solicitor, recently arrived in New York from India, in the interest of a propaganda for the release of that country from the

She says she has been driven from country to country by British secret agents, who are constantly on her track, and that she is never free from

Even while she was talking to a reporter two women, acknowledging themselves to be Englishwomen, sat near, and one was detected making surreptitious notes of every word Mrs. Cama uttered.

Mrs. Cama was aware of the surveillance. In a distinct voice she threw down the gauntlet, informing them she feared neither them nor their

"The British Government," she said, may drive me out of America, as it has driven me out of Germany, Italy and France, but it will simpl will spread the truth and show the people how England rules her colonies. They may kill me, they may imprison my husband, who is in Bomy bay, but the Government cannot quench this fire, which in the end means the freedom of India."

Mrs. Cama dresses in the flowing fantastic robes of her countrywomen She travels as a rich tourist.

"In India," she continued, "there is a National Political Party. There are two factions in the party, the Modernists and the Extremists. The Modernists are simply the representatives of the English Government. masquerading as natives. The Extremists are the real natives of India, who wish to be free.

"The plan of the Extremists, o which I am one, is to refuse absolutef to pay the exorbitant taxes imposed by England. We realize that we are the richest possession of the crown. We realize that we grow every particle of raw material owned by Eng tand, but we are unable to manufacture it into the finished product. Instead, it must be sent to England and then shipped back to us

"The real estate tax must be done away with. Not only do we have to pay an acreage tax, but we have to pay a tax on the net income from our crops. This combined tax now amounts to 65 per cent per annum c the value of the land.

"But the struggle will last only few months more. When the tax collectors try to levy their tribute again they will be met with a refusal to pay They may throw the natives in jail they may flog them until the flesh is cut to pieces, and that bruised flesh will be the opening gun of a war that will echo throughout the civilized

"Even then the natives will not rebel. They will take their floggings, they will be thrown into jails, they will bear everything without protest. But the coffers of England will re-

Then it is expected old England will throw regiment after regiment into India. The native regiments commanded by English officers, will be asked to shoot down their countrymen, and they will refuse. When England fires the first gun—then will come rebellion.

The movement represented by Mrs Cama is so far advanced that the leaders have chosen a name and a flag for the country when a republic. The country is to known as the United Colonies of India. ferent hue. The bar at the top is the green of Mohammedanism, on which doostan, on which representations the sun and moon appear in white.

The King's Surname. The question is often asked as to whether King Edward has a surname and if he became a private gentleman whether his name would not be Mr. Guelph. This has recently been discussed by Mr. T. P. O'Connor, who is emphatic on the point. He says the conclusion of a long article: When we come to the dynasty known indifferently as the Dynasty of Hanover or of Brunswick, or of Guelph, we must trace the male ancestry in another line. Now it has been very generally supposed that the surname of that family was Guelph. It was not. The family was ennobled and. in a small way, sovereign long behereditary surnames existed. They never required or used a surname, and never had one. With the death of her late Majesty Queen Victoria, the Brunswick Dynasty ended. and with His Majesty King Edward VII. the Dynasty of Saxe Coburg Gotha commenced. Here again, new line of male ancestry must traced, but here once again it is traced back to ennobled and sovereign ancestors living at a period before the introduction of fixed hereditary surnames. The result is, that the King has never inherited any surname, and has no male ancestor who ever had one. The origin of most royal houses was similar throughout Europe, and kings and their families, speaking broadly, never had or used surnames. They signed their Christian names lone. So universally was this the case that it became rigid etiquette not use a surname, though there have been numbers of cases of dynastries, like our own Stuarts, like the Berna-dotte Dynasty of Sweden, or like the Bonaparte family, who unquestionably and indubitably had inherited The Syrian Shoemaker.

Cobblers are proverbial smokers, and the Syrian shoemaker is no exception to the rule. He, however, smokes not a short pipe, but a add a knowledge of embroidery in order that he may decorate with colored silks and bullion the gorgeous foot-

There's a lot of difference betweening your faith. always have plenty of surplus sorrow | acquaintance?" The Popularity of proves its quality.

