DROWNED IN SIGHT OF PARTIES AT CATARAQUI BRIDGE.

Joseph D. Donnelly Lost His Life—Slipped Off Boat While Helping to Land an Upruned Boat.

At eleven o'clock Tuesday night, Joseph D. Donnelly lost his life by drowning at Cataraqui bridge. He fell in the water at the end of the float at Bowman's boat house, while endeavoring to aid John Bowman and Edward Grace land an upruned skiff. About a quarter of eleven o'clock, two young men came down to the boat house and hired a skiff to go to Kingston Mills fishing. A heavy west wind was blowing when they started out and in going through the fourth pier of the bridge their boat turned turtle, and they were thrown into the water. Just as their loud cries for help reached the ears of the bridge-men, the whistle of the steambarge Keating, was heard blowing for the bridge, and as it was a stormy night the bridge had to be opened at once, so Mr. Bowman ran to the bridge and Mr. Grace to get a boat to aid the two men in the water. The second boat was launched and the two men rescued without much trouble, as they were both clinging to the stone work of the pier.

As soon as the steambarge passed through, Mr. Bowman ran down to the bridge, to help his assistant land the overturned boat. The boat, still bottom up, was towed in to the pier, and as they passed the float, they saw a man running down towards the end of it, and thinking it was one of the men they had just rescued they called to him to keep back. He waited until the boats were near the float and then stepped onto the upruned skiff, and fell into the water. This man was not one of the two fishermen, but was Donnelly and that was the last seen of him alive.

Mr. Bowman and Mr. Grace were handicapped owing to the dark night, and although they waited they did not see the man come up again. Word was immediately sent to the police station, and Constables Arnold and Mullins were quickly on the scene with grappling irons. They worked all night, but could not locate the body. At seven o'clock this morning those policemen were relieved by Constables Briscoe and Craig, and at 8:30 they succeeded in finding the remains about twenty feet from the end of the float. Constable Craig touched the body with a long pole, and succeeded in getting it to the surface when it was caught with the grappling irons and raised to the landing. Dr. Ross was on the scene when the body was recovered, and after hearing the facts of the case decided that an inquest was not necessary. The remains were taken to St. James' Corbett's undertaking rooms to be prepared for burial. Quite a crowd of curiosity seekers were on hand at the bridge when the remains were found. Some of them had been there all night.

Joseph Donnelly, who was thirty years old, was born in the city. He spent some years in the North-West and in Quebec, and later came to the city to join the battery. He served his three years, and was discharged in March last with an excellent record. He went to work for a farmer named Blair and left there Friday last, to take a position with Mr. Rutland, Barrieffield. His mother lives in the city, and is at present seriously ill at the House of Providence. Mrs. Charles Bowman, Barrieffield, is an aunt of the deceased. He was well known in the city, and a large number of friends were shocked to hear of his tragic death.

It is not known what Donnelly was doing at the bridge, unless he was on his way over to Barrieffield, to Rutland's. He must have heard the cries for help from the two men who were tipped overboard, and ran down to the float to try and aid Mr. Bowman in making the landing, and running along the slippery float too fast could not stop quick enough, and stepped out onto the upruned boat and fell in.

When Donnelly's clothes were searched, an article of no description was found on the body. He had his coat and hat off when he fell in, and neither has been found.

The Conservative Sunday.

Sault Ste. Marie Express.
The British Whig says that the recent provincial election in Kingston presented "The wildest, saturnian, unbridled corruption on local record." If the Whig were published in the Soo we wonder what it would say of the spectacle presented in this town the Sunday night preceding election day when an ex-Mayor, a rising conservative lawyer, and a prominent merchant spent the evening in Little Italy, corrupting the electorate with illegal booze.

Entrance Results.

The entrance examination list of successful candidates is expected for publication to-morrow.

DO YOU EAT RIGHT?

Few People in Kingston Really Know How.
Slow eating and regular meals is of great benefit to a wrong acting stomach. Those who suffer with indigestion and weak stomach can with care and the use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets restore the digestion to a healthy condition, so that they can eat what they want at any time without fear of distress or suffering.

After a few days' use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets the headaches, dizzy feeling, drowsiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, flatulence, sleeplessness, distress after eating—all these symptoms of a weak stomach—will disappear, and perfect digestion and good health will be restored.
G. W. Mahood has so much confidence in the power of Mi-o-na to cure indigestion that he guarantees satisfaction or money back. Price 50c.

A Pleasant Weather Change.

Last evening there was a pleasant change in the weather. A west wind arose and the sky was heavily clouded. A good rain shower was expected, but only a light shower fell on the city. The fall was just like one quick squall which met the roads and walks. Outside the city there was a good shower. The atmosphere changed gradually, and this morning it was quite cool.

VISIT OF OLD BOYS MAKING ARRANGEMENTS FOR CELEBRATION.

Programme Committee Appointed at Meeting of General Committee—Report Will Be Presented on Monday Evening Next.

