THE C.O.C.F. INCIDENT
CHIEF COUNCILLOR RICHARDSON'S STATEMENT.

Audit of the Books Shows That Charges Were Unfounded—No Desire to Retain the Dissatisfied Members.
Kingston, Feb. 19.—(To the Editor): Several items having appeared in the Whig relating to the C.O.C.F. and the troubles of Council No. 20, it was thought best to give an authorized statement of the facts as they occurred, that all might know the exact state of affairs. In a council of about 700 members, having offices scattered throughout the city, it is not strange that there should be a certain amount of rivalry in obtaining them. Our elections are annual, and disappointed aspirants of former years made a supreme effort last December to capture the coveted offices. This, in itself, is perfectly legitimate, but not so the tactics employed. The two offices carrying salaries, and forming the inner-fortress of assault and defence were those of recorder and treasurer, both of which have been held for some years past by R. C. Bell and Dr. J. H. Bell, respectively, and in the contest, charges of falsehood, dishonesty and breach of trust were freely and openly made against these two officials. The result of the polling found both officials returned to office and their opponents everywhere defeated.

At the annual meeting, two auditors, Messrs. O. V. Bartels and A. W. Maclean, were appointed and instructed to make a searching examination of all financial matters in connection with the council. Their report presented at the installation of officers for 1908 showed that the recorder, R. C. Bell, had kept his books correctly and had paid the funds to the treasurer, C. G. Clarke, on an average of every ten days, although the by-laws required this to be done but fortnightly. During the year $10,070.21 had passed through his hands and been correctly accounted for. On council's assets (furniture, cash on hand), were $1,426.39, and its liabilities, $443.63, leaving a balance of $982.76 to the council's credit. The treasurer's (C. G. Clarke) bank book was found to be correct, corresponding to the recorder's vouchers, and the treasurer's receipts. His cash book was found to have one or two errors, one of which was his failure to enter a cheque for $250, received from the recorder, December 11th, but as the bank book showed he had deposited that amount on December 12th, he could not be charged with personally appropriating that amount and was, therefore, merely an error of omission on his part. The auditors recommended that certain changes be made in the treasurer's book and this suggestion is being acted upon this year.

It was a great relief as well as a satisfaction to the members of No. 20 to know that the officers to whom they had entrusted their affairs in 1907 had been faithful to their trust and the accusations of "misusing" and "depositing council funds in their personal accounts" were entirely without foundation in fact.

The members who have recently withdrawn, thirty-seven in number, were foremost in making the charges referred to and in leading the forces of the "opposition." It is their privilege so withdraw any reports on the part of the 600 and more who remain and who trust they may never associate themselves with a council governed by less honest men than those of No. 20 for 1907 have been shown to be. Some who applied for withdrawal cards have since expressed the desire to remain. No effort will be made by the present officers of No. 20 to retain the membership of any who wish to withdraw, as it is our wish that peace and harmony should reign rather than strife and discord.

These are, of course, "family" matters, and my only object in asking the many members of No. 20 of the solvency and strength of our council, whose names were assailed, I might do justice to those officers of 1907 whose characters were assailed. I might also state that we have in the six weeks of 1908 admitted more members than in six months of 1907. Thanking you for your courtesy, I remain, very truly yours, ALEXANDER W. RICHARDSON, Chief Councillor, Kingston Council, No. 20, C.O.C.F.

It is so thoroughly harmless that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else even with very young babies. AT THE GRAND.
"When Knighthood Was In Flower."

From beginning to end there have been few plays in the history of the stage more completely equipped than "When Knighthood Was in Flower," in which play Miss Grace Merritt and an exceptional string of supporting company will be seen at the Grand on Saturday, Feb. 22nd, matinee and night. The costumes have been prepared by the best costumers in New York, and are complete in every detail. The old furniture, the tapestry, the armor, the wall scenes, the books, all have been selected because of their special fitness, and one of the hardest things in the rehearsal of the play has been the old-fashioned court dances which are introduced in the first act to the rhythm of old-fashioned music. In its last act the play is unique, in that the good old atmosphere is retained to the very last, and there is an epilogue spoken by Miss Merritt, which comes as a sort of personal appeal to the feminine portion of the audience, and which precedes the climax of the good and lasting impression made by "Mary Tudor" throughout the performance.

FLAG FOR A SCHOOL.
Presentation Made at Sydenham School.

On Tuesday afternoon, School Trustee, Daniel Rees, paid a visit to Sydenham school, Wellington street, and presented the school with a handsome large silk Union Jack. All the pupils assembled in the kindergarten for the occasion, and in making the presentation the national anthem, an appropriate address. After the singing of "The Maple Leaf," the flag was handed over to one of the pupils. It was then hoisted up and given a royal salute by the scholars. The singing of the national anthem, brought the proceedings to a close. The flag will be used at the school for salutary purposes. Inspector Kidd was present when the presentation was made.

ATTENDED THE FUNERAL
THE SERVICE WAS SIMPLE BUT IMPRESSIVE

The Gospel Tabernacle Was Crowded By the Helped and the Helpers—A Beatific Vision.
Doctors Leonard Jones and George Dalton, Kingstonians, attended the funeral at the Gospel Tabernacle, New York, on Monday. The edifice is in the tenebris district of "Hell's Kitchen," a veritable mission. It was crowded to the utmost limit by poor and middle-class people, the helped and the helpers. The service was simple, but impressive beyond description. Several of his fellow-workers spoke. The eulogy of Rev. A. B. Simpson was an oration as well as a tribute of love and reverence for character. All of the great audience were visibly moved. Rarely has a more intense sorrow been shown. A letter Dr. Wilson had written to New York during his visit to Kingston last month was read. It spoke affectionately of many persons here and of the pleasures of the meeting. He died at the home of wealthy friends and followers in Atlanta, and the end was not alone a perfect peace, but just before the end he became conscious and spoke of the angelic host waiting and beckoning.

