LIFE ASSURANCE
LONDON AND LANCASHIRE
LIFE ASSURANCE CO.
 The "Insurance Record," of May 15th Last, Makes Pleading Reference to This Company's Splendid Financial Position.
 From "Insurance Record and Actuarial and Statistical Journal," of London Eng.
 More than usual interest attaches to the statement presented by the directors of the above company to the annual meeting of proprietors, held on Tuesday last, on account of the quinquennial valuation which fell to be made as at December 31st, 1907, and which was reported upon by the directors. Important and drastic changes have been made in the allocation of the funds, and the policy hitherto pursued by the directors of building up the reserves and resources of the company has been given the fullest effect to and the holdings of the course adopted will receive hearty approval and staff upon its ramifications commensurate from those able to judge of the merits of the new departure. The business of the past twelve months proved to be profitable and marked a considerable advance in the progress of the company, the total income now approaching half a million sterling. Another important pronouncement was that with regard to the relinquishment of the large Indian business hitherto transacted by the London and Lancashire, and the concentration of the efforts of the officials and staff upon its ramifications in Great Britain and Canada. This step has been taken after weighty consideration, and its effects on the fortunes of the institution will be watched with interest.
 During the past year 2,375 proposals were made for assurance of £242,821, deducting £102,242 declined and not completed, or in course of completion at the end of the year, there were issued 2,195 policies for £740,579, giving a new premium income of £31,407. The total premiums received amount to £329,399, and, after deduction of re-assurances, the net premiums were £280,060, an increase of £67,768 over the previous year. The total income was £411,214, including £90,748 from interest and dividends, the average rate yielded from invested and uninvested funds being 4 1/2 per cent. The claims by death were well within the expectancy, and with bonus additions amounted to £136,064; those under endowment policies totalled £58,962. After payment of all outgoings, the funds increased to £2,287,885, the addition to life assurance fund being £124,039. The quinquennial valuation report is printed in full in another column, so that extended reference here is not necessary. Suffice it to say that the principle upon which it was conducted has received the hearty approval of the G. Ashland, F.I.A., F.F.A., F.A.S., F.S.S., and, therefore, the executive of the London and Lancashire Life are to be congratulated upon the course taken.
 Individual interests loom largely this year in the affairs of the London and Lancashire Life, as important changes in the personnel of the company have been announced. G. W. Mannering (the respected secretary) seeks that repose which retirement from official duties—so long and so ably ministered—alone can give; happy in unimpaired health and with the respect of many years in which to enjoy his otium cum dignitate. W. R. Hopkins, F.I.A., also felt that after many years of strenuous work in the service of the institution, he was entitled to a respite and, therefore, wished to be relieved of his official ties, and his resignation has been reluctantly accepted by the directors. As recently as 1906, we noted the translation of W. P. Glirough to a seat on the board of direction, in addition to the post of general manager, which he still holds, and now two of the colleagues, whose merits he so highly recognized when addressing the annual meeting last year, are seeking the freedom from the hurly-burly of life which all business men probably look forward to but few ever attain. These gentlemen will carry with them into retirement the hearty wishes of their colleagues, and all with whom they have been brought in contact that "many years of happy days befall" them both. New blood has been infused into the executive by the appointment of W. A. McKay, which was announced a short time ago, as sub-manager, and who will in addition assume the duties of secretary when Mr. Mannering retires. The adoption of new measures in the conduct of the business should have a still further beneficial effect upon the fortunes of the company, and increase its popularity with the insuring public. Thomas Mills, district agent, Kingston.

HARMONY RESTORED.
Dr. Reame Will Recognize Tory Executive.
 Windsor, July 13.—Harmony was restored to the ranks of the North Essex conservatives, when Hon. J. O. Reame met the executive committee of the association Saturday afternoon. In reply to the question as to whether he wished to consider the advice of his executive in administering the patronage, his reply was that he considered the executive committee an advisory board and always would be guided by it, in meeting appointments. Nothing further was done. Arrangements for the convention to be held in August, to nominate a candidate for the dominion elections was made.
 The suggestion of the Ontario railway board as to the outcome of the Ottawa car fatality that the use of front steps of open cars to provide has raised a storm of applause. Even the mayor of Ottawa has written to the board strongly protesting against the making of such an order, and communications of a similar nature have been received from Cornwall, London and other places.
 Judge W. H. Pinken, Chicago, who was one of the promoters of the recent international balloon race, will arrive in the city to-day to consult with the exhibition authorities regarding the possibility of having a balloon race start from here during the exhibition. The exhibition authorities are anxious to have such a race, and it is probable that an arrangement will be arrived at. The exhibition this year will have the most valuable exhibition of live stock ever seen in this city. It will be valued around $1,250,000 and 9,000 animals will be shown.

 frequently causes stomach troubles, but careful eating will never right them. When your stomach is out of condition, it needs help that no food can supply. It must be thoroughly cleansed, settled and strengthened. Food never does this.

A Story In Chapters
 I. Furnace properly and carefully installed.
 II. With great ease water is placed in water-pan, drafts opened and coal fire started. Fire soon burns up brightly, drafts are closed and check-draft opened. Immediately heat-power begins to penetrate dome and radiator surrounding dome. The incoming cold air immediately receives the energy of this heat-power, and by natural law ascends up the hot-air pipes, thence to rooms. No gas escapes into cellar or rooms because there is an automatic gas-damper providing for its escape up the chimney.
 III. In the morning a gentle rocking of the lever removes all ashes from grates. No dust in operator's face, for he first opened damper into dust-pipe leading from ash-pit, then direct draft at smoke-pipe entrance, and all dust passed up dust-pipe to dome, then out chimney.
 IV. No need to shovel any ashes away. All nicely settled in ash-pan ready to be quickly and easily removed from pit. On coming upstairs operator finds that he requires no whisking off, and his wife don't scold him for "making everything white."
 V. Operator is delighted. When asked the name of his furnace, he proudly said,

Costume Of Pale Blue Messaline.
 The drawing shows an attractive gown of messaline, the model being in pale blue. The skirt was cut circular, with a seam down the centre of the front, and was in train length. The lower part of the skirt was finished by a deep applied band, cut in squares at the top edge, in the same manner as the black effect on the bodice. The corsage had a yoke of white chantilly, and was trimmed with heavy lace with satin buttons.

 The great city of London, grown ambitious, contemplates the creation of a new and larger city, wide from Paddington to Finsbury Circus. The improvement, if realized, will cut its way through densely built sections of the old town, and its estimated cost will be up in the scores of millions of dollars.

Walkerville Will Have a Government Building.
 Walkerville, Ont., July 13.—Walkerville's long standing grievance against the dominion government, for failing to provide the town with any kind of a federal building, is to be removed at last. The government has appropriated $8,000 for a post office and customs office. The grant was not made without strong representation on the part of the town. Although in revenue the receipts are in excess of most cities in Canada, the town was without any kind of a government building, even the post office being the gift of private parties.