Kingston will have a celebration for the old boys visiting the city on civic holiday. This was decided upon at a meeting held last night, of the general committee. As to what form the celebration will take is not known as yet, but a committee was appointed to map out a programme, and another meeting will be held when the committee will get down to details, and make all the necessary arrangements.
Mayor Ross presided at the meeting and at the opening he announced that in former years it had been usual for the council to give a grant for the old boys' visit. This year, the council was tied up so hard that it would be impossible to get financial aid to carry on the work. If there was to be a celebration, the cost would have to fall entirely upon the shoulders of the citizens. There would have to be a general canvass made of the city for funds, and it would be for the people to say as to what kind of celebration would be held.

The fact that the council would be unable to give a grant for the celebration, did not dampen the spirits of the committee. The members were very enthusiastic over the affair, and it was the general opinion that the citizens would give liberally for such an affair. By a unanimous vote, it was decided to go on with the arrangements for the celebration, and on motion of Mr. G. A. Bell, seconded by Dr. C. A. Bell, the following were appointed as a committee to prepare a programme and to report at the next meeting: Con. Millan (chairman); Dr. Hanley, John Carson, Ald. Anonov, James Macene, Dr. G. A. Bell and William Marshall. The name of James McGowan was added to the finance committee. It was agreed to hold the next meeting on Monday evening, next, July 13th, when reports of both these committees will be received.

Learning To Swim, Lost-Teeth.

It seems that even the nicest of Belleville's girls wear false teeth. Gentle reader just listen to this from the Belleville Ontario: A local lady who strongly desired to rival the Naiads or water goddesses had rather a discouraging experience yesterday in an attempt to learn the first rudiment of Naidism, namely the art of swimming. Arraying herself in a fetching bathing suit and fastening two life preservers about her swells person, she is company with two other nymphs, boldly ventured into the raging waters of the bay west of the city and waded out, with much giggling and wriggling, to a depth of two or three feet. Then began the swimming lesson. Lying down in the agitated waters, the novice struck out on her adventurous course. But alas for her aspirations! An unmanly swell struck her beautiful face, she gave a guttural gasp, opened widely her little mouth, and out dropped her artificial teeth, which she was unable to recover and which repose peacefully on the weedy bottom of our pretty bay. And thus ended the unhappy lady's first lesson in the art of maturation.

THE SPORT REVIEW

THE HORSE RACE MATINEE TO-MORROW.

By the Kingston Gentlemen's Driving Club—Canoe Races Next Saturday—Baseball and Lacrosse Games For This Week.

To-morrow afternoon at three o'clock, at the fair grounds, the Kingston Gentlemen's Driving Club will give its second matinee of the season. The one held a fortnight ago was quite a success, the races being good, and the horses are owned by members of the club and must be driven in these races by members only. There should be a good crowd in attendance to-morrow afternoon to witness the contests. The entries are as follows:

Class A (pacing)—Cassie Pointer, George Daragh, Kingston; Stella Prince, John Bannister, Kingston; Sylvia Direct, C. Horn, Kingston.
Class B (pacing), one-half-mile heats, best two in three—Corn Cracker, Jr., D. McLane, Walk Island; Veras, H. Dr. Hanley, Kingston; Easter Sunday, P. Haffner, Kingston; Alvaro, J. McCue, Kingston; Kenneth E. W. Eaves, Kingston.
Class C (pacing), one-half mile heats, best two in three—Long Pointer, P. Lowry, Kingston; Tossie G. M. Griffin, Walk Island; Hal N., T. Nicholson, Kingston; Sunny Jim, W. McAdoo, Pittsburg; Olive B., Charles T. McKay, Kingston.
Class B (trotting), half-mile heats, best two in three—Elmhurst, Hal Dr. Waugh, Kingston; Thorny B., John Bannister, Kingston; Machinery Maid, D. Hays, Kingston; Erin, Thos. Nicholson, Kingston; Harry H., T. Milo, Kingston.

Lacrosse Practice.

The lacrosse team had another good workout on Tuesday evening. The men are not turning out extra well this week and should pick up again when they will have a hard battle on Friday when they meet Gananoque. The team seem to be greatly divided in their practice nights, some coming Monday, some Wednesday and some Friday, so that the team is seldom out together. All show up well in practice, but to play the game and play it with intelligence one must have the team together, and get used to each other. The work of this was clearly demonstrated here with Belleville when the passing and shooting of the locals was not up to the mark. This can only be overcome by good stiff practice, and practice where every man is out and at work. The habit of playing a game and not turning out again until the next one is certainly not lacrosse and should not be allowed.

Handsome Trophy.

The silver trophy presented by James Baker to the City Baseball League arrived in the city, yesterday, and is on view at his cigar store on Princess street. The new cup is one of the handsomest ever given in the city. The cup, without the base, stands twenty inches and is of beautiful design. At the base two bats are crossed, and on the top of it a baseball is surmounted by a laurel wreath. The cup will be formally presented to the executive at the next meeting, and they can decide how it will be put up. The cup can be played for this year, and awarded to the winning team, or can be awarded to the team winning it three years in succession.

Canoe Races.

