

THE 5 P.M. EDITION

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE.

Sons of England Went to Congregational Church. The Sons of England society attended divine worship, yesterday morning, at the First Congregational church.

"Sons of England have no reason to be otherwise than proud of their native land, wherever they may dwell. Not that England has always been right in the policies she has adopted and pursued. Nor that she has not at times made the mistake of regarding military success and imperial expansion as the criterion of progress.

The service closed by the singing of the national anthem, and the benediction.

TINSMITHS STRIKE.

They Want to Have An Eight-Hour Day. On Saturday evening the local tinsmiths went out on strike for shorter hours. Up to Saturday the tinsmiths were receiving $2.25 for a nine-hour day, and they now demand the same wages for an eight-hour day, with time and a half for overtime after five o'clock.

The men feel that they were quite justified in their demands, and are prepared to fight it out. About twenty-five men are affected by the strike. Some months ago they notified the employers of their demands.

A VETERAN AT REST

Service was conducted at the residence, at 1.30 o'clock, by Rev. J. Charles Villiers, pastor of the First Congregational church. The casket was borne by the five sons and nephew (S. J. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot, in Cataract cemetery, where lies the dust of many of Capt. Horsey's comrades-in-arms during the seven years. At the grave, a detachment of buglers from the old 14th Rifles sounded "The Last Post."

STORY OF POLICE COURT.

Ann Green Was Sent Back to Jail Again.

Ann Green, over seventy years of age, started in to celebrate an anniversary as she was given her liberty from the county jail, where she was serving a term for drunkenness, and as a result, she found herself again in the hands of the police.

This morning, in the police court, Magistrate Farrell asked her what she had to say for herself. She made no reference to the charge of drunkenness but explained in this way: "Your worship, I am endeavoring to get back to the House of Industry. I have been in jail a month. There will be a meeting of the home committee tomorrow."

DEPOT SCHOOL ENTERED.

Thieves After Money, But Got Nothing For Trouble. The depot school was entered by thieves about nine o'clock, last night, but got nothing for their trouble. They evidently were in search of money, as the teacher's desk was broken open. They, no doubt, had the idea that the fees collected by the teacher would be left in the desk, but they were sadly disappointed, as no money was left. Nothing else was found disturbed.

Some children, who were playing near the school, noticed a couple of men, smash the glass in one of the windows, and go into the school. They at once ran to the home of the caretaker, but when the latter appeared on the scene, the men had made good their escape.

ON WAY TO FUNERAL.

Young Man Fell Into Hands of Police. "Your sister is dead; come at once." Thus read the telegram which a Watertown young man received on Saturday, from a western town. He took the first boat to this city, but while waiting train connections here he got into trouble. He had a few drinks, was unable to take care of himself, and had to be taken in charge by the police. He spent all day Sunday in the cells, and last night, when sobered up he was given his liberty and left on a train for the west.

Returned From Battleford. D. Graves, Harrowsmith, arrived in the city on Monday from North Battleford, Sask., whither he went with a carload of horses about the 1st of April. He has a son, W. George Graves, located at Battleford, who is making good success in the real estate business. Mr. Graves met Frederick Folger, late superintendent of the K. & P. R.R., who is now agent at Battleford. Victoria day was celebrated at North Battleford in royal style. Indian rates were the chief feature, and greatly pleased Mr. Graves.

By Acclamation.

South Latham—Col. Matheson, conservative. In Toronto there are twenty-seven candidates who will probably go to the polls. There are 106 members to be elected in Ontario, and unless there are troubles over the voters' lists, in some of the New Ontario ridings, all the elections will be held on the 8th of June.

LOYAL TO KINGSTON.

The Whig "backed" and finally succeeded. It ruined the Folgers and the Brecks.—Standard.

In this way our contemporary gives further proof of the high-class journalism which it had a call to establish in Kingston. It will be news to many and to the Messrs. Folgers and Breck, as much as to any, that the Whig has done them injury. For twenty-five years the Whig and the old News (now supplanted and disowned) were so loyal to all that the Folgers and Brecks essayed, so sympathetic and so helpful, that some of their friends thought they were unduly kind.

