THE CRICKET MATCH

WAS WON BY THE VISITING TEAM.

The Yacht Race on Saturday—Ryan is Willing to Test Speed With Fitzgerald at Roller Rink.

The cricket match at the Royal Military College, with Trinity College School, Port Hope, on Saturday, ended in a victory for T.C.S. The runs totalled 153, and of this Rhodes, T.C.S., made 75. Tremayne and Gibson were the stars for R.M.C., running up 15 each. The teams were:

R.M.C.—Wheeler, Major Mozley, Gibson, Tremayne, Meredith, Nordheimer, E. A. Greene, McLennan, Ringwood, Campbell, Wurtele—67.

T.C.S.—Pearce, Rhodes, Campbell, Drummond, Reid, Martin, Walters, Macauley, Heaton, Baldwin, Carswell—133.

Both elevens put up some very pretty cricket.

Ready For The Contest.

M. Ryan writes the Whig that he will be ready to meet D. Fitzgerald in a two-mile roller skating race, any time before or on Monday, June 29th. Mr. Ryan's entry in Friday night's race was the first he ever ran. While in New York he was not racing, but was on polo teams. He is ready to put up $25 or more that he can win from Mr. Fitzgerald. He has already accepted a challenge from F. Roney, for fifteen laps, to be run off this week.

A Lively Yacht Race.

The last of the series of yacht races for the Bruce Carruthers trophy was sailed on Saturday in a stiff, two-reef breeze that kicked up a sea which sent the spray over the decks of the yachts and gave the crew many refreshing shower baths.

The starting gun was fired at 2.45 p.m., and Dalton Bros.' Chiriya got the best of the start. The Temeraire and Teapt were so late getting out from their moorings that they did not figure in the race. The course was triangular, from the club house to the asylum buoy, then to Simcoe island buoy, to club house, twice around, making about twelve miles. The Chiriya and Isis kept close together all around and made a fine race, the first round was completed in the following order:

	H.M.S.
Isis	3.51.30
Chiriya	3.51.45
Kathleen	3.54.30

The Isis kept gaining on the second round and crossed the finishing line at 4.58.45, followed by the Chiriya at 5.00.10, and the Kathleen at 5.07.30. The elapsed time was as follows:

	H.M.S.
Isis	2.13.45
Chiriya	2.15.10
Kathleen	2.22.30

The approximate corrected time made the Chiriya a winner on time allowance, as follows:

	H.M.S.
Chiriya	2.19.01
Kathleen	2.22.30
Isis	2.24.13

At the finish of the race the Isis got in a little mix-up outside the wharf and some of her crew did great aquatic stunts that caused much merriment among the spectators in the balcony.

Association Football.

Kingston, June 20.—(To the Editor): In Friday's issue of the Whig, the news of sport columns contained a note about association football being over for the summer. That is not so, as I assure you could we arrange games we would play every Saturday afternoon, as we love the sport. I may say I, as secretary, have written, trying to arrange home and home games with Queen's, R.H.C.A., Odessa, Sunbury, Inverary, Perth Road, Moscow and Napanee, but only Queen's and Napanee have obliged by replying. So you see it is not our fault that so few games have been played in Kingston. We are obliged to the R.C.H.A. for the practice games we have had with them, and we would be pleased to hear from other association football clubs.—A. T. M'LEOD, Secretary Wanderers' Association Football Club.

Applied To The Consul.

Three sailors off the steamer Arundell, stranded below the Thousand Island Park, applied to-day to United States Consul Van Sant for aid, as they were in the same condition as the steamer. The consul sent them as far as Cape Vincent, N.Y.

Steamer Released.

The steamer City of Montreal, which went aground at Farran's Point, a few days ago, has been released. It was not known here to-day, whether she would be towed to Kingston or not, one report stating that she would be taken to Ogdensburg. The steamer is in bad shape.

Gentleman Burglar.

The gentleman burglar, who reforms, marries, is happy, and is then punished terribly for his earlier crimes, is described in a splendid double tenact drama at the Bijou to-day and Tuesday. The film is by Edison and teaches the moral lesson that crime must bring its own punishment.

Stripping Cedar Island.

Complaints are again being made about the cutting of trees on Cedar Island for decoration purposes. If the trimming goes on, in a few years the name of the island will have to be changed. A year ago, Col. Gordon, O.C.E.O.C., ordered that no more cutting take place, but as there is no one on the island to watch, it seems to continue.

A HIDDEN FORTUNE.