Treachorous For Walking.
The light snow made the slippery walks very treacherous on Wednesday as the snow covered the ice. Many people received severe falls in different parts of the city, but none were very serious. A little sand would have done a great deal of good on the main streets, when the snow had been cleared off, leaving the ice on the walks.

THE SPORT REVIEW

R. M. C. JUNIORS ARE TO PLAY VARSITY III

Not Yet Known Whether Bernier Will Play—A Kingston Kennel Club to Be Formed—May old a Show in the Spring.
Two teams worked out at the Kingston Skating rink on Wednesday evening. The Cadets II team had practice from eight till nine. The boys are showing up well, playing better hockey than they did against Queen's or K.C.L. They will meet Varsity III to decide the finals in the junior intercollegiate series.

"Chaucer" Elliott For Referee.
The 14th team worked out from nine to ten o'clock. The players do not seem at all used up after their hard contest on Tuesday night. They are playing a fast game and should succeed in putting down the Varsity goals held by St. Georges. It is not definitely known whether Bernier will play yet or not, but it is thought that he will be out in good form for the game. "Chaucer" Elliott's name was chosen by the two teams for referee, when last year's game was called up over the phone on Wednesday afternoon, but it is not definitely known yet whether he will act or not.

Going To Gannaque.
The Mic-Mac hockey team will play the Tigers in Gannaque, to-night. The locals were defeated there a week ago, but they hope to be able to pull down the score this time. The team will line up: Saunders, goal; Cherry, point; Lemmon, cover; Houghton, centre; Metcalfe, rover; Barrie and Dowley, wings.

Kingston Kennel Club.
There will be a kennel club organized in Kingston in a few days. The first meeting has been called for Monday night at J. H. Sutherland's, Franciscan street, when all dog fanciers are invited to attend and help the club along. If enough interest is taken in the matter a good show will be held here in the spring, open to dogs in the province.

Queen's and Varsity.
Queen's I had a fine practice from 5:30 to 6:30 on Wednesday afternoon. The team is going to Toronto determined to repeat the trick of last year and defeat Varsity on their own ice. They have been working faithfully since their last game, and will be in good trim for the final battle of the season.

Black Watch and R.C.H.A.
The Black Watch and R.C.H.A. will play at the Royal rink to-night in the Kingston Amateur Hockey association series. Neither of these teams has yet won a game and the contest to-night will prove interesting on that account.

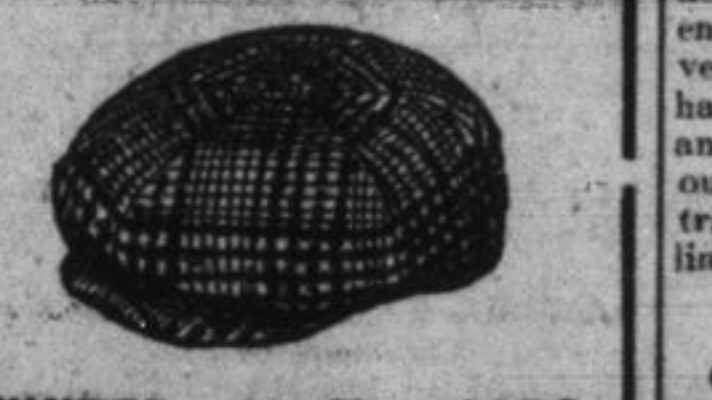

Here's A Cocky Challenge.
The Grand Opera House hockey team will play any team in Kingston outside of the 14th and Queen's hockey teams, so P. O'Brien, the manager, intimates.

Zion Juniors And Earls.
Zion Juniors and Earls played a fast game of hockey at Zion rink last evening. The score was a tie—three goals each.

Going to Brockville.
The Kingston curlers will be in Brockville on Friday for championship matches with the two clubs in the Central Ontario Curling league. In the afternoon they will play at the Eastern Hospital and in the evening at the Brockville club. The seniors will also be accompanied by two junior rinks, which will play at the local club during the afternoon.

NOT ELASTIC ENOUGH
THE EGRESS BY-LAW DOES NOT PROVIDE
For Buildings That Have Plenty of Exits, But Not Just As the By-Law Specifies—Will Some Places Be Closed Up?

The recent attack by a local paper on the three theatroids was in no way whatever responsible for the city engineer's report upon the exits of Kingston's public buildings. The new by-law as to exits was passed last April. Owners and trustees of buildings involved were given six months to make necessary changes. City Engineer Beckwith began early last summer to examine the buildings, and has been at the work, off and on, ever since, whenever he had a little time to spare. His report, as expected by December last long before the attack upon the local theatroids. According to the by-law all parties who have not complied are now liable to the penalty fixed. The police magistrate will have to impose a fine upon himself, as he is a trustee of Chalmers church.

How does the local jail comply with the by-law? It has not been reported upon, though it is a public building. Do its doors open outward and are the exits free of access at all times to the inmates? It is said they are not.

Do the civic authorities intend to take action or repeal or modify the by-law? If action is taken, the churches, halls, etc., can be closed up until the necessary improvements are made.

THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S

A REGULATION THAT MAY BE APPLIED.

Ross Bradley to Go Down to the McGill Medical Dinner—Religious Persuasions of the Students.

Although no official action has yet been taken, it is understood that there will shortly be introduced a stipulation requiring extra-mural students to spend the third and fourth years of their course in actual attendance at Queen's. This regulation has always been in force as far as high school specialist certificates are concerned, and it is felt in many quarters that it would be to the ultimate advantage of the "extra-murals" themselves if the regulation were applied to all the courses in arts.
