LIVINGSTON'S

CUT WIFE AND CHILD IN A BRUTAL WAY WITH A RAZOR.

Richard Marks, of Portsmouth, is in Jail—His Victims Are in the General Hospital Badly Slashed. Richard Thomas Marks, forty-five years old, Portsmouth, now lies in the county jail, charged with an unsuccessful attempt to murder his wife and child, about one o'clock Tuesday morning, while in a drunken frenzy.

Marks was arrested by Constable James Baker, and confined in the village jail until the morning, when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Hunter and was committed for trial. The only evidence taken, was of the constable, and is, in brief, as follows: "About six o'clock Mrs. Marks called me up, saying that her husband had brutally assaulted her and she wanted protection. I examined her and found her left arm slashed by a sharp instrument, and also found one deep cut over her left eye. I telephoned for the doctor and he ordered her to be sent to the hospital immediately. I then took her to the hospital, then I had information, and arrested Marks."

"After that," said the witness, "I went back to the Marks' home to see about the children and found the older boy, about ten years old, with three cuts on his leg. The cuts on Mrs. Marks' head were fresh. I found a razor that looked as if it had been recently used for such a purpose, as it had the point broken off and was covered with blood, and had some hair on the end of it."

This was the only evidence taken, the justice finding it sufficient to hold the prisoner. He was committed for trial and will appear at the June assizes.

Enquiries were made at the hospital at noon and the authorities stated that the mother and child were doing as well as could be expected. The mother has severe gashes in her left forearm, which severed the muscles, and may leave her hand useless. She also has a deep gash, two inches in length, from the corner of her right eye, about two inches up into the forehead. It was likely from this cut that the hair came which was found on the razor when it was produced in court. The lad's injuries consist of three severe cuts in the right leg, which took twenty-six stitches to close. These wounds may prove very serious, as they are quite deep.

Marks is a ship-repairer by trade, and a good one, if he would leave liquor alone, but for some time he has been drinking hard and making the lives of his wife and children a burden. The whole village is up in arms over the affair, and their views are very strong against the prisoner.

THE LATE MRS. W. A. DEEKS. An Aged Kingston Lady Died in Toronto.

Mrs. William A. Deeks died at the residence of her niece in Toronto on Saturday night, after a year's illness. The deceased's maiden name was Mary Cameron, and she was born in Kingston seventy-six years ago. Her husband died nine years ago. She is survived by four sons and one daughter: W. W. Deeks, of Kingston; A. C. Deeks, of Toronto; A. J., of Pittsburgh, Pa.; C. H., of Buffalo, and Mrs. Raines, of Chicago. Also surviving are one sister, Mrs. David Thompson, Montreal, and one brother, Angus Cameron, of Oil City, Pa. The remains were brought to the residence of her son, W. W. Deeks, 120 Johnston street, and the funeral took place this afternoon at Cataract cemetery. Rev. C. A. Sykes, of Sydenham street Methodist church, conducted the services.

The Late Dr. Cameron. Just a week ago Sunday, occurred the death at Westport, Pa., of Dr. Martin F. J. Cameron, a neighbor of Mrs. Deeks. The deceased suffered from asthma. He was forty years of age. Dr. Cameron was one of the best physicians and surgeons in Pennsylvania, and had been an assistant in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md. He was a professor in the Milwaukee Medical College. The newspapers speak highly of him as a physician and citizen. The Westport, W. Pa., correspondent in which town the doctor died, says: "The doctor was a favorite in Westport, and did much work among the poor for good charity's sake, and we will miss him for they will not soon see his like again."

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL. James Tyo Before Court on Charge of Theft.

