SPRING BLOOD IS BAD.

How to Get New Health and Strength in the Spring.

The winter months are trying to the health of even the most robust. Confinement indoor in overheated and nearly always badly ventilated rooms—in the home, in the shop and in the school—taxes the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes thin and watery, or clogged with impurities, the liver sluggish, the kidneys weakened. Sometimes you get up in the morning just as tired as when you went to bed. Some people have headaches; others are low spirited; some have pimples and skin eruptions. These are all spring symptoms; that the blood is out of condition. Those people have purgative medicines, which merely gallop through the system leaving you still weaker. What you need to give you strength in spring is a tonic, and the one always reliable tonic and blood builder is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish spring ills, but guard you against the more serious ailments that follow, such as anemia, nervous debility, rheumatism, indigestion and kidney trouble. Every dose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills makes new, red, strong blood which strengthens every nerve, every organ and every part of the body. This is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the favorite spring medicine with thousands and thousands throughout Canada. Try this medicine this spring and you will have energy and strength to withstand the torrid heat of the coming summer. Mrs. James Haskell, Port Maitland, N.S., says: "I was troubled with headaches, had a bad taste in my mouth, my tongue was coated and I was easily tired and suffered from a feeling of depression. I got a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and it was not long before they began to help me, and I was soon feeling as well as ever I had been." You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at $6. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Choosing The Time.

Micay, Beacon-Herald.—"I suppose you must find it hard to please all your constituents all the time, don't you, senator?" asked the wealthy widow. "Oh, it's impossible to do that," replied the statesman, "and besides it would be foolish to do so if one could. All that's necessary is to think of some way to please them just before it is necessary to get elected again."

Articular Rheumatism Cured.

Articular rheumatism is that severe variety that affects the membranes of the joints and causes severe swelling and enlargement. This is the most tabid and chronic type and is often pronounced incurable. As a matter of fact, Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has cured hundreds of such cases, many of them of many years standing. A remedy that will do this can of course be depended upon to cure the most severe case. Those who have a rheumatic trouble of any kind should test this certain remedy without delay. Ten days treatment. Price 50c., at Wade's Drug Store.

In German tobacco shops each purchase entitles the patron to one telephone call.

A Bad Bargain.

A story is told of the famous Richard Brinsley Sheridan, that one day when coming back from shooting, with an empty bag, and seeing a number of ducks in a pond, while near by a man was leaning on a fence watching them, Sheridan asked:

"What'll you take for a shot at the ducks?"

"Well," said the man, thoughtfully.

"Done," said Sheridan, and he fired into the middle of the flock, killing a dozen or more. "I'm afraid you made a bad bargain," said Sheridan, laughing.

"I don't know about that," the man replied. "They're not my ducks."

Taken At His Word.

I overreached myself yesterday. How was that?" "Made a bluff at reaching for the longshot check, and the other fellow let me get it."

chaperonage of her mother, for she had stopped over in St. Louis only to visit friends on her way to California.

And then, only then, did another friend of Mr. Hanna's procure a photograph of sprightly Miss Betty, of Norfolk, and fill him with regretful chagrin, over his ungallant neglect.

But she's going back next summer. To date, these are the only men so far as known, who have had the hardihood to refuse the love of an attractive woman this year—and one of them might have done no refusing at all if he had known how very attractive the woman was. The other side is more chivalrous, to contend.

They drew straws for him. Miss Sharpe won him. She is only twenty-one, but she is wealthy and educated, and clever enough to write a proposal that filled the St. Louis girls with despairing envy.

The residence on Virginia avenue, in St. Louis, held her half a dozen of her prettiest St. Louis friends when the little joke on Comptroller Hanna came to their attention.

The admirable seven took honest stock of their individual attractions and there was not one who could find in her conscience to say that any of the others failed to fulfill Mr. Hanna's reasonable requirements. Nor was there one whom his qualifications failed to content.

