A YOUTH DEAD.

Others of the Family Have Scarlet Fever.

A very sad death occurred on Wednesday evening, when John Amey, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Amey, 225 Wellington street, passed peacefully away after a two months' illness. The deceased was born in Laverly, and moved to the city about six years ago. He had been employed at the cotton mill and was a most faithful worker, until he was forced to leave on account of ill-health. On Wednesday, he seemed to be greatly improved and was walking around the house during the afternoon, but later suffered a relapse from which he never rallied. The deceased was well known in the city, where he had made a host of friends. The funeral was held on Thursday morning at the cemetery at Wilbur. On the same day that their boy died the other three children, two boys and a girl, were removed to the General Hospital suffering from scarlet fever, and are in a serious condition. Mr. and Mrs. Amey have the sincerest sympathy of a host of friends in their sorrow.

STORY OF POLICE COURT.

Two Offenders Paid Up For Their Spill.

William Robinson, a young farm laborer, appeared in police court this morning, with his left eye in deep mourning. He is the young fellow, who, while on a spree, smashed in the front door of a hotel, street boarding house. Constable Thomas Mullinger told the magistrate about the call received at 5:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning. Robinson, he said, had smashed in the door, refused to leave, and when ordered by him to go, used bad language, and a verbal assault. The way to the police station, attempted to stab him with a knife. The court imposed a fine of $10 and costs, with the option of a month in jail. The fine was paid. Robinson has a good record when sober, but is very wild when in liquor.

George Goldie was faced with a double charge, that of drunkenness and beating.

"I would not have been begging if I had not been drunk," was the way in which he put his case to the magistrate. "I've had enough of it now. Work has been very slack, but I have work to go to now."

Marriage At Camden East.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Longmore, Camden East, on Wednesday, June 10th, there took place the marriage of their second daughter, Hattie B. Longmore, to Charles Victor Titus, of Huntington, Long Island. Joseph Gardner officiated. The bride was charmingly attired in white silk. She was attended by Miss Phoebe Titus, sister of the groom, in a becoming gown of pink. The groom's best man was Lynn Longmore, brother of the bride. Directly after the ceremony, and an elaborate repast, the bride and groom left for Toronto and Niagara Falls.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Titus, of Huntington.

The bride is beloved throughout Long Island, having been one of the first graduates of the Nassau Hospital Training School for Nurses, and one of the most capable ever graduated from there. Mr. and Mrs. Titus will occupy a cozy home in Huntington.

Wedding Bells In Portsmouth.

The home of Haddell James Powell was the centre of a happy scene on Wednesday evening, by the marriage of his sister-in-law, Miss Albertina Sears, to John Henry Allmark. The hostess, Mrs. Powell, welcomed the guests as they arrived, and the house was comfortably filled. The parties were the recipients of many presents, which proved the loving esteem of relatives and friends. The bride was tastefully attired and was accompanied by Miss Rose Turner and Vera Powell, as bridesmaids. The groom was attended by Joseph Bennett, of Kingston, as best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Benjamin Eves, the service being finely rendered. The home was well prepared for the event, for immediately after the ceremony was concluded a splendid feast awaited the banqueters. Ever-loving tokens of the bride and groom the grand old wish of "health, wealth and happiness."

NERVY TRAMP ON BOARD

STOLE HIS PASSAGE ON THE STEAMER TORONTO.

Came From Prescott to Kingston, and Was Then Taken Off By the Police—He Had Narrow Escape From Drowning.

"No sir, I haven't got a ticket, and I'm not going to get one, do you see. I'm used to take pal, on my way to Toronto, so just let me stay here."

Spitting himself in the hold of the boat, a big burly tramp was discovered by the ticket collector on the steamer Toronto, just as the vessel had passed out from Prescott, on Wednesday. The boat could not be stopped, so there was nothing left for the official to do, but to allow the tramp to remain on the boat. The tramp was very dirty, and the vessel was in a bad way. The vessel was in a bad way. The vessel was in a bad way.