Let it be understood that the Whig has always been loyal to the country and the city, and to their institutions. It has neither assailed them nor brought discredit upon them at any time. It has treated each public matter upon its merits, and has, without promise of reward or thanks, devoted its energies and influence towards the building up of every good cause. As an organ of public opinion, and serving the people before the individual, it has criticized the public leaders when they have not proceeded according to business principles. In dealing with franchises it has advocated a reference of them to the people so that the property owners and taxpayers may be allowed to express their approval or disapproval.

The capitalists of the city have ever found the Whig their friend and supporter of every honest enterprise, and it will be true to this policy and be found pursuing it when some later day saints have lost their halos.

The gentlemen mentioned are indignant at their names being dragged in so wantonly, all the more, for the purpose of putting up false charges. Two of them are Mr. Pense's very warmest personal friends and one has been almost a daily visitor. Therefore, they will pardon this defence.

Boat Was Missing.

Thomas Shannon, the well-known boat builder, reported to the police that one of his boats, which he had rented to a couple a few days ago, was missing. An investigation was made, and it was found that the boat had been left on the shore at Barriefield. The boat was not damaged in any way.

Troublesome Lad.

The young lad arrested by Constable Davis, Saturday, on a charge of stealing, was arraigned before Magistrate Farrell at a private session this morning, and it is probable that he will be sent to an industrial school. His parents have had considerable trouble with him, and the police have also had to keep an eye upon him.

Deaths of Kain Daley.

A telegram this morning from Chicago, announced the death of Kain Daley, of that city, brother of Patrick Daley, proprietor of the Canadian Freeman. The deceased left Kingston when a young man. He was a piano maker by trade. Besides his parents, he leaves a sister, Mrs. James Quigley, Bagot street, this city, and two brothers, James of Ottawa, and Thomas of Cape Vincent. He is survived in Chicago by his wife and two children.

The doctors are greatly pleased with the treatment while at the meetings. The Hamilton medical men could not do enough for their visitors.

DR. MACKIE SPEAKS PLAINLY To His People Regarding Church Attendance. In St. Andrew's church, last evening, Rev. Dr. Mackie spoke very strongly upon the failure of many of his people to attend divine worship. He said he was heartily sick of preaching to empty pews. Why did they not occupy their places in God's house? Did they think that they didn't require the aid of religious teaching? He couldn't believe that to be so. If the congregation didn't want him longer as their minister, all they had to do was to tell him so, and he would "retire at once into the wilderness." To merely pay his stipend year by year did not fulfil the duty of the congregation. He wasn't satisfied merely to be their paid minister. He wanted his people to attend their church and hear God's word each Sabbath. His heart was sore at the failure of so many to attend the public ordinances on God's day.

Dr. Mackie has been the vigorous and efficient minister of St. Andrew's for twenty-three years, and is highly thought of by his congregation. He is a great worker. When occasion demands, he talks pretty plainly to his people. His remarks of last evening apply to many other churches as well as St. Andrew's.

GIRLS HAVE GONE.

They Were First Headed Off at Cape Vincent. About two weeks ago two well-known young Kingston girls made an attempt to leave town but were caught by their parents, and, on Saturday afternoon, they tried the same performance. The two girls left on the Cape Vincent boat for Watertown, and were greatly surprised when they arrived at Cape Vincent to be told by the authorities there that they could not land and would have to go back. The parents of one of the girls heard of her going away and at once telephoned to Cape Vincent to have them sent back to the city, and the agent did as he was requested. The boat was early on the return trip, and was in about ten minutes when the girls' father arrived, and, of course, she had quickly got out of the way. The girls seemed so angry at being stopped at Cape Vincent that they were bound to go somewhere, and headed for the C.P.R. station, where tickets were purchased for Gananoque, and they drove to the outer station to catch the train. The parents of one of the girls felt and over their daughter's actions and do not know what made her leave home.