F. Parlee's Old Oil Stock Turns Out Valuable.

Winnipeg, June 22.—Years ago F. Parlee, a steamfitter employed in the C.N.R. shops at Edmonton, bought fifty shares of Union Oil stock at twenty cents a share and almost forgot about it. The share certificates were left in the bottom of an old trunk, and were regarded simply as a reminder of a bad investment. A few days ago, however, Parlee happened to be in a broker's office in Edmonton and mentioned the fact of his having these shares casually. The broker thereupon informed him that the stock was worth $224 per share, together with accrued dividends, which Parlee had never claimed. This meant a tidy fortune of about $12,000 for him, and he just passed through here en route for California to claim it.

HID UNDER STAIRWAY

A BURGLAR IN A STORE ON PRINCESS STREET.

Charles Driscoll Made His Escape, But Was Forced to Leave His Booty Behind—He Told a Fake Story and Then Ran Off.

The fact that Edwin Walsh, of the firm of Crawford & Walsh, tailors, Princess street, had a new fishing pole, and wished to show it to a couple of his friends, was the means of blocking a thief who gained entrance to the store, and who was about to make off with a bundle of clothing. The most unfortunate part of the story is the fact that the thief made good his escape, and has not yet been captured.

It all happened in this way. The store was closed as usual, late on Saturday night. Mr. Walsh, who is a follower of Isaac Walton, recently purchased a fine new fishing pole, and on the way home he got into conversation with a couple of friends. The fishing pole, of course, came under discussion, and it was decided that the two friends should return to the store to see the pole. They did so, and upon their arrival at the store, went into the room at the rear, on the ground floor. The three were talking, when one of Mr. Walsh's friends was surprised to see a man's leg protruding from under the stairway.

"What's that?" he cried to the others.

"That looks like a man's leg," said Mr. Walsh, and he immediately went over to the stairway, and investigated. Crouched up in a very small space, he noticed a young man, who had his face turned against him.

"What are you doing here?" asked Mr. Walsh, and with that the young fellow said, "never mind, it's only me, Mr. Walsh."

The young man then turned his face, and Mr. Walsh recognized him as a young man named Charles Driscoll, aged about twenty-two years, who had worked for him at one time.

"Come out here and I'll tell you what I am doing," said the young man, making for the front part of the store. Mr. Walsh went after him and his two friends stayed in the other room. His game was to make a bolt out of the front door, but as Mr. Walsh, on coming in, had turned the key, he found that he would have to try some other plan. He told a story about being chased on the street by a couple of men, and stated that he had taken off the grating from the cellar window and crawled into the building in that way, so as to escape his pursuers, and that he had then walked up the stairs into the store. He had more to tell, but wanted Mr. Walsh to go upstairs, to hear the rest of his story, as he did not care to have the other two men hear what he had to say. The young man hurried upstairs, and Mr. Walsh followed, but as soon as the young fellow got upstairs he headed for the third flat, and before Mr. Walsh could get trace of him he had gone into one of the rooms on that flat, out through a window which had been left open, and made his escape, by the fire escape, a very handy thing for a burglar. Mr. Walsh searched all over for Mr. Burglar, but could not find him, and a call was sent in to the police station as soon as he made his escape, but the missing man could not be located. It was rumored around the street, to-day, that he had gone over to Wolfe Island in a row boat, and that he had gone from there to Watertown, N.Y.

Before Mr. Walsh left the store, he discovered that the thief had tied up a bundle of clothes, ready to carry away. In the bundle there was one tweed suit, a black suit, blue suit, three fancy vests, and six and one-half yards of double width silk. The parcel was tied up, and no doubt the young man was just in the act of making his departure when Mr. Walsh and his friends entered. The parcel was left on a table in the room at the rear. Had the young man fled upstairs he would not have been discovered, as Mr. Walsh had no occasion to go upstairs. How he gained entrance to the store is not known, but it is thought that he climbed up the fire escape and went through the window.

Driscoll, who is well-known to the Kingston police, served a term in the Central prison, for theft, and appeared in the police court here on more than one occasion. He was known as Charles Driscoll, alias Babcock. He served time in the Central for stealing silverware off the steamer Pierrepont.

Driscoll was at one time employed at the Crawford & Walsh store. He learned the tailoring trade while in prison.

DROP IN FURNITURE.

Carter Meets With Mishap on Wellington Street.

There was a great drop in furniture on Saturday night, about seven o'clock. John Campbell, the well-known carter, was taking a load from the G.T.R. freight sheds. The furniture was piled several feet high, and when Campbell urged his horse on the sudden jolt tumbled the furniture out on to the road. A man named Davis, and little son, living near the Grove Inn, were on the load with Campbell, and they fell off with the furniture, receiving some nasty cuts and a bad shaking up. Luckily no person was seriously injured. Considerable damage was done to the furniture, and some chinaware was smashed.
