ONTARIO CONSERVATIVES URGE ON A FIGHT.

And to Refuse Any Kind of Supply and to Force a Dissolution—Will Help Decide a Question.

Special to the Whig. Ottawa, June 9.—There was a caucus of the conservative party, here, this morning, at which the Ontario members were present in force. Elected with their success at the polls they are insisting upon forcing a dissolution and suggest that the means to do so should be the refusal to grant any supply whatever. R. L. Borden, the opposition leader, did not make any definite statement but the tactics to be pursued will be evidenced within a few days.

The New Wellesley hotel is being painted. Sidney Cole, of Oswego, electrician, has arrived and is fitting up. Lights will be in operation on the hotel. A group of men from Ogdensburg arrived last week and are rushing repairs on the Fine View wharf and will have it completed soon. The Billings Cottages and Dining Hall on Garden avenue, so favorably known to Canadians, are leased by a New York gentleman for the season and will be conducted by him on the same lines as formerly. A supper conducted by the Ladies Aid was held in the annex on Friday evening and was well patronized. Large amounts of goods of every description are coming daily to the Park store.

HAT DELAYED TRAIN.

Young Woman's Creation Got Wedged in Door. A young and beautiful woman tried to get out of a car when the Pacific express stopped at Liberty station at Pittsburg recently. She put on her new Easter hat and started through the narrow aisle at the side of the Pullman car. Suddenly she came to a stop. The hat was too wide to clear the passage. She tried to wiggle forward but couldn't, and then tried to back up. But the hat was stuck fast, and she was nailed to it by half a dozen hat pins.

EGGS WERE RIGID.

Rosetti's Breakfast Did Not Suit Fastidious Author. In his early days it was suggested to Mr. Meredith, the novelist, that he should take up his residence with Rosetti, at Queen's House, Chesham Wall. The novelist agreed to take a couple of rooms, and, one morning, shortly after Rosetti had moved in, Mr. Meredith, who was living in Mayfair, drove over to Chelsea to inspect his new apartments. "It was past noon," relates Mr. Meredith, "Rosetti had not yet risen, though it was an exquisite day. On the breakfast table in a huge dish rested five thick slabs of bacon, upon which five rigid eggs had slowly bled to death. I presently Rosetti appeared in dressing gown, with slippers down at heel, and devoured the dainty repast like an ogre." This decided Mr. Meredith. He did not even trouble to look at his rooms, but sent in a quarter's rent that afternoon and remained in Mayfair.

The Tuna Money Talked.

There is a broker's wife residing within pistol shot of the Majestic who learned a lesson in finance this week, which she says, will last her awhile. She saw a pretty rug down town and expressed a wish for its possession. "We don't need it for the moment," she told her husband, "but I am perfectly fascinated with it, and I'd like to own it—against the time when we own our house. Please write me a check for the amount—$600." The broker is a man of means, but a little to repair the damage. Besides that, we do not like the have amphibious animals about the basement.

Tooth Doctoring In China.

North China Daily. "Right in front of us on the street on a doctor's table is a small heap of teeth, not manufactured by any cunning workman, but by the subtle alchemy of nature. They are of all sizes and conditions. I wondered how a curious collection could have been gathered together. 'Where did you get these from?' I asked the doctor, pointing to the heap, which, however, I was careful not to touch. 'Oh, I bought them,' he replied. 'When a man has to part with a tooth,' he continued, 'he does not throw it away. He brings it to me and I buy it, for he knows that in my profession it will come in handy some time or other.' Just as he was speaking a patient came up to him. On being asked what he wanted he replied simply by opening his mouth to the very widest extent. It was seen that his four upper teeth were wanting. Measuring the cavity in the jaw, the tooth peddler carefully selected from the heap the four teeth that would exactly fill it. He then drilled a hole in them longitudinally and inserted a bit of coarse iron wire to bind them to each other. The ends of the wire were next inserted in holes that were drilled in the teeth on each side of the cavity and at once the chasm disappeared."

SAP BLINDED HIM.

Man in Mexico Blurred By Acid. Chicago Inter-Ocean. While making an inspection of a tract of timber in Michoacan, Mex., Edward Spendlove came to a peculiar looking tree and struck it with an axe he was carrying. Instantly a quantity of sap spurted from the tree, striking the man in the face and entering his eyes.