The tramp got off the boat there all right, but would not leave the wharf and just as the boat was leaving he jumped on board again. All the time the boat was waiting, he sat on the wharf, and it was believed that he was going to stay in Brockville. However, he had no intention of doing so. The white had given her parting signal, the gang plank was pulled in, when the tramp in a "leap-the-gap" act that would rival any circus performer, again landed on the steamer. Just as he touched the vessel he became somewhat overbalanced, and would have fallen into the water had not a member of the crew given him assistance.

And so the steamer continued on her way up to Kingston, the tramp still on board. The collector decided that they would get rid of Mr. Tramp upon arrival in Kingston, so as soon as the vessel touched Swift's wharf, a call was sent in to the police station. The tramp did not get off the boat, and when Constables Patrick Brice and James Jamieson arrived, they found the warty Willie hiding in the hold of the boat. The constables gave him his walking ticket at once, but as the officers on board did not care to prosecute, he was not arrested. Pulling away at a cigarette, and looking every bit like a knight of the road, he waddled away from the wharf, and the Toronto pulled out.

The tramp told the constables that he was in hard luck; that he had been working on a boat, but did not like the work. To use his own words, he "chucked up the job."

Do Excavating Now.

For the past couple of weeks, the property along streets where the roads are to be rebuilt have been requested by board of works advertisement in the papers to see that their water, gas and sewer connections are made as soon as possible, so that no needless excavations be made in the roads after they are rebuilt. No trouble will likely arise, as far as water services are concerned. It is thought that other connections and repairs will have been made before street building starts. It is especially important that excavations in the portion of the city marked for asphalt paving should be attempted at once, as repairs to this kind of pavement are not so easy as to macadam.

WOMAN'S RESIDENCE TEA.

Held on Queen's University Grounds Yesterday.

The tea in aid of the Woman's Residence, held in Queen's grounds, on Wednesday afternoon, was a great success. The laws, the trees, the flowers and the sloping green sward never looked prettier, and the girls sitting about in summer frocks made all latter still. Mrs. Binnie Gordon gave the guests her own gracious welcome, and in this was assisted by Mrs. John Macgillivray, president of the residence association.

Mrs. Walter Magee and Mrs. W. L. Goodwin were at the tea table in the dining-room and in the drawing-room Mrs. A. P. Knight and Miss Nina Ferguson disposed of home-made things very rapidly. Out of doors Mrs. Alexander Kirkpatrick, Mrs. John Macgillivray and Mrs. John Gwillim had set up their candy booth, and in another pretty spot in the grounds Mrs. Harry Watson, Miss Dorothy Macgillivray and Miss Edith Goodwin disposed of ice cream. All these principals were assisted by a host of young girls. A great many people turned out for the affair, and it was most successful.

Many After One Job.

Every day much is heard about the number of unemployed. Along this line it might be stated that a Kingston firm recently placed an ad. in a Toronto paper, for a tinsmith, and in two days, he received no less than twenty-one applications for the position.

He Is Improving.

William Marks, in the hospital for some time on account of wounds inflicted by his father, is still in the institution and it will be some days before he is able to be around. The wounds are healing nicely. It will be some time before he is able to do much walking.

An Old Lady's Bad Fall.

Mrs. G. N. Smallridge, 159 Alfred street, aged eighty-four years, was on her back yesterday on Thursday forenoon, when she fell forward, going down to the ground, a distance of four feet. No bones were broken but she was badly shaken up, and owing to her age her condition is serious.

Sentence Suspended.

Col. Hunter, J.P., had a case, at Portsmouth on Wednesday evening. On Saturday afternoon, Thomas Ewart and Edward Burke were drunk and disorderly and were summoned to appear on Wednesday. Ewart skipped as he had only been released after serving thirty days for assault. Burke appeared, pleading guilty, and was sentenced to thirty days, sentence being suspended on promise of good behavior.

The Arundel Ran On Hard.

Early this morning the steamer Arundel went ashore at Fine View shoal, among the Thousand Islands, on her way from Alexandria Bay to Charlotte. The steamer was going full speed when she hit and hit hard. Word was at once sent to Ogdensburg and a powerful tug was dispatched to her assistance. From the latest reports the Arundel was leaking, and has made three inches of water since she struck.

COMMITTEE PROTESTS

Against Increased Taxes on the Light Plant.

