GANOQUE WEDDING

FOR WHICH KINGSTON SUPPLIED THE GROOM.

Cecil Bateman, B.Sc. Weds Miss Agnes Rogers—A Farewell Reception Given to George Gallop.

Gananoque, May 1.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rogers, Sydenham street, was the scene of a pretty event last evening, it being the occasion of the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Agnes Euliner Nelson Rogers, to Cecil Bateman, B.Sc., Kingston. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Henry Gracey, pastor of St. Andrew's church, before a number of guests. Following the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the dining hall, tastily decorated, and partook of an excellent wedding supper. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, attesting to the great popularity she enjoyed. Miss Rogers has lived all her life in Gananoque and has a large circle of friends, who will miss her very much. For several years she filled, with excellent success, the position of teacher of King street public school in one of the junior forms. Mr. and Mrs. Bateman left at midnight for the west to spend their honeymoon.

The choir members of Christ church tendered a farewell concert to George Gallop in the Anglican parish house last evening. Mr. Gallop has been a resident of the town for several years, and as a musician and artist has plied his profession most successfully. Of late he has decided to leave for the west where the prospects are better, and last evening's entertainment was the outcome of this decision. The rector in charge, Rev. W. Hatt Lipscomb, occupied the chair, and an excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music and recitation was rendered. The coal schooner Clara left yesterday for Oswego. Mrs. T. M. Cornett, Church street, is confined to her home seriously ill. J. J. Davis, M.D., is spending some time in London this week at the bedside of his father, Theobald Davis, of that city, who is seriously ill. Frederick Lafrance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Lafrance, North street, has secured a situation in Smith's Falls. Edward LaRose, of Carleton Place, spending the past two weeks in town, left for Ottawa yesterday. Miss Edith Jackson, who spent her holidays here with her parents, has returned to resume her duties as teacher in the Seelye's Bay public school. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Fine street, and Miss Maud McKenzie, King street, attended the convocation at Queen's College, Kingston.

Canada's Astounding Growth.

This national development took time in the progress of Canada. She seemed to be standing still. In reality she was only getting up steam. Twenty-five years ago Canada had not 2,000 miles of railroads. Today she has 25,000 miles. Then she had no trans-continental road. To-day she has three. Twenty-five years ago her total output of gold for all time did not exceed $50,000,000. Today she has taken out of Klondike alone more than $100,000,000. In 1851 Canada's total trade was $34,000,000. To-day it is over $550,000,000. In 1851 her population was not 3,000,000. To-day it is almost 7,000,000. In 1851 Manitoba's population was not 18,000. To-day it is almost 500,000. In 1871 there was only one small town on the Canadian Pacific coast—Victoria. Today there are two large cities, and a third city is in the making. Prince Rupert, the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and there are hundreds of smaller towns. Twenty-five years ago you could not go North-West land at $1.50 an acre. To-day the minimum price rules from $6 to $10. As late as 1903 Manitoba was proud of raising 47,000,000 bushels of wheat. To-day her record is 87,000,000 bushels.

The Selfish Student.

New York Tribune. The Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, of New York, said recently that it was more dangerous to be a railway brakeman than to be a murderer, and proved his assertion with statistics showing that one murderer in seventy-three was hanged, whereas one brakeman in thirty was killed. Discussing this startling fact the other day, Dr. Huntington said that the widespread spirit of selfishness was no doubt responsible. "We incline," he said, "to put ourselves too far ahead of other people. We could all make no better new year resolution than to be less selfish. As it is, we are too much like the art student."

A Prediction For May.

It is predicted that a great many men will invest in one of Campbell's new hats before the month is out. Men of taste like their exclusive styles and economical men like their superb values. Don't miss seeing the new styles in derbies, $2, $2.50, at Campbell Bros., the leaders in men's hats.

Not A Client's Business.

A countryman applied to a solicitor for advice in a certain matter. On being asked if he had stated the exact facts of the case, he replied, with more truth than discretion: "On my av, sir, I thought it best to tell you the plain truth; you can put the lies till 'yerself."

