THE POLITICIANS AT WAR.

The open quarrel in the democratic convention, following a flagrant manipulation of voting power in selecting New York state representatives, bids fair to bring about a political reformation. There never was a more disorderly gathering. Men became noisy and demagogic as they realized how designing men were directing the business in their personal interests. There was a free fight, with policemen in the midst of it, when certain men realized that they were being robbed of their standing in the party.

One man must have smiled as he read the proceedings, namely, the governor of the state. He suffered some humiliation by the conspiracy of democrats and republicans against him when he projected his reform in the insurance department, and when he sought to put an end to gambling on the race track. Some of the men who lost their standing in the democratic convention, who were practically unseated and expelled as delegates, were the keenest operators in the state senate against Mr. Hughes.

The governor may not be influenced by cross breezes in political life, but he is human and he must find some satisfaction in the dispensations or degrees that bring his enemies to the dust, and as a result of a quarrel among themselves.

CENSURED BY FRIENDS.

The Toronto World does not see the necessity for the gerrymander to which the Whitney government has resorted. In two years there will have to be a general readjustment of the electorate in accordance with the new census and the only object for the mutilations of electoral boundaries now is for political purposes. Our contemporary, which is certainly very frank and outspoken, has this to say, after referring to one of the changes:

"It is things like these that give a government a bad reputation, and persisted in, eventually wreck it. Had there been any necessity for it, and it is not a solitary instance in the redistribution measure by any means, one could pardon the yielding to circumstances. With a majority of forty-three, had Premier Whitney any fears of an adverse verdict with the people? With the hitherto excellent record of the party did he fear the defeat of his admirable and highly respectable whip? Should that contingency have occurred, the rats of the game are to provide the defeated but important and necessary official (the whip of the party), with a safe seat elsewhere."

"No one can suppose for a moment that such a thing as this can really help the party. If Premier Whitney had done nothing else, this is enough to convince a wavering gnat that after all Whitney is no better than his predecessors. And if Mr. Whitney attempts to justify the action, he can only have the sad reflection that his effort must tend to demoralize his party by lowering their ideals and their sense of righteousness."

Mr. Whitney has advertised himself as a man who is bold enough to be honest, and honest enough to be bold, but the motto does not fit him, in view of the bad, the wretched, the evil record of his last week in the legislature. He may have meant well, but he was made to capitulate to the clamours of the party or the wicked partners in his government, and he must share the ignominy of their work.

DOES INDEPENDENCE PAY?

The Canadian Courier is authority for the statement that there will be another remarkable change in the newspaper press of Toronto. The Mail was launched many years ago when the older Leader was supposed to have lost its power. It was rescued enough to suit any one for a while. Then came a change under the gifted Farrer. There was a strain of independence in its tone, and it gave offence at once. The aged leader of the party led the movement which gave birth to the Empire.

There was no doubt about the political ethics of this journal. It had one aim and object, to establish a sort of fetich worship, to endorse anything and everything which was done in the name of the party. The Empire's day was short. Its career was supposed to have accentuated one great and important truth, namely, that there never was a party which was perfection in itself, and that it was futile to preach this doctrine. The lesson, however, has not been as lasting as it was expected to be, and the report now is that the News is to supplant the Mail, because more persistent in its attacks on the liberals and more intense in its political passions.

The publishers of a paper are free to make it what they please. The property of a pronounced conservative could hardly be used very much for the promotion of liberal success, but the News has to show what a modern paper ought to be in the vigour and clearness and absolute independence of its editorial work. It is confessed at times, with some degree of sincerity, that no political party has a monopoly of the virtues, and that the modern journal should commend what is good wherever it may be found.

The News had an occasional word of commendation for liberal principles and liberal plans, but lately it has seen nothing it could approve outside of the conservative party. Indeed its fitness for the special distinction that is now likely to come to it, of being called the official organ of the conservative party in this province is seen in its sanction of the sins of the Whitney government which the alleged "half-raters," the Telegram and the World, have unreservedly condemned. The confirmation of current rumours will not surprise any one. It may cause comment as showing the versatility of the genius that can undergo conversion as often as there is a seeming need, and it will certainly give prominence to the fact that the conservative party, or the conservative leaders, despite their professions to the contrary, have no use or no love for the independent papers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

As one reads the Toronto News he concludes that the record of the Whitney government is simply spotless. Some person is colour blind.

The annual expenditure in liquor in England is $300,000,000. The trade could stand a little curtailment without any damage to the nation.

