

A VERY FINE RESIDENCE.

This attractive frame cottage has a large screened porch leading into the hall. The front of the house is thrown together by sliding doors, with living-rooms on one side, and dining-room on the other. There is a bedroom in the rear of the living-room, and the kitchen is to the rear of the dining-room, connected by pantry. The second floor is composed of three good-sized chambers, bathroom and ample amount of closet-room.

This is a very economical house to build, simple in detail, picturesque in outline, snug and compact in arrangement, of a low gable style, with long, sweeping roof to the front, affording very small attic space and taking the smallest amount of material for construction. The cost in different localities varies from $2,000 to $2,500, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

There is a good basement under the entire house. The general dimensions are 30 by 30 feet, the first storey nine feet six inches and the second storey nine feet high. The piano in the first storey is covered by the main roof.

A light cream tint for the first storey walls and a bright red roof, with green shingles in the gable ends and dormers, will make a very artistic and pretty house.

lovely bouquet or orchids, lily-of-the-valley, carnations, and asparagus fern, explained her mission to Miss Brooke-Alder, the matron, and was conducted to the ward in which Martha Massey was lying. Surprise and joy combined for the moment overcame the patient, but the words of sympathy from her majesty soon dispelled her nervousness. She thanked the girl for her letter, and expressed her pleasure at being able to gratify her desire.

Mrs. Massey could not find words to express her heartfelt thanks, but the tears in her eyes indicated the fullness of her heart. When the queen handed the bouquet to Miss Massey, and told her it was specially for her, and that the flowers were cut from the palace gardens, the girl, with eyes dimmed with tears of joy, could only stammer her thanks.

The queen then passed to other patients, gave roses to each, and spoke words of sympathy to each.

When bidding farewell to the matron in the hall, her majesty heard some one coughing. "Who is that coughing?" she asked. Being informed that it was Miss Massey, she ordered her cough lozenges in the motor car to be brought to her. She then returned to the girl's bedside and placed one of the lozenges between the patient's lips. Her majesty then handed a number of the lozenges to the matron, requesting her to give them to the girl when she was seized with severe fits of coughing. The queen again shook hands with the girl and left the house.

When she had gone three cheers were given for Miss Massey, who was the heroine of the occasion.

The girl whom the queen thus honored has had a life of trouble and sorrow. Born in London of poor parents, she had, at the age of eleven years, to nurse her mother, a victim of consumption, and to look after the younger children of the family. When only fourteen she worked in a factory, earning a few shillings per week. She was always frail, and was

Will You Try An L. C. Smith Typewriter?
The Standard
Visible Writer

We know other typewriters of all kinds and we know that the L. C. Smith has every improvement and every feature that any of them has—AND MORE. We want to place an L. C. Smith Bros.' Typewriter in your office AT OUR EXPENSE, and have you compare it part for part, feature for feature, with any other typewriter.

We will let the typewriter speak for itself. All we say about it and claim for it will be demonstrated by the machine itself more convincingly than we could tell it.

Then we want to leave the decision to you. If YOU want it and we will sell you one on favorable TERMS, or if you already have a machine we will take it in part payment.

THE TEST OR TRIAL WILL NOT COST YOU A PENNY.

This is the way we sell typewriters. That means we destroy the sense of smell and the composition of the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should be taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It is saying that a typewriter will not retain its alignment, and sooner or later will get out of order.

On the L. C. Smith the bearing is wide and the bar heavy, and will stand years and years of hard work.

Typewriter Supplies for all makes of machines. Typewriters Rented and Repaired—all makes.
