A MAN IS MISSING SUDDEN DISAPPEARANCE OF KINGSTON MAN.

Thomas Hampton Went to His Work As Usual in Morning, But Did Not Return—Police at Work on the Case.

The mysterious disappearance of Thomas Hampton, of 163 Van Horne street, Toronto, a driver for the William Neilson Ice Cream company, is causing considerable anxiety to his wife, and the police are working on the case. Hampton is a Kingstonian, son of Henry Hampton, 112 Montreal street, and left this city several months ago. His wife's home is in Toronto. Hampton left his home on Saturday morning, in his usual good spirits, and reported at his employer's works at seven o'clock. After loading his wagon with ice cream, he started on his rounds to deliver, and nothing more was heard from him by the company. (About 7.30 at night his team was returned to the Neilson stables by a policeman, who had found the wagon at the corner of Queen street and Gayne avenue, with the horses tied to a telegraph pole. Mr. Boyd, of Dufferin street, was the last customer served, Hampton having called there about five o'clock. The Hamptons have one child, a boy, two years of age. His wife says that she knows no reason why he should want to leave home, and fears that something has happened to him. Mrs. Hampton, the missing man's mother, when seen at her home, on Montreal street, here, this morning, by a Whig representative, said that she could not account for her son's disappearance. She had learned of his sudden disappearance, yesterday, and had written to Toronto, for particulars. "My husband and I intended paying him a visit in a week or so," she said, "and everything has been all right with him so far as I know; and I can give no reason whatever for his sudden disappearance."

BOTH WERE FINED.

Cabmen's Case Was Disposed of To-Day. In the police court, this morning, the long standing case, in which two cabmen were involved, was disposed of by Magistrate Farrell. One cabman charged the other with assault, but an adjournment had to be made for the purpose of securing further evidence. After the evidence was concluded, the magistrate had a charge of assault laid against the complainant, and found them both guilty on a charge of assault, and fined each $2 and costs. One of the witnesses told of two cabmen jostling one another in their endeavor to get a fare, and said that they both acted in a disorderly manner. In disposing of the case, the magistrate threw out the hint, that the cabmen had better get on friendly terms among themselves, or the result might be far more serious than a police court case. It was rather unfortunate, he said, to have the present state of affairs existing.

LEAVES SUNDAY EVENING.

By G.T.R. For Quebec—14th Regiment Arrangements. The 14th P.W.D. Rifles will leave for Quebec next Sunday evening at seven o'clock, via G.T.R. Going by this route will necessitate crossing the river at Levis to Quebec and covering a two and a half mile march to the camping ground. However, this cannot be avoided, and it will be but a good experience for the regiment, which does not mind. The G.T.R. would have taken the regiment direct to the camping ground, but arrangements could not be concluded to go by that line. The picked company of the 47th Regiment will also go by G.T.R. along with the 14th. Lieut.-Col. Young, D.A.A.G., Eastern Ontario, today for Quebec to get things in readiness for the Eastern Ontario command. Col. Gordon, O.C., and Lieut.-Col. Hemming, P.S.O., with their clerical staff, will leave tomorrow for the ancient capital.

Bicycles And Automobile.

A bicyclist wants to know what to do when overtaken by an automobile. The rule is that when a faster vehicle overtakes a slow vehicle, the latter shall keep to the extreme right, and allow the other vehicle to pass it on the left. This would also apply to bicycles. When a bicyclist is uncertain, the best way is to dismount.

Numerous well-known writers are represented in the August issue of Smart Set.

Particularly interesting is Elizabeth Jordan's story, "Her Letters"; Lilian Bell contributes a bright sketch, "Dinner for Six"; Beatrice Demarest Lloyd, in "The Word and the Wise," contributes her strongest short story; Anne Warner handles a tense situation with great art in "The Night of the Eighteenth-Nineteenth"; Mary Penolosa's Japanese play, "The Lady of the Hair Pins," is a vivid drama in one act. The poetry is of the usual excellence.

MARINE NEWS.

The Items Gathered About the Harbour.

The steamer Plummer passed up last night, on the way to Hamilton. At Folger's wharf, Steamer Alexandria and steamship Waterly, down, last night. The steamer Missisquoi was up from river points to-day, and had on board a large number of holiday visitors.

Steamer Glenmount cleared from Three Rivers for Sydney, Cape Eryon, and will load rails there for Fort William.

The steamer Neepawah is to-day engaged in putting in supplies at the lighthouses at Four Mills and Nine Mile Point.

At Crawford's wharf, Steamship Robert McDonald, cleared for Sodus, to load coal; schooner Winnie Wenz, clear for Oswego to load coal. Swift's steamer North King, down and up, to-day; steamer Aletha, from Bay Point; steamer Neepawah, up on Monday, with flour; schooner Keewatin, from Sodus. M. J. company's wharf: The steamer Advance passed up, on her way from Montreal, to Fort William; the tug Thomson arrived from Montreal with two light barges, and cleared for that port, with two grain barges. At Richardson's wharf: The schooner Ford River, loading Alderup, for Charlotte; the steamship John Macdall arrived from Washburn, light, after discharging cargo of coal, and will clear for Oswego to load coal for Booth's.

