GHASTLY REMAINS

FOUND IN PRIVATE CEMETARY BEHIND HOUSE.

A Murderess Murdered—Burned in Her Home With Her Three Children—Alleged Accomplice Arrested.

Laporte, Ind., May 6.—One of the most gruesome murder mysteries ever unearthed in this state came to light last night when the bodies of five persons, all of whom were murdered, were found in the yard of Mrs. Belle G. Guinness, who, with three of her children, were burned to death on the night of April 25th last.

So far only two of the bodies have been identified. These are Andrew Helgelein, who came to this city from Mansfield, South Dakota, for the purpose of marrying Mrs. Guinness, whose acquaintance he had made through a matrimonial bureau, and that of Miss Jennie Helen Guinness, a Chicago girl, who had been adopted by Mrs. Guinness. She disappeared in September, 1906. The other three bodies were those of a man and a woman. None of them have been identified. The body of Helgelein had been dismembered and the arms, legs and head and trunk were buried in different parts of the yard.

The three unidentified bodies are those of a man and two children, apparently twelve years of age. So many bones are missing in the latter two that it is not known whether they are male or female.

It is believed by the authorities that Guy Lamphere, who has been under arrest since the burning of the Guinness home on the charge of murdering Mrs. Guinness and her family, committed the Helgelein crime.

In some quarters it is believed that Mrs. Guinness may have known something of the murders of the five persons. There have been rumors that Jennie Helen Guinness had knowledge of the manner in which the first husband of Mrs. Guinness came to his death in Chicago, and it is believed she was made away with because she knew too much.

The discovery of the bodies led experts to tell of the delivery of five trunks to the Guinness farm during the last six months, and this fact has caused the authorities to work on the theory that the place was a clearing-house for murderers. They suspect that the bodies of wealthy persons who had been lured to Chicago and killed were packed in these trunks and sent to Laporte and disposed of.

The developments have also caused the authorities to recall that the two husbands of Mrs. Guinness died under suspicious circumstances, both meeting violent deaths. The first, Max Scorrison, was insured for $8,500, and the second, Guinness, was insured for $3,500. This insurance was paid over to Mrs. Guinness by the companies.

DON'T PICK BUTTERCUPS.

They Cause Fever, Says Philadelphia Doctor. Philadelphia, May 6.—That the picking of buttercups is injurious to the health of children is the theory of Dr. W. W. Chalfonte, of No. 1,435 North Sixteenth street. He declared at a meeting of physicians that some cases of fatal measles at all, but are the effects of gathering buttercups and inhaling their perfume.

"Buttercup fever" is the term Dr. Chalfonte gives the disease. "In Germany and Holland there are laws forbidding the growing and picking of buttercups," said the physician. "Land owners are cautioned, and dairy inspectors are assigned to see the pastures are free of the flowers. In those countries epidemics of 'buttercup fever' came regularly, and in some cases the disease proved fatal."

An Insane Murderer. Washington, Ohio, May 6.—Bert Devaney, a well-known horseman and driver of John Hancock, last night shot and killed Lydia Bird, a colored girl, and shot her mother, inflicting a probably fatal wound. He then took refuge in the barn of Silas Shackelford, Shackelford went in after him, and was shot and killed by Devaney. Later Devaney committed suicide. It was thought Devaney was insane.

Ma Can't Vote.

Chicago Record-Herald. Ma's a graduate of college, and she's read most everything. She can talk in French and German, she can paint and she can sing. Beautiful? She's like a picture. When she talks she makes you think of the sweetest kind of music, and she doesn't smoke or drink. Oh, I can't begin to tell you all the poems she has read. She knows more than half the lawyers do—but ma can't vote.

When my pa is writing letters, ma must to always linger near. To assist him in his spelling and make his meaning clear. If he needs advice, her judgment, he admits, is always best. Every day she gives him pointers, most-ly on bonds and stocks—She keeps track of legislation, and is taxed on bonds and stocks—but she never gets a token in the sacred ballot-box.

Once, when Mr. Jones was calling, they got up a short debate. That was on the tariff question; he supposed he had it straight. But before they'd finished talking, he threw up his hands and said: "That he'd not read much about it, nor remembered what he'd read." He's too badly rushed to study how to better human lives. Still, he looms up like a giant when election time arrives.

Mrs. Gookins does our washing, for she has to help with her six children, though her husband's big and strong; When he gets a job he only holds it till he draws his pay. Then he spends his cash for whiskey, or else gambles it away. I suppose his brain's no bigger than the brain of any brute. And he'd trade his ballot for a drink—but ma can't vote.

Benediction.

They are eloping, and the stern parent was supposed to be in pursuit. But he wasn't. On the contrary, a telegram awaited them, at the next town.

"Is it forgiveness?" asked the agitated youth, as he handed it to the angelic one. She read it through and burst into tears. Then the startled youth took it and read it aloud.

"Your mother and I offer congratulations. Your hasty action meets with our approval. We can now carry out a plan we have long contemplated, and that was delayed only because we had you with us. In other words we are about to break up housekeeping and go into a flat."

Cactus Leaves And Mosquitoes.

Cactus leaves may be used instead of oil for the extermination of mosquitoes, writes Consul Bishop of Palermo, Italy. They are now being used in Sicily for the purpose. The leaves are pounded into a thin but sticky paste and this is spread upon the surface of the stagnant pools. It acts just as oil does by forming a layer, through which the mosquito larvae cannot pass to obtain air, and asphyxiation results.
