EXPERT POULTRY MAN

OPPOSES THE DRAWING OF THE ENTRAILS.

He Gives Commercial and Scientific Reasons—A Farmer's Wife Also Writes on the Question and Gives a Warning.

St. Catharines, Feb. 29.—(To the Editor): Having read numerous articles in your valuable paper discussing the proposed by-law of Alderman...

I have taken an active interest during the past ten years in making all branches of the poultry industry a special study and would say that it is an undoubted fact by those who are engaged in the shipping of the property...

Then taking the other side of the question, we all know how a fowl killed directly after feeding time is tainted by the decomposition of the food in the crop.

Now, in certain districts of Ontario, men who make a business of growing first-class stock to supply the frigate-trade in large centres find it profitable to get fowl of suitable type, and then to raise them in different localities.

Now, for those farmers who are unfortunately enough to have their flocks slightly affected by disease known commonly to all who raise poultry, as cholera, which is a diphtheritic cold, and which affects the nasal passage in the head, causing the head to swell to an abnormal size...

From A Farmer's Wife. Collins Bay, Feb. 29.—(To the Editor): A clever woman ought to be able to tell poultry that has been killed for days, especially after the decaying and fermenting process has taken place in the entrails.

Lash For Hungarian. Joseph Leakers, a Hungarian, is one of the latest additions at the penitentiary.

A Bishop's Bouquet. At the close of the Sunday morning service, Bishop Mills asked the cathedral choir to accept his hearty congratulations for the way in which the service had been rendered.

Two Other Speakers. The names of two esteemed speakers at the opening of the Y.W.C.A. were inadvertently omitted.

Favors Poultry By-Law. Kingston, Feb. 29.—(To the Editor): It is high time that a by-law should be passed by the city council to protect the citizens from fowl being brought to the market or prepared for sale unless they are properly plucked, drawn and dressed.