BAKING POWDER

THE FAVORITE IN CANADIAN HOMES FOR MANY YEARS. TRY IT. REFUSE ALL SUBSTITUTES.

Sold Everywhere in the Dominion by the Best Dealers.

E. W. GILLETT COMPANY LIMITED TORONTO, ONT.

MADE IN CANADA.

USED POISONED DARTS.

Extraordinary Story of Threats Made Against an English Farmer.

An extraurdinary story was related at Preston County Police Court recently, when a painter named John Balshaw was charged with sending threatening letters to George T. Hunt, The flag is three broad bars of dif- his former employer, a farmer of Inglehead Cottage, Broughton. Mysterious letters, signed "The are eight lotus flowers, symbolizing Don," had been found, it was stated, the eight provinces of India. The cen- on Mr. Hunt's doorstep and in his kill its prey more humanely than most | tre bar is in the old gold of Buddha. | grounds threatening to kill his son, > farm unless $6,500 were paid. One "On Monday I was standing behind a wall, and, unseen by any one, I blew a thorn dart, which struck your son's hand. I used a Brazilian Indian blowpipe and a poisoned thorn. The puncture is almost indiscernible, but in six hours the doctors in all the four continents will be useless. The only cure is the secret balm possess, having received it from my father, who was a full-blooded In-dian. Sixty-five hundred dollars must be placed in the drive near the gatepost to save the boy's life." "You had better trifle with the worst brigand than play with the Don. You are not dealing with a lunatic, but with six desperate men desperate straits, wanting to go back to their own country."

In another Mr. Hunt was warned that half a mile of electric wire was being connected with a quantity of nitro-glycerine to blow up his farm. Further letters were received, in which the writer. "Carlos," said he wished to save Mr. Hunt from the "Don's devilish schemes." and would do so Balshaw when arrested denied having written the letters. Books of adventure telling of "Don Carlos." and poisoned arrows, were found in his house. He was committed for trial.

Destroyed by Fire. The Parliament Buildings of New Zealand were recently completely burned. They were situated in the eminence overlooking the harbor, and stemmed hookah, while he works. He were conspicuous from the water. is properly a slipper maker, and to The Government Buildings nearby

Awful Sudden

"What name?" asked the young on Sale. took the customer's bundle. "William Arrimee," snswered the customer. "I having faith in your works and work- don't know," said the young woman, staring at him. "I might. But bain't People who have no love to spare you pretty tolerably familiar on short

TRANSFER CASES

"CHEAP" vs. "DEAR."

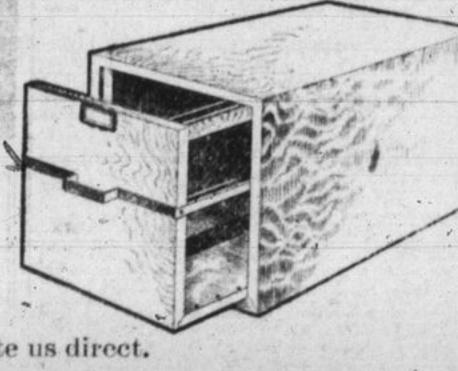

VOU may think that you are saving money in buying a "cheap" Transfer Case of inferior make, but you will soon find that the same case is very "dear" Cheap cases soon fall to pieces and jeopardize your records.

The loss of a single letter may cost you hundreds of times the difference between a cheap and a good case.

Ask your dealer to show you our line of Transfer Cases. They are made right, and will outwear the records they con-

If your dealer hasn't our Transfer Cases or Filing Systems supplies in stock, write us direct.

Our Catalog is free. Postpaid.

Head Offices and Toronto Showrooms: 97 Wellington Street West. Telephones: Main 4240-4241-7295.

THE OFFICE SPECIALTY MFG. CO.LIMITED MAKERS OF CONFILING SYSTEMS

GREAT JANUARY SALE OF FURNITURE

The Choicest Stock of High Grade Furniture in the City Now

ROBERT J. REID,

230 Princess Street, Near Opera House.

Telephone 775