EYE DOCTOR MUST PAY A $100 FINE.

Renfrew Magistrate Imposes Severe Sentence on Man Practising on the Strength of American Diplomas.

Renfrew, Ont., Feb. 22.—W. J. Harvey was fined $100 and costs or one month in jail for practising medicine without a license. A charge of using the title "doctor" with intent to deceive was dismissed. The trial took place before Police Magistrate Eady, and the charge was preferred by Detective Charles Rose, of the Ontario medical council. Barrister J. E. Thompson, Arnprior, appeared for the prosecution, and T. W. McGarry, K.C., for the defence. The case was heard on Thursday.

The witnesses for the prosecution were Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Robert Graham, Mrs. John Seely and Miss Russell, Renfrew, and Mrs. John Brown, Adamston, all of whom gave testimony of having bought glasses and in addition received eye treatment. Mr. McGarry severely entreated the witness. He called for the defence Mona McHugh and W. J. Harvey himself. The latter testified that he held a diploma from the Empire College of Ophthalmology in Toronto, and produced a photograph of it, the original having been framed. He had also graduated from optical colleges in Chicago and Philadelphia. He did not

Two drunken men got into an argument on Division street late Friday night, and for a few moments they made things lively. Their yelling and swearing could be heard for some distance, until one of the other was hurried in the snow bank. The scrapers were parted and taken in different directions by students.

Violet talcum, regular 25c., for 15c., at Best's.

The best illustrated issue of the Red Book Magazine has just been published. A better piece of short fiction than "The Land of Her Fathers," by William B. Macfarlane, has not appeared in any American magazine for a long time. An echo from the days of little boyhood, with its comedies that often come close to tragedy, is "Dare, Dare Double-Dare," by George Allan England, and in startling contrast is Mrs. Hepburn's charming story, "The Meddlesome Old Gentleman."

PAYING FOR GAS.

400,000 Pennies Each Day in Slot.

London, Feb. 22.—No fewer than 155,000 pennies of a value of nearly $3,235,000, and weighing 1,336 tons, were, it came out, yesterday at the Gas Light and Coke company's meeting, taken from their penny-in-the-slot meters during 1907. This means over 100,000 pennies a day.

What becomes of all the pennies? To get an answer a reporter chatted with the secretary after the meeting.

"We have eight collectors in London, who are always at work," he said. They cover practically the whole area north of the Thames, and a small portion south—from Whitechapel in the east, to Willesden in the west. They have taken from slot machines for 1907 the sum in pennies mentioned. These pennies are placed in four banks, which approximate a certain amount of them. What they don't want is passed to a man employed in the gas company as a "copper-exchanger."

"This man goes round to tradesmen and exchanges the coppers for silver money. In this way all the pennies are not rid of. They are indeed circulating pennies, and the man we employ calls himself 'The Copper King.' He receives no salary, but gets a commission, and, in turn, employs several men to help in his work of exchange."

Looking For Relatives.

Syracuse Post-Standard.

Given away by his immigrant mother when he was a baby in Gananogue, Canada, William Welch, twenty-eight years old, is still searching for his mother and family, if any still remain. Welch was born in Dublin, Ireland, February 25th, 1880, and when he was still young his mother came to this side of the ocean. Whether or not his father came too he does not know. Where his mother settled he does not know. The earliest of his recollections are of days in a family at Gananogue where he was told that his mother had placed him for adoption when he was very young. They could tell him little of his mother and of her he himself knew nothing. At the age of twelve he ran away to shift for himself. His travels extended over all parts of the globe, through this country, the Orient, Australia and other countries.

In New York Mrs. William P. Burden, formerly Miss Nelson, was found dead in her room from poisoning gas poisoning. Mrs. Burden was prominent in society, and was twenty-two years old. Companies with a capitalization aggregating $4,100,000, have received Ontario charters this week.

Don't Endure Neuralgia.

Neuralgia is the most excruciating pain that a human being is called upon to endure. Those who suffer from it should never resort to opiates, that is making a bad matter worse. The ailment should be radically cured and it can be with Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure.

Neuralgia is a constitutional disease. Its source is in the disordered state of the blood. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure removes the cause, and it so regulates the vital organs as to make the cure permanent. Ten days' treatment. Price 50c., at Wade's drug store.

The Case Dismissed.

On Saturday morning William Lawson, Elginburg, justice of the peace, tried a charge of illegal liquor selling laid by County Inspector Morland against Daniel Graves, of Harrowsmith, which village is in a local option township. The case was heard in Kingston. C. H. Webster appeared for the crown and T. J. Rigney for the defendant. Seven witnesses were examined, but the charge was not proven, and the case was accordingly dismissed.

Served By Publication.

