THE MISSIONARY WORK

ADDRESSES GIVEN AT FIRST CONG. CHURCH.

Reports Were Presented at the Afternoon Session—An Account Given of Work in India.

Thursday night's open session of the Canada Congregational Women's Board of Missions, opened in the First Congregational church promptly at eight o'clock, with the president, Mrs. Moodie, in the chair. After devotional exercises, the pastors of the three city Congregational churches, Rev. G. A. Mackenzie, Rev. Mr. Whitmore and Rev. J. Charles Villiers, extended greetings to the members of the society. Mr. Mackenzie referred to the good work that was being accomplished by the society, in heathen lands, inspirations for continued work, and Rev. Mr. Whitmore spoke of good things which would come as a result of the present gathering. Mr. Villiers, in extending greetings, said that the First church was very pleased to have the convention held there again. He could say that Kingston was a most delightful city, and he hoped that all the members would spend a most profitable time during their stay. The society would have the prayers of all the workers in Kingston.

After the greetings had been extended, the male quartette favored with a fine selection. Members of the choir were also present, and rendered valuable assistance in the service.

The address of the evening was delivered by Miss Belle Nugent, of Ahmednagar, India, who has labored for eighteen years in this far-off land. Miss Nugent was introduced by the president, and she gave a very interesting summary of the work being carried on. As the speaker explained in her opening remarks it would take her several hours to give a complete story of her work. The city of Ahmednagar has a population of 55,000 and is situated near Bombay.

"If there are any people in the world who need help," said Miss Nugent, "it is the people in India." She then went on to give an account of the work, since the opening of the religious schools there in 1813. During the speaker's time, great difficulties had been experienced with the people, as they were found to be very fond of their own religion. She referred to the noble work being carried on for the care of the girls. The custom was that every girl in that country had to be married at the age of twelve years; it was looked upon as a disgrace if not married before this time, so very little time was given to the workers in their endeavor to Christianize the girls. "A great many of them were Christians in secret, but were afraid to acknowledge it. Good work was accomplished at the boarding schools, conducted for girls.

A fact emphasized by the speaker, was that the people did not consider it dishonour to be in debt; on the other hand, they appeared to look upon it, as being quite the proper thing.

Miss Nugent asked for a volunteer nurse for a hospital, stating that there was a grand opening for some person who would care to enter the work. Her address was a most interesting one throughout, and proved most inspiring.

At the session on Thursday afternoon, the president, Mrs. Moodie, had some very encouraging remarks to make in her address. An address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. (Rev.) D. Macallum, of this city, which brought an able response from Mrs. A. B. Wilkes, of Brantford, a former member of the First church. Mrs. Macallum emphasized the necessity of the motherhood of the country bringing to bear such a spirit as would mould the youth for good citizens. Her remarks were prefaced by words of welcome.

Mrs. H. W. Barker, Toronto, secretary, gave a report of the year's work. The report showed a good increase in the number of auxiliaries, a feature to cause great rejoicing.

Miss Emily Thompson, Toronto, treasurer, submitted a fine report. The receipts for 1907 were slightly below those of the previous year, but this was due to the fact that 1906 had been a year of special feature. The prospects for 1908, were exceptionally bright.

Mrs. M. Savage, editor of the "Missionary Leader" also reported. The number subscribing to the leaflet was the largest in some years. There was a slight profit, and added to the general balance, there was a total of $400.

The closing part of the afternoon session was an address delivered by Miss Emily Macallum, of Smyrna, Turkey, daughter of Rev. D. Macallum, Kingston, who gave an account of her work there. She referred to all that had been done, and spoke of the great opportunities offered for still greater work. Her address was listened to very attentively, and was much appreciated.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

A Good Production By the Fiske Company.

The Fiske Stock company presented one of the best productions on their repertoire at the Grand Opera House last evening. The bill was a four-act melo-drama, entitled, "Shadows of Midnight"—a nightly occurrence in the metropolitan city of America, and dealing with life, love and crime.

In the specialties, Florence Humphries sang very sweetly, "Won't You Be My Baby Boy," Barbara Gerst gave two pretty songs, as also did Musical Naylor. A. L. Tenney gave much pleasure with his juggling feats.

Tonight the company presents Rose Coghlan's famous play, "Forget-Me-Not," and at Saturday matinee will present "A Child of the Regiment" by request.

Mrs. Leslie-Carter in "Du Barry."