They drew straws for him. Miss Sharpe won him. She is only twenty-one, but she is wealthy and educated, and clever enough to write a proposal that filled the St. Louis girls with despairing envy.

What happened? The strange thing—or the most natural thing, as one happens to know or not to know the St. Louis city comptroller.

He simply paid no attention to her letter. When time passed, until every evidence seemed to prove he was no better than a hymenal four-bluster, the dark-eyed belle from Norfolk, resumed her tour westward under the sky.

"The editor of the Star," he responded editorially, "can fight and swear enough for two newspapers. If the editor of the Vidette will agree to darn his socks and mend the gable end of his trousers occasionally, he is satisfied that a deal can be closed out."

It is hoped throughout the length and breadth of admiring, palpitating Iowa, that Miss Sohn will do her obvious duty. But there's no telling about those erratic journalists.

It's an uncertain actor, Zemella, who left Milan to sing in La Gioconda, grand opera in New York, left behind him in Europe one of the most beautiful and talented of impersonators—Marin Gay, whose engagement at Covent Garden, in London, was evoking nightly rounds of applause almost as passionate as the tumultuous appreciation of her beloved Madrid.

Her contract? What contract ever held a singer with even a sore throat, much less an aching heart? The next steamer bore to New York the delighted Marin Gay, who was soon told her, before some visitors in the parlor, that he was willing to marry her, than she caught up a Bible that lay near and asked him to repeat:

"Before God, I promise to take you as my lawful wife."

Horace promised, in just words, amid the laughter of the party.

Mrs. Widdis disapproved, very much.

It was not mere frivolity this time.

It was almost sacrilege.

She had proposed to him too late.

"Apart" from that marriage, which leap-year proposals, only one such was no indictment of the practice of marriage chronicles since the beginning of 1908 has turned out badly. That was the match made by Alberta Morrison with August William Herman in Cleveland, four years ago. When Herman stopped working, his brother-in-law, ready the riot act, and the riot followed. The patrol wagon, which took the bridegroom to the county jail, ended the romance there.

Yet Mrs. Herman can have the satisfaction of knowing that Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, who made the proposal for her husband, is commonly reported to be unhappy—as unhappy as Queen Victoria and the Baroness Burdett-Coutts were happy, although both of them chose their husbands—the baroness a man who was young enough to be her son.

The example furnished by Queen Victoria of England is always quoted when the question of proposals by women comes up. It was because of her peculiar position rather than her wish that she was compelled to make marriage overtures to Prince Albert. Yet the wedded life that resulted proved one of the happiest on record.

A similar case was that of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, who, in what is generally considered old age, called to her remaining life companion a young and handsome man.

This marriage also proved happy, so far as the world knows.

There are many instances of leap-year and other year proposals by women. Why, then, should the unaligned maidens of this year hesitate to do the same?

Science has found it well nigh impossible to counteract the ravages of the African Sleeping Sickness. It is a painless sickness, like you feel when all tired out. In Canada people don't die of the "tired feeling," but that is no reason why they shouldn't try to overcome it. For instance, take your own case, there may be no special ache or pain—yet you are pale, nervous, colorless and weak in the muscles. Your system is crying for nourishment, clambering for purer, richer blood. Your nerves are starving for the support that only a healthy body can give, and its small wonder you feel so fatigued out, so utterly run down and helpless to work as you would like to.

There is a very simple way to get strong. All you have to do is take Ferrozone at meal time. It contains bone making, tissue forming material, contains nourishment that will redden and vitalize your blood. Under the stimulating tonic effect digestion improves—sleep comes readily and brings rest for body and mind alike. For the man who toils hard, Ferrozone is a boon—for the boy at school it does wonders—for the maiden budding into womanhood it does untold good, just as it does for the aged, the matron and the mother. In short Ferrozone is a perfect tonic and system builder. Good at all times and for all people. Can you afford to miss its benefit, the per box at all dealers?
