THE 5 P.M. EDITION AT THE POLICE COURT

THEFT CASE HAS UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES.

Batterymen Charges That Pair of Shoes Were Stolen from His Room—Case Will Be Continued on Monday Next.

A theft case with rather unusual circumstances, came up before Magistrate Farrell in police court, this morning. Alred Smith, who boards on King street, was arraigned on a charge of stealing a pair of shoes from Ernest Blackman, a member of "A" battery. He pleaded not guilty, and after his evidence and that of another witness had been taken, the charge against him was changed to that of having received stolen property. On this charge he was found guilty, but allowed to go on suspended sentence. W. E. Nickle appeared on his behalf. Smith's story in brief, was that he had bought the shoes from James Cameron, a member of "A" battery, and the result was that a charge was laid against Cameron. Cameron, in his statement, claimed that he had been given the boots to sell, by a man named Graves, formerly a member of "B" battery. The magistrate adjourned the hearing of the charge against Cameron until Monday.

Ernest Blackman gave evidence, telling of the theft of the pair of shoes from his room at the barracks. He heard that Smith had secured a pair of shoes, and went to him. The pair of shoes Smith was wearing at the time, he identified as belonging to him, as his number was stamped on them. Smith told him that he bought the shoes from a man up the street, and had paid $2 for them.

Constable Arniel told of having executed the search warrant for the recovery of the shoes. Smith had been wearing them. The shoes were produced in court.

Smith said that on Monday night, James Cameron called upon him, at Mrs. Lyons' store, corner King and Barrack streets, where he boarded, and asked him if he wanted to buy a pair of shoes. Cameron, he said, had a pair of shoes with him, wrapped up in paper. He paid Cameron $1 for the shoes, and took possession of them. He had no idea at the time the bargain was made, that the shoes had been stolen. The next day, he noticed the number on the shoes.

Mrs. Lyons said that she was positive that Smith had bought the shoes from Cameron.

When the charge against Smith was changed to that of having received stolen property, he entered a plea of not guilty, but the magistrate said that he would have to find him guilty. The evidence was not gone over again, but suspended sentence was then pronounced on Smith.

James Cameron, the next man in the case was then charged with the theft of shoes. He pleaded not guilty and made a statement. He said that the shoes, which Blackman claimed belonged to him, had been given over to him (the witness), by a man named Graves, who was formerly a member of "B" battery. Graves, he said, asked him if he knew any person who wanted to buy a pair of shoes. Witness told him that perhaps he could get some one to buy them, and with that he was given the boots. He afterwards sold them to Smith. Witness said he had often heard remarks passed about things being stolen from the barracks.

It was pointed out that a batteryman leaving the barracks in good standing could dispose of his shoes should he desire to do so.

Nothing further was done in the case of Cameron, apart from the taking of his evidence, and the magistrate then adjourned the case until Monday. The man Graves will be secured to give evidence.

COAL MAN NEARLY FROZEN.

Locked in the Shed When Only Half Dressed.

A well-known coal dealer had an experience about seven o'clock, this morning, that was very uncomfortable, while it lasted, but is now told by him as a good joke on himself. He arose quite early, and finding it such a cold morning he partly dressed himself and went down to fix the stoves, in order to have everything nice and warm for his family when they got up.

He found all the stoves going merrily, with the exception of the kitchen range, which was very nearly out, and he went to the shed to get a few sticks of kindling to build it up again. He was very careful to see that he shut the door tight after him, for fear of any more cold getting in, while he was busy getting the wood. The work of getting the fuel took only a moment or two, and considering the weather that was quite enough, especially for a man, lightly clad. He again made for the door, and was none too pleased to find that he had locked himself out, with no way of getting in, unless the people upstairs heard him and came to his rescue. He hammered on the door with a piece of wood until his hands became so cold he could hammer no more. He then did a little dance around the shed to get his feet warm enough to do a little kicking. The noise he made was quite loud enough for the rest of the family to hear, but they thought that the water pipes were frozen again and he was trying to thaw them out. Finally after twenty minutes one of the family came downstairs and let him in, and he acknowledges that he was not in any too good humor after his airing. The kitchen stove, the innocent cause of all the trouble, was soon going nicely and the man with the kindling was thawed out.

LEAGUE STILL EXISTS

And the Scheduled Games Will Be Played.

An officer of the City Hockey League writes that the league is still in existence, notwithstanding reports to the contrary. Two games are to be played this evening. One will be between the R.C.H.A. and the Frontenac Business College. The writer says: "The Black Watch team was notified that a certain player was ineligible to play." Nevertheless he took part in the game. The game resulted in a tie. A protest was entered. The executive at once awarded the game to the Frontenac Business College, the opposing team. These facts were taken from the president of the offending team by the officers in person. A consent was given to grant a hearing to any representative who wished to urge extenuating circumstances. Only a week has elapsed since then, but in the meantime a notice of withdrawal from the league was received."

Sabbath Work Permitted.

Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisoners in the local jail to do snow shovelling on Sunday. Heretofore, the prisoners could not be taken out to do manual work, and the long walk through the court house grounds remained unshovelled. Church people complained about having to tramp through heavy snow in December, and the inspector has now given them a permit to do so. He put his hand boys to work at snow shovelling on the Sabbath should it be required. It will now be in order for the prisoners to appeal to the local Lord's Day Alliance against Sunday labor.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING

Of the First Congregational Church Held Last Night.

The annual church meeting of the First Congregational church was held in the lecture room, last evening. The pastor, Rev. J. Charles Villiers, presided, and gave a brief address on the relation of the church to the community, in which he said that the strength and influence of the church would be, speaking generally, in proportion to the interest which it took and the service which it rendered to the community life. Additions to the church during 1907 were twenty-two. The loss to membership was, by death, three; by dismissal to other churches, four; a net gain of fifteen. Several families have been added to the congregation, and it was a pleasure feature, said the pastor, to know that the financial statement to be made at the annual congregational meeting, which would be held toward the end of February, would show that all expenses for the year 1907 had been met, and that there was a small balance in hand. Messrs. J. A. Hendry and L. L. Henderson, the two retiring deacons, were re-elected. G. S. Bale was elected secretary; R. J. McKelvey, treasurer; J. F. McEwen, steward. Messrs. J. R. Henderson and Robert Hendry were elected auditors. Messrs. L. L. Henderson, W. A. Robertson, S. Brown, and Alexander Jack are officers. Organ and choir committee, Col. Massie, J. F. McEwen and John Driver. To the management committee were added, among them A. Stevenson, recently of Stratford.
