CANDIDATES SPEAK

While as the warden of the penitentiary the speaker said that he had worked in the best interests of the public, in that he spared no pains to make the men inside the prison walls, better men. At the time his dismissal had been asked, he had made the house light to retain the land for the penitentiary. He had kept the discipline of the institution up to a high standard, and yet some would say things about his work, and state that he should not be a candidate.

Mr. Metcalfe said that he was with the people all the time, and could not be bought. He expressed the hope that the election would be a pure one.

"I do not want to see it this way just because I have no money," added Mr. Metcalfe, "but because I want to see the good old name of Kingston redeemed."

The speaker said that he had met with good success in his canvass, and in his closing remarks again referred to the recent meeting of the conservatives held to nominate a candidate. He declared that he had not been given a fair chance, and British fair play. At the time of the convention he had written a letter to Mr. Whitney (and he produced a copy of the letter and read it to the audience) in which he stated that it had been rumored that Mr. Gallagher had told the party that he (Mr. Whitney) wanted Mr. Nickle to be the candidate. The speaker said that this was most unfair, and asked for an answer.

The speaker had received an answer, in which the premier had said, "No; it was nothing of the kind."

After this, the speaker said the "machine" tories were out after him with a knife. He wished to emphasize the fact that he was out as the independent candidate. (Cheers.)

The Replies Made.

Mr. Nickle was first called upon for his reply. He said that Mr. Metcalfe had admitted that he (Metcalfe) had lost, and that the speaker had won. Mr. Metcalfe had stated that he would not support the speaker, should he get the nomination, but the speaker had promised to support Mr. Metcalfe, if he was the one chosen to carry the standard.

Mr. Nickle stated that he did not think the convention had been an unfair one. He was sorry that Mr. Metcalfe had left the conservative ranks.

Mr. Pense, in his reply, said that he felt sure that the electors wanted to know how the surplus money had been spent, and how the affairs had been run. This part of the work had evidently gone from the mind of Mr. Nickle. If this was the attitude Mr. Nickle assumed on such an important matter, the electors would do well to send the speaker back again to the legislature.

In the matter of the Pettypiece bill Mr. Nickle had stated that the members of the conservative government were not fools enough to adopt it. Had not the conservatives to a man voted for it?

The introduction of the secret ballot had been the result of reform criticism during the last four years. Mr. Nickle had referred to the $9,000 expended by the Whitney government, for the School of Pedagogy. Had Mr. Nickle stated how much had been spent along this line in Toronto? In the start-off alone, the sum of $40,000 had been spent in the securing of a building.

As regards the C.N.R. guarantee, Mr. Pense said that the reporter of the Toronto News had asked him what was going to be done. The speaker told him that he did not know. He did not tell the reporter that he was going to his leader, and that he would bring him back the message. The first statement was that the speaker had a conference with Mr. MacKay in the Rossin house, and the second was that he had the conversation in the lobby. The man who made the two statements was the man who made the one.

It was on Friday afternoon that the speaker had spoken to Mr. MacKay in the house, and made his objection. On Thursday, the bill was not up for debate, and was not up for reading until the next day, but the house did not meet until Monday. The bill was, therefore, introduced on Thursday, with the only time for its consideration on Saturday morning and afternoon.

In his closing remarks, Mr. Pense said that he had always looked after the best interests of the public, and, if elected again, would continue to do so.

The meeting broke up with the usual cheers, Mr. Pense being given rousing cheers by his supporters.

If one feels dull and spiritless, in the spring or early summer, they call it "Spring Fever." But there is no fever—usually. It is the after effect of our winter habits. The nerves are mostly at fault. Tired, worn-out nerves leave us languid, lifeless, and without spirit or ambition. A few doses of Dr. Shoop's Restorative will absolutely and quickly change all of these depressing symptoms. The Restorative of course won't bring you back to full health in a day or two, but it will do enough in forty-eight hours to satisfy you that the remedy is reaching that "tired spot." Druggists everywhere are advising its use as a splendid and prompt general tonic. It gives more vim and more spirit to the spoonful than any other known nerve or constitutional tonic. It sharpens a failing appetite, aids digestion, frees sluggish livers and kidneys, and brings new life, strength and ambition. Test it a few days and be convinced. Sold by all dealers.

AN ENJOYABLE CONCERT.

In Which the Two Little Telgmann Girls Shone.