DRINKERS AND GLASSWARE.

Ten Million Tumblers Destroyed Every Year.

A New York despatch says: Ten million glasses, costing $4,000,000, are smashed every year in the 24,000 cafes and other drinking places of New York state, according to those who are engaged in replacing the beer or whiskey glasses and the finer vessels used when champagne is ordered. Most of these glasses are the cheap five-cent beer glass, but in the more fashionable cafes the breakage consists of the finest etched glass, French crystal, or even valuable Bohemian goblets delicately tinted to harmonize with the shade of some rare vintage. Such glasses may cost anywhere up to forty or fifty cents. It is not necessary, however, for these delicate glasses to fall to the floor.

The mere rapping on the edge of one of them with a fork or knife to summon a "garçon" or "kellier" may put a tiny crack in the lip of the glass and make it useless to the hotel, which prides itself on furnishing only perfect glassware, no matter what may be the beverage, whether beer or some rare old port or champagne.

New York city is the heaviest loser by accidents to drinking glasses, and the dealers in these commodities are, consequently, among the busiest in the world, replacing the huge pile of glasses put on the junk heap every night in the 7,000 odd drinking places scattered along "Incandescent Row."

In fact New York is probably one of the few cities where an entire business section is devoted to wholesale dealers in beer and other glassware. In the White Light district there are at least 100 places where, according to glassware dealers and manufacturers, the breakage averages $2,000 a year each, while in some the bill is far larger. Even the smallest of saloons will use up about $5 per month in glasses, and this does not include an occasional mirror in which some longshoreman takes a shy at himself with a brick—just to hear the tinkle. It is absolutely imperative that drink receipts in even the unpretentious cafes must be above reproach. If a glass is "nicked" in the slightest degree it is cast from use, not only because it might offend a customer's vision or scratch his lip, but also because the swift moving "mixer" cannot take a chance of having his hands mutilated.

Ladies' Wash Dress.

Simplicity of line marks this graceful dress, which is suitable for any of the wash materials. The blouse-waist is plain in design, but with sufficient fullness allowed for a wide group of tucks on each shoulder, which are stitched to shallow yoke depth. The plain space in the centre front and back can be filled with hack embroidery. The sleeves are made full and are tucked into an embroidered cuff. The skirt is cut in nine gotes and is trimmed with a deep fold of the material.

Quaint 'How D'ye Do's.'

A French journal has been looking into the question of how different races express "How do you do?" and gives some curious examples. The Koreans, for instance, greet each other with the remark, "You do look old," and no offence is given or implied. Persians say "My Allah!" to your beard and cover it with benedictions. "Among a tribe of Fiji Islanders the correct form of salutation is to pull one's ear. A Caroline Islander kneels before his friend, whose foot he grasps and slaps himself vigorously in the face with it. In the Soudan a traveller was addressed by a native chief as "Mighty Sun," the said chief finishing up with "Glory to thee. O splendid moon." The remark being accentuated by spitting in the traveller's right hand.

Best's Writing Cutest.

Much interest has been taken in the writing contest of L. T. Best, druggist. The conditions were simple, merely writing the sentence (L. T. Best, my druggist), the greatest number of times on the back of a Canadian postal card. Many outside places were interested. Some cards coming from Toronto, and even from California. Six competitors had the sentence written over 1,000 times. D. Stone, the winner, who gets the Watkinson fountain pen, had 1,493 times, with Master Swift Hanley, a close second, 1,428. Cards were received from some 360 persons. Cards may be seen in the drug store window.

Not Necessary.

An engineer from Sunderland was spending a few days in London with a friend, and, after a busy morning eight-seeing, the Londoner chose a large restaurant for luncheon, thinking it would be a novel experience for the man from the north. The visitor appeared to enjoy his luncheon, but kept looking in the direction of the door. "What are you watching?" asked his friend, rather annoyed. "Well," was the quiet reply. "A' kep' an eye on me topcoat." "Oh, don't bother about that," said the other. "You don't see me watching mine." "No," observed the guileless engineer, "there has no call to. It's ten minutes sin' time went."
