

QUEEN'S AND CHURCH

Question of Separation Debated by Trustee Board.

The Matter Was Referred to the General Assembly--No Definite Action Was Taken By the Trustees.

The trustees of Queen's University met, last evening, and for four hours discussed the petition of the senate asking for changes in the constitution of the university, so that Queen's can become a member of the Carnegie foundation. No decision was arrived at, and adjournment was made till this morning, to further consider the matter. The debate was quite warm at times, the opponents to the separation from the Presbyterian church being very emphatic in their opinions.

The petition of the senate was first made public in the White of Monday, April 6th, when an outline of the whole matter was given. In order that Queen's may enjoy the Carnegie pension fund for retired professors, some changes must be made in the composition of the board of trustees to make that body undenominational. The proposition is that the board be thus elected: One-third to be elected for the first time under the new constitution by the members of the old board, no denominational qualification or test being required, and the said third after their election to be self-perpetuating, electing vacancies among themselves as they occur by co-optation; the other two-thirds of the board to be made up of one government representative, one or two from the city council, one or two elected by the senate (outside of professors), one representative of the science school, one representative of the medical faculty, the remainder to be chosen freely and without denominational qualification or test by the university council. The board of trustees, for the management of the theological faculty to consist of those members of the self-perpetuating section of the whole board who shall happen to be Presbyterians and of three other members to be appointed by the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, the said assembly reserving the right of veto on appointments to the theological faculty.

The senate expressed the opinion that it is quite practicable to make such alteration in Queen's constitution as will bring the university under the benefits of the Carnegie foundation, without essential disturbance of either the relation which the thelogical hall has to the university or anything that is natural and vital in the relation which now exists between the university and the Presbyterian church.

That is the essence of the question before the trustees. It virtually means a total separation of the university from the church, and that is how the trustee board regards it notwithstanding the statement that the present relation with the church would be undisturbed.

At the trustees' meeting the senate's petition for constitutional changes was strongly supported by James Douglas, J.L.D., of New York, and D. B. MacLennan, K.C., of Cornwall, who contended that it would be in the interests of the university that it be made undenominational. They held that the Presbyterian church had not responded as largely as was expected, and that if constitutional changes were not made this year (or within eighteen months at the outside) Queen's would miss the opportunity of securing pensions from the Carnegie foundation for her professors when

NATIVES IN REVOLT

A Siam Town is at the Mercy of the Revolutionists.

Paris, April 30.—The Temps, to-day, publishes a special despatch from Battambang, saying the town is at the mercy of natives, who have risen in revolt, and who are threatening the European residents. Troops are insufficient to insure protection. Battambang is a town of Siam in the French sphere of influence. Recent de-patches, from Saigon, Cochinchina, said the natives of the Central Annam provinces were in a state of rebellion owing to the abuses indulged in by the local mandarin. The Central Annam provinces are not far from Battambang, which is about forty miles from the Cochinchina frontier.

their time of retirement came. It was pointed out that there was a danger of losing some of the best professors Queen's has if the university did not become eligible for the Carnegie Foundation. It is leaving one now in Professor Macnaughton, who at McGill will be entitled to pension, probably after six more years' service. Nearly every large university in Canada will be on the Carnegie Foundation, and Queen's, if it does not qualify, will suffer, was a strong point made.

The opposition to any change in the relation of Queen's to the Presbyterian church was vigorous. The chief oppositionists were Rev. Dr. Campbell, of Montreal, moderator of the general assembly; Rev. Alfred Gaudier, of Toronto, and G. M. MacLennan, K.C., of Kingston. Sentiment was not their only argument. They held that it would be unfair to the church to take any action as was proposed. The Presbyterian church had nursed Queen's from infancy, and in the past few years had done nobly towards her, and would do still greater things in her behalf. There was no guarantee that the government at Ottawa or Toronto would do anything more even if Queen's was made non-denominational, neither could it be taken for granted that her constituency of subscribers would be enlarged for men of all creeds had aided her as a church institution. They held that the half million dollar endowment and growing well. It now amounted to $10,000, and only $90,000 was needed before Andrew Carnegie's $100,000 could be called for. Then there was hope of benefactions from other quarters.