The sap had the properties of a strong acid and burned it way into the eyeballs and into the flesh of the face. Spendlove was blinded, and physicians here say that his eyes have been permanently injured, and that he will never see again. He will be taken to his home.

The tree is thought to be a species of poison oak. The natives in that part of Mexico have known of the dangerous properties of the sap for many years.

Bishop Ingram And Temperance.

The Bishop of London has won general admiration amongst supporters of the government for his splendid courage in upholding the licensing bill. Our drinking customs which so shook our colonial visitors to the Old Country are, he said, a national disgrace. We must diminish public houses if we would diminish the curse of drink. He has hitherto voted consistently against liberal governments, but he honored the present government for taking their life in their hands in proposing this bill. The bishop will himself away the closing shall be applied to London. In the impressive peroration he begged the Church of England not to be behind Nonconformists in this matter. What does the church exist for if not to save the world. But, in spite of this stirring appeal, the council defeated his resolution in support of the bill by forty-six votes. Thus it seems the Church of England will allow the Nonconformists to lead in this temperance crusade, and the Bishop of London feels sore about this strange attitude of the church.

Time And Eternity.

Washington Herald. "On one occasion, when in congress," said James F. Banks, of Boston, "Gen. Benjamin Butler arose in his place and intimated that the member who occupied the floor was transgressing the limit of debate. 'Why, general,' said the member, reproachfully, 'you divided your time with me.' 'I know I did,' rejoined Butler, grimly, 'but I didn't divide eternity with you.'"

CALLED TO TIME.

The Police Let the Squadrals Skip Away.

Hamilton, Ont., June 9.—There is a prospect of Chief Smith being brought before the police commissioners to answer a charge of failing to do his duty in connection with the case of William Lawson and Henry Dillabaugh for whose arrests warrants were issued for improperly handling ballots in connection with yesterday's election. It is charged that the chief had a good opportunity for making arrests before the matter was made public and that he delayed too long in having the warrants issued. The delay was of sufficient length to allow the two men to skip and they have not yet been located; in fact the police have no idea of where they went. One of the police commissioners stated, yesterday, that more might be heard of the matter. The chief is not worried over the matter and says all the talk will do no good.

A BAD ACCIDENT

And As If By a Miracle None Hurt. Stevensville, Ont., June 9.—A Wash passenger train, running at full speed, left the tracks, one mile west of here, this morning. That none were seriously injured was almost a miracle as most of the coaches were completely wrecked and several passengers were rescued by chopping away the wreckage. The wreck is supposed to have been caused by the spreading of rails.

Hat Of White Straw.

A very summery and becoming hat is shown in the accompanying drawing, the model being in pure white silk, trimmed with a large wired rosette bow made of ring-dot white net, with draped folds of the same net around the high crown. At the base of the large chout of net were placed a couple of white gardenias, with a bud or two and foliage, one flower placed in front and another back of the net. This same model is also very effective on ecru straw, trimmed with ecru net, and a cluster of real cherries and foliage.

WENT DOWN TO DEATH

TWO MEN ELECTROCUTED AT MONTMORENCY FALLS.

One Lineman Perished in Attempt to Save the Life of His Companion.

Quebec, June 9.—The vicinity of Montmorency Falls was the scene of an accident, yesterday, as a result of which Paul Rogers and a man named Langlois are now in the morgue awaiting the coroner's inquest. Both the victims are employees of the Quebec Railway, Light & Power company, and were engaged in electric wiring when the accident happened. Rogers was at work at the top of a pole on the side of the hill and fell across a live wire. In his agony he managed to shout for assistance to his companion, who was on the ground below. Langlois immediately hurried to his assistance, but in his haste he forgot to put on the gutta percha gauntlets, and, climbing the pole, he endeavored to cut the live wire with his pinchers. Light, like his friend, he too was struck with the deadly current, and in a few minutes he had expired.

Rogers had been employed in the Montreal Light, Heat & Power company, previous to coming to Quebec. He leaves a widow and two children. Langlois, who so gallantly risked and lost his life in an attempt to save his companion, had been employed in the Jacques Cartier Electric company since that concern started business, and had been with the Quebec R. L. & P. company during the last year. He was married and leaves a wife and one child.