What should prove the dramatic treat of the season is the appearance here of Mrs. Leslie-Carter in David Belasco's play, "Du Barry," on Tuesday, June 9th, at the Grand. Mrs. Carter's triumph in this play was one of the most interesting events of the modern stage. There is no other play which has, in recent times, approached it for bigness of story—for a wonderfully devised succession of thrilling and surprising climaxes. Only an actress of tremendous dramatic powers could have succeeded in this extraordinary role. It required an actress who could impersonate Zaza to play "Du Barry." Mrs. Carter has temperament joined to the finest histrionic talent that the modern stage has known. These roles, and more especially Du Barry, are great in her hands, for the reason that she is a great dramatic artist. Indeed, the appearance of this most famous emotional actress is an event of the first magnitude.

"The Lion and The Mouse."

Theatregoers of Kingston are to have the pleasure again of witnessing the sterling play of Charles Klein, "The Lion and The Mouse," Henry B. Harris will present this wonderful success at the Grand on Wednesday, June 10th, with a cast of unusual strength, and the production is in full keeping with the original performance here some time ago.

THE BOARD OF WORKS.

Business Transacted at Its Meeting Yesterday.

At the Board of Works meeting yesterday afternoon Alds. Graham (chairman), Irving, McCann and Henderson were present.

The city engineer was instructed to have a crossing constructed on Victoria street, south side of Princess street, if he considers it necessary.

Petitions to remove trees on Beverley street were referred to the chairman and the engineer, with power to act.

A crossing was ordered built opposite the residence of Mr. Campbell, on Beverley street.

The Yacht club and Prof. Martin wanted a concrete walk laid on the south side of Maitland street, while a walk on the other side is being laid next week. In order to get the matter through it was decided to secure a two-thirds vote of council next Tuesday evening.

On the petition of W. J. Moore, Wellington street, asking that a pole be removed from in front of his garage, it was decided to give the petitioner permission to construct a step along side the pole, which will meet his needs.

The engineer stated that the grader was at work on upper Johnson street. The carter would be here to-morrow and be given a trial.

The engineer also reported that no word had been received from the Kirby Co. regarding street paving.

The board decided to advertise in the papers advising the people who have not done so to connect with the sewers on the streets that are to be rebuilt.

The "Hecla" Furnace

Each one of these four grates can be shaken separately

The outer edge of a furnace fire burns up quicker than the center.

This raises a wall of ashes between the firepot and the coals, just where the hottest part of the fire should be.

To heat the house properly and economically, these ashes must be removed whenever the furnace is attended to.

In most furnaces, all the grates are geared together. They must all be shaken together. As the coal burns unevenly, either good coal must be shaken down with the ashes, or the fire slightly shaken and the ashes and clinkers raked down with a poker.

In the "Hecla" Furnace, each of the four grate bars can be shaken separately. When ashes accumulate on the sides of the firepot, shake only the side bars. This means getting rid of all the ashes—saving coal—keeping the fire clean—and doing away with sifting ashes.

When the furnace is almost out, you can shake down the ashes farthest from the fire without disturbing the live coals, and quickly have a blazing fire. Clinkers cause no trouble, as they do with grates that are fastened together and must all be shaken together.

It is certainly easier to shake one grate than four.

An Automatic Lock holds each bar in position. This Lock opens as the shaker is put on and locks when released.

"Hecla" Triangular Bar Grates may be removed in an instant and each bar replaced separately.

Our new catalogue describes the "Hecla" Bar Grates, Steel Ribbed Firepot, Fused Joints and other exclusive features. If you are going to put in a new furnace this year, write for a free copy.

Will You Try An L. C. Smith Typewriter?

The Standard Visible Writer

We do not belong to any trust and nobody dictates the PRICE we sell at or HOW we shall sell.

That's OUR business.

We sell our machine strictly on its merit.

All the writing on the L. C. Smith is always in sight, and direct in the line of vision. The WRITING LINE IS INDICATED, and the PRINTING POINT IS POINTED OUT so that the L. C. Smith is just WHAT WE CLAIM—a perfect VISIBLE typewriter.

The typebar and hanger are the heart of a typewriter, that means they are the most vital part—a weak typebar means a weak typewriter. Show us a typebar-bearing that is narrow and has no wearing surface, and it tells us that under hard wear such a typewriter will not retain its alignment, and sooner or later will get out of order.

On the L. C. Smith the bearing is wide and the bar heavy, and will stand years and years of hard work.

Then we want to leave the decision to you. If YOU want it then we will sell you one on favorable TERMS, or if you already have a machine we will take that in part payment.