The trouble in the Gould family is laid to the fact that they have far too much money. Why suffer when it is so easy to give some of it away.

Metaphorically, Mr. Roosevelt has been authorized by the U. S. senate to take the cat to Mr. Castro. The president of the smaller republic, who has been a very naughty boy, is coming to his own.

In 1903 the expenditure of Ontario was $5,000,000. The estimates for the current year call for an outlay of $5,000,000. An increase of sixty per cent. in three years ought to satisfy the average spendthrift.

Justin McCarthy has an idea that there are breakers ahead for the Asquith government. Doubtless; but there are the same breakers ahead for any government that attempts the reforms it is up against.

The salaries of the Ontario ministers—$3,000 to the premier, and $2,000 to each of his colleagues—do not appear in the estimates. Why? If they are all right why should they be buried in books the people do not see?

"There never was a gerrymander," said Mr. McKay in a late speech, "which gives such an absolute lie to every statement made in its favour. You cannot find any principle laid down by Mr. Whitney that he has not deliberately violated."

How some people did howl because the Whitney government would not for a while surrender to the spoilsman. The acceptance of office by the member for East Hastings, is the evidence of a complete surrender on the part of the government.

TALKS TO THE EDITOR

BILL PROHIBITING SALE OF CIGARETTES.

A Resident of West Africa Scores An Englishman Who Grumbled About Canada—Let Him Go Back 'Ome.

Toronto, April 15.—(To the Editor of the Daily Whig.) Pursuant of a resolution passed at the dominion convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at Winnipeg, last September, and in view of the appalling increase of the cigarette habit among the boys and—sad to say—the girls of our fair Canada, a bill is being introduced into the senate by Hon. George W. Ross. It is a dominion law, fashioned along the lines of the Scott act, but with the area enlarged from a county to a province. One clause reads: "Every person who manufactures or imports, or brings into any province or elsewhere, or sells or offers for sale, or gives, exchanges, trades or barter, any cigarettes, shall on summary conviction be liable to a fine and imprisonment, and all such cigarettes shall be forfeited, and may be seized and destroyed by any magistrate or search warrant to be issued by a judge of the peace." The act further provides that any person who brings into a province by act of the legislature of that province. This provision is eminently satisfactory as it obviates the somewhat cumbersome undertaking of a resolution endorsing the bill, urging upon all a hearty support, a copy of this resolution to be forwarded to the member of their respective constituencies to Hon. Mr. Ross and to Mr. Telford, Ottawa. All readers are requested to make the matter a subject of prayer—earnest believing, unceasing prayer. Special offerings to augment the funds of this anti-cigarette campaign, where feasible, may be taken up. Yours in the war against evil, and for the best life for young people.—(MRS.) BLANCHE JOHNSON, Dominion Press Supt., W.C.T.U.

GRUMBLINGS ABOUT CANADA.

Epe, Lagos, West Africa, March 17.—(To the Editor): In the British Whig of Feb. 2nd, which has just arrived here, I notice an article headed "Bitterness and falsehood uttered by an Englishman in a home paper." I am not acquainted with the author, "George Hampson," ex-post office servant, Manchester, but along with yourself feel pleased that he is soon to shake from his feet the dust of Canada. As you remark, it is the only cheering point in his letter. I believe I would be willing to help George purchase a third-class passage back to the delights of Manchester rain and fog, on the condition that he would sit in his favorite "pub" (likely the Bull and Bush Oxford street) and tell his troubles to friends of the same ilk.

Every week in the English rural papers finds its way to this corner one of those journals which encourage every one, from the vicar down to the champion hop-picker of the country, to air grievances. There are about four pages of "Letters to the Editor," and it seems as if one page were reserved for men like George, with their grumbling letters about Canada. I must own that the most of them don't touch on the spirituality of the Canadian churches, but perhaps they haven't had the advantages of George and have not been raised to the sublime degree of "ideal gaspiness." One of the principal complaints seems to be that the price of beer is ten cents in Canada, instead of two-pence or three-pence, as in England, and that in some places you can't even get it for ten cents, or at all.

