If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

How people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy so equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse."

Kingston, April 11.—(To the Editor): In the Whig of the 10th April, I noticed the above paragraph. What does it all mean?

I ask your permission to allow me to draw the attention of your readers to other freaks to which they are subjected, and I have no source in which to draw their attention for justice, but to an independent, fair newspaper for protection, as there is none fairer or more just than the Whig.

At present, and for some time past, the citizens have been held directly responsible for the building of dear cement sidewalks and drains, which, as regards the former, is wrong.

Ontario Citizen: Play fair! This principle must be made dominant in our Canadian life. It must rule in our school yards. Our boys must be taught to regard the unfair as the contemptible.

BURIED TO NECK IN SNOW.

Postman's Life is Saved By His Pipe. Geneva, April 11.—The Swiss postman who daily mounts the Jungfrau from the village of Wengen to the highest station on the electric line, the Mer de Glace, was buried to his neck in the snow and unable to move on account of his pipe.

A careful inspection of the ordinary route was unsuccessful, and the search party were about to return when one of them saw smoke rising from an avalanche had fallen.