A special meeting of the Light, Heat and Power committee was called for four o'clock, this afternoon, to consider the city tax bill against the plant. Last year, $3,557.30 was paid. This year $4,663.40 is demanded by the city. The increase of $1,106.10 is due to the increased value of the plant, by way of extensions, about $3,900 having been spent. The committee thinks that the taxes charged total too high, and that no increase should have been made for extensions. There should be some limit to assessment, it is claimed. With $1,100 more taxes to pay, the plant will not have much surplus when the year ends. Eleven hundred dollars is quite a crack at the cash box of the light plant.

The committee did not receive any notice of the amount of taxes, and so it is too late to appeal to the court of revision. This afternoon's meeting is for the purpose of passing the tax bill and paving it under protest, in order to get the two per cent. discount-if paid by June 30th. An appeal will be taken to the city council to have the taxes reduced.

The King Edward Theatre.

One of the most spectacular and interesting entertainments of the season will be given to-night and Thursday. The pictures will be "Hilda's Lovers" and "The Misadventure Of An Equilibrium." The former had the record run in Toronto. It is humorous in the extreme. The latter is exciting and fascinating. The songs will be "Another Picture In My Mother's Frame," by Mr. Bristol, and a solo by Mr. Harvey. No increase in price of admission.

AN ARMY WEDDING

AT THE SALVATION BAR-RACKS LAST EVENING.

George H. Byford and Miss Edith Hancock the Principals—The Farewell Service of Ensign and Mrs. Coy.

There was an immense audience at the Salvation Barracks, last evening, to witness the nuptials of George Henry Byford and Miss Edith Hancock, who were both officers of the army in the old country. The ceremony was performed by Brigadier Hargraves, of Montreal. It was also the farewell of Ensign and Mrs. Coy, who have been in charge of the local corps for over a year past. They are to be stationed at St. John, N.B. They will be succeeded by Adjutant and Mrs. Parsons, who will contact the army service this evening, having arrived in the city to-day.

Brigadier Hargraves, in opening the meeting, said he was glad to be in Kingston, as he had "the same old job" to do over again. He had the pleasure of performing two weddings the day before, and coming back from them he expected to have a private time now. The first one was private and the other was a public affair, and the bride of the previous one had sent her kind greetings and love to the bride of to-night. The groom was an officer of the army in the old land. He came from Yorkshire, the same place he came from himself. What he knew of the contracting parties would turn out all right for them. Those who were married under the flag of the army should live and dedicate their lives to God. It was also the farewell of Ensign and Mrs. Coy. They had done their work well and had been the means of bringing many souls to Christ. He prayed that God would bless them and their work in St. John. The new officers would soon be in charge of the corps here. Mrs. Parsons came of a good old Salvation Army stock. The adjutant had a good reputation and in coming to Kingston they would bring a blessing to the people. He hoped they would take it to their heart and help them in their work for God.

Bandman Auld sang a solo, "Alleluia, I Have Got Salvation." Brigadier Hargraves then read the articles of marriage as laid down by the Salvation Army rite, and united the contracting parties, reading the customary marriage service, the army flag being held over them. The bridegroom being called on to say a few words, stated that he felt really nervous and was glad it was all over. He hoped his union with his wife would be for the glory of God.

Mrs. Byford said she had been a soldier in the old country. She desired to be a faithful soldier of the army here, and hoped that God would do for her as He had done in the past. God had been her guide, and she earnestly prayed that she would receive His guidance in the future. He had blessed her. She hoped that God would direct her to victory. She would try and adapt herself to all, and be one with them.

Mrs. Coy was greeted with applause. She said whatever path God had set out for her, she would strive to follow, and she prayed that God would bless them all.

Ensign Coy said he was thankful for the people's kindness to him. The time had come for them to part. He received his orders from God when he came to Kingston and he tried faithfully to carry out His will. He was leaving to continue to do God's work. He trusted they would uphold the hands of the incoming officers. Ensign Coy said he would like to thank the people of Kingston for the liberal way in which they had always helped the army. On behalf of Mrs. Coy he would tender them a kind farewell. If he never met them again on earth he prayed that he would meet them at the right hand of God.

The local corps, officers and band then presented the bride with a handsome Morris chair. The doxology was then sung.

Brigadier Hargraves, Ensign and Mrs. Coy left by the midnight train for the east.