James Tyo, a young man, was, this morning, committed for trial, by Magistrate Farrell, on a charge of theft. He is accused of stealing $25 from Samuel Massey, of Onondaga, a visitor in the city. Massey admitted having been drinking, but swore that Tyo grabbed the money out of his purse, and ran off with it. He said that he was with Tyo and another man, whom he did not know, and that he was in the act of taking out a twenty-five cent piece from his purse to pay for a flask of whiskey, when Tyo took the money and got away. He gave chase, but could not catch him. Massey said that he had about $13 or $14 when he came to the city, but, according to the way in which he figured up his expenditure to Donald McIntyre, who appeared for Tyo, he could only have had $3 or $4 left, but the magistrate considered that there was sufficient evidence to place the accused on trial. Tyo was arrested by Constable Driscoll.

Portsmouth Public School. On account of the Frontenac teachers' being in session on Empire Day the pupils of this school held their celebration on Tuesday afternoon. Recitations were given by Masters McEvoy, Halliday and Smith, and Miss Kathleen McCammon recited Kipling's "Recessional." An instrumental piece was well rendered by Miss Marjorie Watts. Songs by the school, entitled "Canada Forever," and "The Maple Leaf" were also given. Canon Cook and Rev. Mr. Crisp addressed the children, and the proceedings closed by the singing of the national anthem.

Buoys Required. That the channel on the north side of Howe Island is dangerous is well known, though much shorter and more sheltered than the south channel. Very many boats have to use the north channel, and many more would do so if it were safe. A number of craft have grounded on shoals, and navigators are petitioning the government to place two new buoys, one in Cassidy Shoal, near the head of Howe Island, and the other on the shoal between Big Bay and Gracie Island. That these are a long felt want is evidenced by the number of signatures to the petition from Kingston and Gananoque, besides those of lake and river.

Episode In A Church. The little Methodist church in Cataract was the scene of an attempt by a young lady, twenty-two years old, to assassinate a young man of the same age. While the company were at prayer, the girl got up from her seat and made her way to the rear behind the young man, and quickly pulling a revolver from the folds of her dress, placed the muzzle behind his ear and pulled the trigger. The revolver contained three cartridges, and three empty chambers. Fortunately the trigger hit an empty chamber. The youth heard the click of the revolver, and turning quickly, took it away from the woman. She left the church.

The New Ontario Road. T. S. Scott, of the construction staff of the Teniskaming railway, Ontario government direct work, protests against the committee made by J. M. O'Driscoll, but his letter cannot be reproduced, in its fullness, because of strong statements used. He declares that none of the efficient foremen have left the work; that conditions are not up to the mark, but that Mr. O'Driscoll was not there to improve them. He has his own family on the spot, showing that sanitary conditions are not so very bad. The only notable accident the construction force has had is to the credit of the maker of the charges in the letter, complained of, and he continued to blow frozen earth through the roof of the shaft so often that it is no wonder it leaked.

George Hammond's Fine Yacht. The last steamyacht Edelevat, owned by Capt. George Hammond, of the Princess theatre, made her first trip of the season, on Victoria day. The steamer has undergone a thorough overhauling since leaving her winter moorings at Mr. Hammond's home on Wolfe Island. The trip was enjoyed highly, by a number of Mr. and Mrs. Hammond's friends. The yacht, with both Canadian and American flags flying, was a very pretty sight, as she left the harbor for Clayton. She underwent her annual inspection on Tuesday by the local government inspectors, after which she will start a route to the charge of the daily. Time of leaving will be duly advertised in Kingston papers. Those present on Monday were: Capt. and Mrs. George Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Rochfort, Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillips, Mrs. George Saave, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Saave, Jr., the Misses Gertrude and Iona Saave, Mrs. Laura Morgan and children, the Misses Edith and Katie Ambramsky, Miss M. Fannon, C. Eward, John A. Cunningham, A. White, Edward Summers, Leonard Egan and Paul Greenwood, George Saave, engineer, and W. Weaver and Mr. Temple, first and second mates.

The large crowd of spectators were not disappointed, as a fine game of ball was put up. The locals won out by four runs, the final score being 10 to 6. The game was close all through. The visitors' battery put up a fine game, and once or twice they were near winning out, but the Orientals came back strong, and won out. A Topic For City Council. There will likely be a discussion in the city council meeting this evening regarding the fire hose that had to be shot last evening.