In St. Andrew's church hall, on Monday evening, an excellent concert was given for Mignon and Norma Telgmann. The hall was fairly well filled, not as well as the concert deserved, and those who did not see it missed a rare musical treat. The septette club rendered four fine numbers. The septette included Mr. Telgmann, Mrs. Telgmann, Miss Janet Richmond, Mignon and Norma Telgmann, Harvey and Harold Angrove. Their numbers were greatly enjoyed by all present. Arthur Craig sang "The Robber King" in fine voice, and Miss Knight sang "My Mother Bids Me Bind My Hair." During the evening Mrs. Telgmann delighted the audience with two pleasing recitations, and each time was forced to return and give an encore before the audience would let her take her seat. "The Gypsy Flower Girl" and "Aunt Sophronia At The Opera" were the two recitations. Her encores were "The Vase," and Pappa's Letter."

The main part and to many the wonderful part, was the playing on the violin of Mignon and Norma Telgmann. It has been many days since a Kingston audience has had the good fortune to listen to two people, old or young, who can play the violin as these two little girls can. The most difficult music is played by them, and the best is brought out to the audience. Two solos by Miss Mignon Telgmann was greatly enjoyed. They were "Humoreske," by Doorak, and "Obertass," by Wieniawski. The two little girls also played two duets that greatly delighted their audience. Miss M. Shaw was accompanist for the evening.

FELL FROM THE BUS

AND DIED LATER FROM THE INJURIES.

A Little Colored Lad Whose Mother Lives in Kingston Met His Death in Napanee On Monday Night.

A sad accident happened in Napanee, at six o'clock, on Monday afternoon, whereby Percy Johnson, a young colored boy, a resident of this city, lost his life. The little fellow, only eight years old, had been visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis, for some time. The lad's uncle drives one of the heavy hotel busses from the station and on Monday afternoon the little boy went to the station with him, when he went to meet the 5:45 o'clock train. On the trip back the bus was filled with passengers and the boy was riding back on the front seat with his uncle. When about half way up to the town from the station some children playing on the side of the road called out to Percy and he turned around to speak back to them. In turning around on the seat he lost his balance and fell from the seat. Before he touched the ground he grabbed a chain that was hanging from the seats and this caused his death, as it swung him in under the hind wheel, which passed over the centre of his body, knocking him unconscious.

The lad recovered consciousness a few moments after he was taken home, and seemed to improve. He was examined by a doctor, and it was found that no bones were broken. About eight o'clock the little fellow was talking and playing with Chief Graham. The chief picked the child up in his arms, and after a moment he said, "Lay me down." He was carefully put down, and a few moments after passed away.

The heavy vehicle had caused severe internal injuries, which ended in death.

The family at Napanee were heartbroken at the unexpected death, and word was immediately sent to this city, to the lad's mother, who lives in Wade's lane. James Lee went up to Napanee at midnight and made arrangements for the removal of the body to this city. The lad's mother was prostrated when she received the news of her son's death. She has the sincerest sympathy of the community in her trouble. Little Percy was a great favorite with all who knew him, at school and at play. Besides his mother two younger sisters, Agnes and Gertrude, and one brother, Russell, are left to mourn. The remains will arrive in the city this evening from Napanee.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

The Fiske Company Drew a Large Audience.

The Fiske Stock company made its first appearance at the Grand Opera House last evening before a bumper audience, every seat being occupied. The company is a first-class one and won favor by meritorious work. The piece presented, "Through the Breakers," a romance of love, was still brimful of fun and laughter. In the role of "Tom Manley," Edwin Trevor did some good acting. Frederick Huxtable, in the role of "Si Kidder," was the fun maker and kept the audience in laughter. N. Alverez, as "Uncle David Morris," was well up in his part. Katheryn G. Kirk, as "Rose Prescott," took her part well, and was loudly applauded. The charming Dot E. Jewell, as "Ruth Manley," proved herself to be an accomplished actress. Nellie Lyons Healey, as "Mrs. Manley," and Barbara Gerst, as "Nellie, the Waif," came in for their share of praise.

The specialties are of a high order, and are without doubt about the best in that line ever presented in this city. Sherman, the magician, is in a class by himself. Huxtable & Humpries are advanced comedians, and their singing and acting was greatly appreciated. Dot. E. Jewell sang sweetly, "Nothing But a Little Wax Doll," and won applause. Musical Naylon won much favor by his beautiful work on the bells. He rendered several pieces very pleasantly. A. F. Tenney, the comique juggler, is a whole circus in himself, and his tricks were watched with interest. The scenic and electrical effects were fine.

The company to-night present "The Child of the Regiment," and new vaudeville features will be given.

Mrs. Leslie-Carter In "Du Barry."

Mrs. Leslie-Carter, the leading emotional actress of the present age, will appear at the Grand on Tuesday, June 9th, in David Belasco's play, "Du Barry." In the whole range of the drama she does not find a more surprising success than Mrs. Carter achieved in this wonderful play. Mrs. Carter has made three tours in this play, and each succeeding repetition has aroused increased interest.