Thomas Maers, of Oswego, N.Y., now of Kingston, is to be served by publication in an action for absolute divorce by his wife, Edith Maers. The couple were married in Oswego, April 24, 1902, and have one child, a girl of four years. Mrs. Maers desires to secure the legal custody of the child and an alimony allowance from her husband.

14th And Stratford.

The dates have been finally set for the 14th Regiment Stratford games. The first game will be on Monday night in Stratford; the last game here on Friday. The locals will leave on Sunday night for the west. George Richardson will leave to-night to make arrangements for the team.

Some Old Coins.

J. H. Jarvis, Ant street, has a fine collection of old coins. He has "one English one-cent piece, dated 1700," which bears that of one already mentioned, 1707. He also has a French dollar piece, of the date 1736, and many other old coins of interest.

Want Him To Push It.

Ald. Carson stated, to-day, that one deputation of ladies had waited upon him and asked him to press his poultry by-law and see that it was passed by the city council. They told him that by doing so he would be the true friend of the women of Kingston.

Great Clearing Sale.

Prince, Brock street, has made a great reduction in price in the order and ready-made clothing department, also in the gent's furnishings. The stock is well assorted with new goods.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Defence of Ald. Carson's Poultry By-Law.

Kingston, Feb. 21.—(To the Editor): It is difficult to believe it is not in jest the threatened "Storming of this date, concerning Alderman Carson's proposed by-law regarding the condition in which fowl are to be sold in Kingston. Is there such utter ignorance of hygienic laws among the housewives of Kingston? Surely it cannot be. They must be joking when they question the wisdom of Alderman Carson's consideration for the health of the community. Fowl containing the entrails are absolutely unfit for food after being killed longer than two days. This is not a personal opinion of this correspondent, but the right law of the board of sanitary authority of the present day. Consider for a moment the condition of some fowl for sale in this "safe" season of freezing. They may be en route to the trade (tied up or otherwise delayed), one—even two weeks, still frozen, are, of course, sold and eaten and when sickness comes to children or elders in some homes, where such food is used frequently, I doubt if the "delicious" (?) dinners are ever blamed for it. Let the housewives of Kingston rise up as one in encouragement of such acts as these on the part of our aldermen in whose hands lie the abolishment of many things that are a menace to health. So rarely are such matters introduced that this instance places the people of Kingston deeply indebted to Alderman Carson for his effort to improve at least one of the bad conditions existing. Unfortunately the voice of the ignorant and unappreciative seems always to be loudest while there are many as deeply grateful to Alderman Carson for this progressive step as this housewife who places health first in her domestic regime—PROGRESS.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Movements Of The People—What They Are Saying And Doing.

Alderman John Gaskin continues to improve. United States Consul H. D. Van Sant is confined to bed with grippes. Miss Hannah Edwards and Mrs. F. Grennan, of Deseronto, are visiting in the city. Mrs. McCammon, Kingston, is on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Donnelly, Deseronto. Mrs. Edward Bruyca and William Bruyca, Deseronto, are the guests of the former's daughter, Mrs. Ray Kingsbury, Wellington street. Messrs. George Hoyle, "Bunt" Stoddart, Arthur Armitage, Walter Crook, Gordon Thomas and Alexander Smith came down from Deseronto, last night, to see the hockey match. John Galloway, of Queen's, filling the pulpits at Foxboro and Sidney during the winter, will after taking his examinations in April, leave about April 25th to visit his parents in Scotland.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

Three Cases Before Magistrate on Saturday.

Minerva Topping, the young woman who made the charge against the four young men, in police court, on Monday, pleaded guilty, on Saturday, to a charge of vagrancy, and was sent to jail for two months. She was unruly at the home she was placed in, and the police had to take action. John J. Lawson told the court that his children were attending school, and the charge against him was dropped. James Benson McIlroy, arrested as a drunk by Constables Baxter and Elson, was remanded until Monday, as he will likely have to face a more serious charge. While under the influence of liquor he is alleged to have called at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. James Bayne, Balastron street, and smashed several windows in the house. He is believed to be of unsound mind and will be examined by physicians.

The Greatest Is Love.

Who snow whiffs wildly about the shack, And the frost bites sharp and sore: Who shall drive the gaunt wolf—Hunger—As he howls at the poor man's door? There are children pining in cold and want; By the hearths so bare and chill; There are mothers who muse o'er the food so scant; And the cries they cannot still. But a voice through the storm speaks soft and clear; From Christ's own charity— "Always My poor are with you here, My better ones for Me!" And His people cannot choose but hear; Must feed the hungry, the sad must cheer; Till the hopeless hope awakes.

Ob. Love thrice blest that shines through death; With never a bar or ban; Girding the earth with the golden chain That binds us, men to men.

To seek, to find, to help, to cheer; To raise to the heaven above; Till the pain, the sorrow, the darkness Are lost in the light of Love.