Regarding the matter of pensioning professors Mr. Gaudier's idea was that very shortly Queen's could establish a pension fund of its own. A professor might not retire on an average of more than one in eight or ten years, and as the university became better off financially, as he and others had great confidence that it would, the pension fund would grow and be sufficient for all needs. The Carnegie Foundation amounted to $15,000,000.

Suing An M.P. For Breach of Independence Act.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., April 30.—The suit against J. J. Hughes, M.P., was probably inspired. The complainant is Bennett MacEwen, Souris, in whose name political suits generally are brought by the conservatives. Mr. Hughes is alleged to have been a partner in a government contract.

Only Annoying Him. Ottawa, April 30.—Referring to the suit which had been entered in Prince Edward Island for his disqualification for alleged breach of the independence of parliament act, J. J. Hughes, M.P., said he had been served with a writ and if a hundred or more universities were to benefit from this there would not be such a great amount for Queen's. The matter of increasing the professors' salaries was also referred to.

These were the chief points gone over. The legal aspect was also spoken of and it was pointed out that legal advice must first be obtained before any action towards constitutional changes could be taken. Then the matter had to go to the General Assembly for its decision, and it might receive a bump there. The board appeared to be pretty well divided upon the matter, and no one could tell at that time what the result would be. Adjournment was made till nine o'clock this morning, when the discussion was resumed.

TOM MOORE ON QUEBEC.

Impressions Made on Post Hundred Years Ago. London, April 29.—In a letter dated Quebec, August 20th, 1804, Thomas Moore, the poet, wrote: "My Darling Mother: After seventeen hundred miles rattling and tossing through woods, lakes, rivers, etc., I got at last upon the ground which made Wolfe immortal and which looks more like an Elysium of heroes than their deathplace.

"If anything can make the beauty of the country more striking, it is the deformity and ugliness of the city which it surrounds, and which lies hemmed in by ramparts amid this delicious scenery, like a hog in armor upon a bed of roses."

Tragic Suicide. Prominent New York Broker Shoots Himself.

New York, April 30.—Following the suicide of Charles Coster, a prominent broker and society man, the stock exchange firm of Coster, Knapp & Co. has announced its suspension on the floor of the New York stock exchange. The firm has done an extensive business, well known in amateur athletic circles, and was a member of many club and social organizations. He was rated as a millionaire and a successful business man. He had prepared for his voluntary death with a coolness and thoroughness which brought beyond any doubt that the act was premeditated. He selected a time when Mrs. Coster was at a reception, and after preparing himself for bed telephoned for his family physician. He told the physician that Mrs. Coster had a severe cold, and asked him to come to the house at once. Soon after the doctor arrived Coster retired to his room and sent a bullet through his head. The shot ran through the house just as Mrs. Coster entered, returning from the reception, and she rushed to her husband's room. At the door of the room she met the family physician, who had found her husband dead, with the smoking revolver in his hand.

The search for the missing bodies continues night and day at Notre Dame de La Salette, where the hand-picked search party has been working since it was first formed, but many still expect to be found.

GIRL SHOT HERSELF.

Woman From Ampror Tries to End Life. Cobalt, Ont., April 30.—A twenty-year-old girl named Mary Kitter shot herself in the head with a thirty-eight calibre Colt revolver, Wednesday, at a restaurant here, where she was employed as chambermaid. The shot was heard in one of the rooms by the proprietor's father, who went to where the sound came from, and found the girl lying in a pool of blood. She was taken to the Cobalt hospital a minute later, but cannot recover. A young man, with whom the girl has been keeping company for some time, says the revolver is his, and that he gave it to her to keep for him. The girl has been employed in Cobalt for nearly a year. Her home is in Ampror, and she is of German extraction.

Brook trout, lake trout and land-locked salmon, with some yellow perch, in all about 5,250,000, are in process of hatching. The brook trout are to be distributed in various localities throughout the state, and the other varieties in the lake and river.

Early in May will begin the hatching of 25,000,000 perch pike, otherwise known as wall-eyed pike, and classed under the law as a game fish. With this hatch the season closes, probably about June 29th. The hatching of wall-eyed pike is an innovation as far as this hatchery is concerned, but it will add materially to the game fish of this region.

He stated that one great advantage of the bonus system is the hold which it gives upon looking agents, enabling the department to impress upon them the sort of immigrants which it does not desire.