It is interesting to a Canadian abroad to continually hear grumbling letters served up at breakfast with his eggs and bacon, but it serves as an antidote to peruse a rebuke like yours of Feb. 3rd. Only this morning I read a letter telling about the hardships of the unemployed in Toronto, and how several of them had walked twenty miles out from the city looking for work, and called at about twenty houses without finding any. Weary and discouraged they once more turned their faces toward the Queen City. Some were more fortunate on the homeward trip and succeeded in earning a few dimes by shovelling snow. Now if these people were able to walk twenty miles out and twenty miles back, not to mention the snow-shovelling in the meantime, it certainly speaks highly for the Toronto charity hospitals, and is a credit to the generous-hearted Canadians. But to conclude: An Englishman of a certain class will grumble no matter what you do for him. It seems to be one of the privileges—of the Magna Charta. Yet even grumbling gets monotonous if persisted in. Notwithstanding all this, the English are falling over one another to get out of England and go to Canada, so we must take the bad with the good. Only let us hope and pray, for the sake of our glorious country, that men like George will be of the same mind and wander back to Manchester.

Have You a Sneezing Cold?

You have all the symptoms of spring catarrh, the kind that hangs right on till sultry July unless stamped out now.

For quick relief sniff sure cure, inhale the soothing vapor of Catarrhazone. As it passes over the raw irritated membranes it leaves its antiseptic, soothing balsam on the spots that need medication. You feel better in an instant—every breath of Catarrhazone means cure—in half an hour you're well. Nothing so magical, so sale, so pleasant as Catarrhazone. It's good for Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma—cures them as thoroughly as it does a simple cold—all dealers sell Catarrhazone.

Terrible Breathing Difficulty

Well Known La'se Mariner Describes Ten Years Suffering.

"For ten years," states Capt. McDonald, of Kingston, Ont., "I have been a terrible sufferer from Bronchitis, Asthma, and often it was so bad that for nights at a time I couldn't sleep. I spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines, but one dollar outfit of Catarrhazone cured me." Four months later Capt. McDonald writes: "I am still perfectly well and have no bother from my old trouble."

The reason Catarrhazone is so successful is because it's healing balsam and vapors get at the root of the bronchial irritation—right where the disease has its root. Other remedies work through the blood or the stomach—Catarrhazone works directly on the diseased membranes and always does cure Asthma, Bronchitis and Catarrh. Doctors say for certain cure Catarrhazone can be depended upon. All dealers.

Colored Band Suggested.

Watertown, N.Y., April 19.—It I may be permitted to make a suggestion regarding the celebration on May 24th, would it not be advisable in the event of a military parade being held on that day, to invite the band of the 24th Infantry (colored), now stationed at Madison Barracks, Sackets Harbor, to take part in the same. I have heard them and can assure you they are a crack musical organization, numbering about thirty-five pieces. Should the matter be brought to the notice of the celebration committee and an invitation be extended and accepted, they would furnish quite a novel feature to the parade as the gallant old 14th would have to look well to their laurels—I am, sir, yours respectfully, A KINGSTONIAN.

DEATH OF MISS ROGERS.

She Passed Away on Monday, at Lachine, Que.

Following close on the reassuring word that Miss Grace Rogers was on the mend, came the news that shocked and inexpressibly grieved all who knew her, that her illness was a fatal one, and that she could hold out but a few days. On Monday afternoon the further message came, saying that death had taken her. Her eldest sister, Miss Aileen Rogers, has been down in Lachine, nursing her for several weeks, and to her and to her sisters and brother, here, is the most tender sympathy given. It is but a few months ago since the mother, Mrs. Francis Rogers, was taken from her family, and now the third daughter has joined her father and mother in the place of rest. Miss Grace was a great favorite here, bright and gentle and sweet, and her death, just as she was starting across the brink from her teen into womanhood, is particularly sad. The burial will take place at Cataract cemetery, on Wednesday afternoon, after the arrival of the afternoon train from the east.

GUARD ROCKEFELLER.

As He Walks to and From Church.

New York, April 21.—The Herald says: In place of the one man who did like service on Sunday of last week, six private detectives acted as a bodyguard for John D. Rockefeller when he walked with his two grandchildren, Fowler and Maria McCormick, from his home to the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. The guard was maintained on the return home from church, the detectives walking a short distance behind Mr. Rockefeller and the children, who were in the care of a nurse. In view of these extra precautions, the "Black Hand" threats against the children recently received by Mrs. Harold McCormick, their mother, together with demands for money, had evidently been renewed, but no information on that point could be obtained.

Instead of spending their money in paying travellers' salaries and expenses, the Orange Meat people are appealing direct to the consumer. You will notice their advertisement in our columns to-day. It is necessary to place some men behind the bars in order to induce them to live the simple life.