Gannaque Reporter: The distance from the railway wharf to Jack Straw Light has been a disputed question among boatmen for a long time and to put an end to the controversy the course was measured on Thursday evening. A gasoline launch trailing a ship's log went over the course and the log registered exactly one mile and three-quarters from the south-east corner of the cement dock to the lighthouse. The accuracy of the log had previously been verified over the measured mile from Ormiston's Island to the Spectacles Light. For the purpose of testing the speed of longer distances than one mile, the run from the railway wharf to the Spectacles and return can, therefore, be safely estimated at three and a half miles.

WILL UPHOLD.

In Cornwall Case, Woman's Marriage Was Business. Toronto Star. The divisional court has given judgment in the Cornwall case, which occupied over a week in argument before it.

The result is to confirm the judgment delivered by Justice Anglin at the trial. The will made by Charles Cornwall a year and a half before his death is upheld. The action was brought by Louisa Agnes Cornwall, the second wife, for probate of the will. The defendants were: Ann Archhampagh, a sister, and Frederick W. Cornwall, Eliza C. Grainger, Mary C. Waters, A. C. Cornwall, Charles W. Cornwall, J. I. Cornwall, and H. G. Cornwall, of Alexandria Bay, nephews and nieces of the old man.

Mr. Cornwall was a large property owner of Escott township, Leeds county, and he died at Gouverneur, N.Y.

"Whatever love the testator had for the plaintiff, the marriage on her part was strictly business," said Justice Britton in giving the judgment.

His lordship quotes from a letter written by the plaintiff to a friend: "I hate those devilish Cornwalls as the devil does holy water, and all I can get out of Uncle Charles I will take for our side of the house, for Min. and Lib., wouldn't you? My, they are bogs. If I told all I know the will would not stand law, and the old will would get all to the d—d set, so I must keep still."

'T WAS A GREAT DAY.

Orangemen Pleased With Trip to Picton. The members of the local Orange lodges, who attended the big celebration at Picton, on Monday, are more than pleased with the result of the day's outing.

"It was one of the best celebrations we ever held," said a member, this morning, who has been attending all the Orange celebrations held in this vicinity for the past twenty-five years. "The parade was the finest we ever conducted, and the whole day's proceedings took place without one hitch."

OLD BOYS HOME COMING

ARRANGE FOR A BIG CELEBRATION.

There'll Be Yacht Races, Horse Races, LaFosse Match and Other Amusements—Committees Appointed to Make Arrangements.

A large meeting of the general committee for the old boys home coming celebration was held in the mayor's office on Monday evening. Mayor Ross presiding. Present, Alds. Robertson, Eivens, Carson, Nickle and Hanley, and Con. Millan, A. C. Nickle, W. Nichols, Dr. G. W. Bell, M. Kirpatrick, W. R. Givens, A. F. Ronay, J. M. Ronen, J. S. Turner and Secretary Martin.

The first thing to be considered was the music question, and after a little discussion, on motion of Ald. Carson, the Mayor, Ald. Givens and Con. Millan were appointed a band committee with power to act.

The horse races were also discussed and a committee composed of Dr. Bell, Ald. Carson and Ald. Robertson, were appointed to confer with the Gentlemen's Driving Association, to arrange for a matinee to be held that day. The committee will be allowed $10 for the races. One race, will be a delivery rig race, open to any delivery horse as long as he has been driven on a wagon for a period not less than one month. This race will cause much rivalry between local dealers.

On account of the lack of first-class baseball teams in the city, the committee decided to have a lacrosse match. The final arrangements were left with W. H. Dally, manager of the local club. A few games will be arranged, and should take as well as baseball. The committee appointed to look after the sports in the fair grounds is composed of Ald. Nickle, A. F. Ronay and J. S. Turner. Ald. Givens and the secretary were appointed a committee to arrange for the arrival of excursion boats from different parts of the province. There will also be water sports in the morning, and the arranging of these was left to Capt. Leslie, J. H. Macneil and R. Easton Burns.

BUILDING THE ROADS

IN AN ECONOMICAL WAY AS IS POSSIBLE.

The Appointment of a New Fireman Was Delayed—Applications Can Be Sent in Until Friday. The macadam roads now being built out of the amount voted by the people are being constructed, the city engineer says, as economically as possible. At the outset he gave a schedule of figures showing the likely cost of each block to be constructed. These figures, however, were merely estimates. Some blocks will cost more and others less than the amounts designated. In various cases it cannot be told until the scarifier has gone over the road how much stone will be required. There is $9,500 to be expended, and this should build twenty blocks. All along the line of road construction the roads have first to be well drained and grates have been put in.

Had A Close Shave.

At nine o'clock, this morning, William Dinnie, driver for James Sowards' coal yard, had a narrow escape from drowning. He was loading soft coal off the wharf into his cart, when the horse unexpectedly backed up, pushing him into the water. He went down twice, and was nearly exhausted when he was pulled out by James Sowards, standing nearby when he fell in. The prompt action of Mr. Sowards was all that saved Dinnie from losing his life. The man was very high exhausted when he was pulled on land, and it was some moments before he came around.

14th Parade.

The Quebec contingent of the 14th Regiment had a good turnout on Monday evening. The rain put a stop to the review on the Cricket Field, so the men were drilled in the armories. They marched out King street, and in Wellington to Princess and to the armories. Both lands were in attendance and furnished fine music along the line of march. The regiment is in good shape for the trip. Every man is taking a great interest in it, and they are bound to make a name for themselves while there. The regiment will leave on Sunday night by special G. T. R. train, arriving in Quebec Monday morning.