On Saturday afternoon canoe races will be pulled off at the yacht club by members of the club. The first race of the season and they should be encouraged by the members. Canoe races could be an attraction for every Saturday at the local club, as there are a great many members who paddle, and paddle well. It would also get the boys in training for the big canoe camp if they wished to enter any races there.

Baseball On Saturday.

The C.L.C. baseball team had a good workout at the cricket field on Tuesday evening. The team now heads the league and has good prospects of staying there. The men are all in fine condition, and they always turn out to practice. The Loos will meet the Victorias on Saturday afternoon. This should be one of the best games of the series, and both teams are working hard for it.

Big Game Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon Artillery Park will be the scene of one of the best junior games of the season, when the Pond Ladies of St. Andrew Ward will meet the Shamrocks. Both teams are newly organized but the players are all old hands. "Art" Raven, the energetic manager of the Ladies, is quite confident that his team can win out as he has them well in hand for the game.

Lady Singers On Strike.

Because owing to a re-arrangement of the seats, by which they could not wear their hats without keeping their heads bent forward all the time, the lady members of the choir of St. Thomas' Anglican church, Hamilton, declined to sing on Sunday and sat in the pews instead. Rev. E. J. Etherington, the rector, favors the male choir idea, and ladies may be banished from the St. Thomas church choir as a result. Mr. Etherington is a brother of Dr. Etherington, of Kingston, and a native of Portsmouth.

Dumped From Canoe.

About 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening two well-known bank clerks were out in a canoe in front of Macdonald park. Quite a heavy west wind was blowing and their craft turned turtle, throwing them both into the lake. As they were both fine swimmers they did not feel any the worse for their adventure. Quite a number of people were down at the park watching them and the accident caused quite a little excitement for a moment.

Corns Disappear.

When Peck's Corn Salve is used, it takes them out, root and all, and without possibility of injury to the foot. In big boxes, 15c., at Wade's drug store.

TO MARRIED PEOPLE SOME VALUABLE ADVICE IS OFFERED.

By Father Vaughan—What a Husband Should Do and What a Wife Should Do to Create Happiness.

Kingston, July 4.—(To the Editor): June is the month for weddings and Kingston has had a fair share of them. Whether they will result happily is another question. On reading an English paper I was very much impressed with an address given by the celebrated Father Vaughan, on the subject of marriage. Why he should be an authority I can't say, but there is no doubt his advice is sound on this very important question, and I think it may be useful to those who have just launched on this troublesome sea, and perhaps might be read with profit by those who have had some year's experience.

Father Vaughan says that men and women were in nothing alike, and the first business of a bride and bridegroom was to study the other, making allowances for all those differences which must arise from difference of sex, of education, of taste, each trying to be satisfied with the other, and each trying to help and promote the interests of the other. To the husband, "I would say be dear, sweet and thoughtful to the wife. Bear with her. Her attempt to check the flowing tide of her talk. Remember a woman needs many safe valves and outlets for her temperament. Be patient with her. Most women have a passion for jewelry and finery. Give her what you can and let her feel it is from you she got it, and if it has cost you several dollars, so much the better."

"If a man is always away at his club, if you are never thinking of her, if you don't send her sweet letters, others may come to offer her sympathy, and who is to blame? I put all the blame when anything goes wrong in married life on the man. To the wife, there is much to say. She should keep her home in perfect order, and must not neglect to keep a table. There is much of the animal in the man, Christian though he may be. Let her be neat and tidy when alone, and not merely so when entertaining visitors. A man likes to see his wife neatly turned out, and if her husband is to be pleasing in his eyes. A woman when she gets up in the morning should dress herself so that she may receive a caller at any time during the day, and be presentable simply by removing an apron or some other protective garment. And of all things don't contradict his cherished statements. You will soon find what his weaknesses are and don't, as the Americans do, be continually butting in to them. I would say to every wife never brag, scold or cry—these tricks often bring what a woman wants, but as a rule they kill a husband's love. No man wants to be teased; and no man wants to be pestered.

"To both husband and wife, build up a home which would be a sanctuary, a harbor of refuge and a home of cheerfulness. They should be courteous each to the other, and grow chivalrous and should never wrangle or quarrel. The mother of a large family of girls gave this advice to one of her daughters on the eve of her marriage—kiss your husband when he leaves for his work in the morning, and also when he returns at night. If he is one of the right kind he will kiss you and the kiss he gives is an hundredfold more valuable than the one you give him."

I think the above may be read with profit by all those who are contemplating matrimony, as well as by those who have already gone through the Imperial ceremony.—Yours truly—J. B. W.

'T WAS HIS FIRST OFFENCE

And the Magistrate Gave Him a Chance.

"I was never arrested before in my life," said a man in the police court today, when accused of drunkenness. He further stated that if given a chance he would return to work. He was given the chance.

William Kelso, an old timer in police circles, was an "alcoholic," and was fined up after the first appearance man.

"You can't tell the same story about not being here before, can you William?" asked the magistrate.

"No," said William, with a smile. "I did take a little too much, but I've got a job to go to."

William will be able to go to his job if he pays a fine of $5 and costs; otherwise he will go to Corbett's castle for twenty days.
