

Told in Twilight

The most perfect weather has greeted the Royal Military College functions, this week, yesterday's sunshine and fresh breezes surpassing all that went before, and doing honor to Mrs. Taylor's garden party. Visitors were charmed with the beautiful situation of the commandant's residence, and never tired looking out across the lawn and the college grounds to Lake Ontario, fresh and blue. Colonel and Mrs. Taylor received near the gate, Miss Elsie Taylor being with them the earlier part of the afternoon, and later moving off to do the honors in other parts of the garden. Tea and coffee were dispensed out of doors on the side of the house looking towards the fort, little tables and seats being scattered about under the trees, and ice, lemonade and strawberries were laid over the edge of the frequent lawn, down in the meadow which covers the town. TO BE CALLED JAMIE

Spain's new prince gets his name. Real Game is Jamie, Luipold, Isabelino, Enrique, Alejandro, Alberto, Alfonso, Victor, Acucion, Pedro, Pablo, Maria and at That His Coming Was Most Unexpected.

New York, June 27.—The Herald prints a cable despatch from La Granja, giving some unpublished details concerning the arrival of the Spanish king's new son on Monday.

The interesting event, says the Herald's correspondent, was precipitated by the attendance of the queen at a bull fight at Seguir on Sunday. Queen Victoria dislikes bull fights, and she understood that on this occasion no horses would be seen in the arena and that the bulls were small, almost tame animals. But the bulls were powerful beasts, the toreros were stretched bullfighters and several horses were killed in the ring.

The queen was greatly affected by the sight. Monday, the queen felt ill and at two kilometres from La Granja turned pale and fainted, causing some alarm. On her return to the palace Dr. Conde and Dr. Le Desma attended her, but the symptoms were not thoroughly clear till seven o'clock and no one expected the event immediately.

The queen mother arrived hurriedly in an automobile at eight o'clock, and the Premier Senor Maura, interrupted his speech in parliament and drove to La Granja. Duke of Soloman and General Echague, the highest court officials, were in Madrid, but thanks to an automobile they were able, like the members of the royal family and the higher nobility, to reach La Granja in time.

It was one o'clock when the queen gave birth to the baby, which is a very healthy prince. He is fair, greatly resembling the Principe De Asturias, with features like those of his mother. King Alfonso joyfully announced the birth and a golden lantern was hoisted on the top of the flagstaff on the tower crowning the palace. In the event of the child having been a girl a white light would have been shown and a white flag would have been hung in the day time. King Alfonso, wearing the uniform of a captain general, was in the richest lace, wearing a gold chain and a cross and a white sash, and a red sash, and the ceremony did not take place in the throne room as tradition requires but in a newly decorated salon in the right wing of the palace. As it was a cold evening and the event had taken everybody by surprise, the throne room had not been warmed.

A CASE OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Relieved In a Remarkable Manner By Pe-ru-na. Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Catarrh Remedy. Especially Adapted to Cases of Nervous Prostration Caused By Overwork, Mental Strain or Extreme Summer Heat.

MR. P. BRIENS, 23 Third Street, Limoilou, Quebec.

IN latitudes where warm weather is of long continuance, the inhabitants become more or less accustomed to it. In Temperate Zones, however, where the change from winter to summer is great, the system is sometimes poorly prepared to meet the exigencies of hot weather. This is the cause of much sickness.

Stomach catarrh, indigestion and dyspepsia are not among the least of summer ailments. When the digestion is disturbed, the assimilation is also affected, and as a result the body does not receive the nourishment it should. Lassitude, weakness, brain fog, loss of flesh and nervous prostration are the natural results.

What is needed is a remedy that will restore the digestive organs to their normal condition. Such a remedy has been found in Pe-ru-na. It has proven itself of great value in thousands of cases of this kind.

Its action has been remarkable at times in restoring some patients who had given up all hope of recovery. But there is nothing strange about Pe-ru-na's action. It simply tones up the mucous membranes lining the entire digestive tract is well-groomed against the usual summer ailments.

Pe-ru-na is the means whereby to attain this most desirable condition. If you suffer from any of the above mentioned symptoms, try a bottle of Pe-ru-na.

One bottle of this remedy is often sufficient to convince any one of its merit as a safe and reliable remedy for all catarrhal conditions. We have many letters of gratitude received from persons who have experienced its benefits.

These testimonials are proof to us that Pe-ru-na has not failed in the mission for which it was intended, that of relieving suffering and restoring health.

"The fatigues entailed by my duties as accountant began to weaken my system about a year ago. I felt that I would not long be able to withstand the severe strain upon my nerves, as, a thing unknown to me before, I would long for office hours to be over in order to rest."

"I gradually grew weaker and a few months later my shattered nervous system broke down completely and was obliged to take to my bed. I was also suffering from palpitation of the heart."

"After a few weeks' treatment by a local physician, I was in the same critical condition and as the doctor held out no great prospects for me, I decided to experiment on myself."

"I took several remedies advertised as tonics, but did not derive any benefit. Pe-ru-na was then given a trial, and before I had taken it a week I felt my condition improving. After a few weeks more had elapsed, during which time I followed the directions carefully, my shattered nervous system became firmer, my sight stronger and I hoped to be out soon again."

"My expectations were realized, for in three weeks I assumed my duties as accountant at the office."

"Pe-ru-na certainly worked wonders on my system, and for persons run-down from overwork, I believe it is the most efficacious tonic."

As a good, true friend and in the tonic needed, "I have tried it for months and am only too glad to acknowledge it as a true, loyal standby in times of trouble. I do not hesitate to recommend it to all."

Completely Run Down—Pe-ru-na Restored to Health. Mrs. J. Oolson, 851 Notre Dame street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"Last winter I contracted a severe cold which affected my head and throat so I had to take to my bed and could not do my housework. A friend advised me to get a bottle of Pe-ru-na, and I procured a bottle. I felt better from the start. I have taken three bottles and am a new woman. My daughter's system was also completely run down and after using Pe-ru-na she is again restored to health."
