

Told in Twilight

Camping is an undoubted joy, but it is a question if, to the average creature of civilization, it appears quite so entire a joy as a warm and dry shelter when the winds and the rain are out for a lark, as they've been the last few hours. The girls who went out to tent it, at the Caruthers' farm, have been having a glorious time all week, but Mrs. Caruthers' summer home took on a few extra attractions when it appeared in the light of an ark of safety from the coming rain and the descending flood.

JUDGE TRIES EXPEDIENT

"MERRY WIDOW" HAT BURNED BY POLICE.

Cannot Be Worn in Paris Theatre Without Incurring Penalty of a Fine.

Paris, July 18.—So far as the Paris theatres are concerned the "Merry Widow" hat of huge dimensions is doomed. From to-day it may no longer be worn in the stalls or dress circle of any Paris theatre, nor any other hat that shuts out a view of the stage from those in the rows behind.

The theatre commission, under the presidency of M. Lepine, prefect of police, met, and in consequence of numerous scenes in various Paris theatres during the past season, owing to women wearing large hats and refusing to remove them, decided that the wearing of hats of excessive dimensions should be prohibited in theatres under penalty of a fine.

The presiding judge in the Humbert-Matin case, which attracted a large number of fashionably dressed women to court, attempted to solve the hat problem the other day by dividing the court into two parts—one side men, on the other women. The masculine portion of the audience made no objection, but the protests from women, because only those in the first row could see anything, were so energetic that the judge had to abandon the innovation.

Two men, who went to one of the boulevard theatres recently and were prevented by the mammoth hats of two women in front from seeing the play, adopted a novel form of protest. They went out, and returned accompanied by a couple of men with the enormous broad-brimmed sombrero hats worn by the market porters. The new comers took the two seats, keeping their hats on. A tremendous uproar ensued, and peace was only restored by the arrival of the police constabulary.

ADVOCATES THIRD PARTY.

Why Hearst Declines to Support Bryanism.

W. R. HEARST.

has been received from William Randolph Hearst, in reply to a message transmitted to Mr. Hearst from Samuel Gompers, stating that in view of the democratic stand for labor, it would be an act of greatest patriotism for the independence party to endorse the democratic platform, and urging him not to run a third ticket, as it would elect Mr. Taft. Mr. Hearst's cablegram follows:

Paris, July 13.—Tell Mr. Gompers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the independence league, but according to my personal standards, a purer patriotism consists in laboring to establish a new party which will be consistently devoted to the interests of the citizenship, and particularly to the advantage and advancement of the producing classes.

I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party, which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intentions, or endorsing chameleon candidates who change with every varying hue of opportunism.

I do not think the best benefit of laboring men lies in supporting that old party because of a sop of labor promise, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since. I have lost faith in the empty professions of an unregenerate democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability, in the sincerity and even in the integrity of its leaders. I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which as a citizen, I distrust and I earnestly hope the independence party will give me an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and honest, and for a declaration of principles that is both sound and sincere. (Signed) "Wm. Randolph Hearst."

Baronet's Gift To France.

Paris, July 18.—M. Yves Guyot, the ex-minister, has informed the under-secretary of state for fine arts that he has received a letter from Sir John Tollenache Sinclair, Bart., announcing his intention of giving to the French nation a picture of Mucilio representing Christ with the crown of thorns.

"The gift," says Sir John Sinclair, "is a mark of my appreciation of the idea of the entente cordiale existing between France and England."

The picture was formerly in the collection of the late Mr. Beverford Hope. In a letter to Sir John Sinclair, the deceased collector's son said that his father bought the picture as a present for Lady Mildred Beverford Hope, and paid $20,000 for it.

M. Yves Guyot has also forwarded to the Louvre Museum these two letters. The picture is now in London.

WISE SELECTION NEEDED

For the Vacancy in the Ontario Cabinet.

Canadian Dairyman, Toronto.

Hon. Nelson Monteith, having decided definitely to resign as minister of agriculture for Ontario, Hon. Mr. Whitney must soon select a new colleague to fill that important position. The selection is one that will have to be made with great care. Hon. Mr. Whitney realizes this. During the recent provincial elections no criticism against the present government was made more frequently than that the agricultural interests had not been given the consideration, during the past four years, that their importance deserved.

Great pressure will be brought to bear on Hon. Mr. Whitney, by the friends of different members of the legislature, to ensure their appointment to fill the vacancy in the cabinet. It is imperative that he shall take such a stand at this time. Services rendered to the party, or the geographical location of localities, are questions that should not be taken into consideration in the selection of a minister of agriculture.

Dairying is the chief agricultural industry of Ontario. It is rapidly growing in importance. The new minister of agriculture should have a thorough knowledge of the dairy industry. In addition, he should be actively engaged in agricultural work, and have an open mind, and the executive ability that will enable him to grasp, and deal effectively with the thousand and one questions pertaining to agriculture that confront the minister of agriculture. He must, also, be a man of progressive ideas, capable of initiating and carrying through the important measures relating to agriculture that must be dealt with by the government during the next few years.

Mr. Dargavel, the member for Leeds county, Mr. Dargavel owns and operates a 250-acre dairy farm, on which he keeps a large herd of pure-bred and grade Ayrshire cows. He is the president of the Ontario Dairyman's Association, and has been a director of that association for many years, during which period he has rendered much valuable service for the cause of agriculture. It is generally known that Mr. Dargavel was largely instrumental in drafting and having passed the sanitary legislation relating to the dairy industry that is proving so beneficial. Mr. Dargavel is better known throughout the province in agricultural circles than any other member of the legislature. His appointment as minister of agriculture would be popular and would add a strong member to Hon. Mr. Whitney's cabinet.

MARTYRDOM FOR GUARDS.

Nasi Released and Sicily is Glad.

Rome, July 18.—Signor Nuzio Nasi, the ex-minister of public instruction, who since his condemnation by the senate for gross misappropriation of public funds, has been confined, on the score of delicate health, to undergo his imprisonment in his own residence in Rome, has been liberated.

This form of imprisonment has proved a veritable martyrdom to the guards of carabinieri selected to watch over the ex-minister, as well as to the distinguished families residing in the same block of flats. Besides the guards on duty in the ante-chamber of Signor Nasi's apartments, there were always another on the entrance hall, another on the staircase, two more in the courtyard below and a doorman on duty on the public path fronting the residence. Surprise inspections frequently took place by day and by night, to ascertain whether the police regulations were strictly observed. Sometimes the solitary guard on the stairs was found to have fallen asleep in discharging his monotonous duty, and was given a day's confinement on bread and water.

The ex-minister will shortly travel to Trapani, where his Sicilian constituents are preparing a grandiose reception. There were enthusiastic public demonstrations in many parts of Sicily in honor of the released prisoner, in whose praise a special hymn has been composed, while an elegy, inscribed "St. Nasi, Martyr," was exposed at street corners and in most of the shops, massed round with flowers and wax candles.

Signor Nasi was sentenced on February 24th of this year to imprisonment for eleven months and four days, with a further four years' interdiction from all public offices.

BACK TO SIMPLE LIFE

HETTY GREEN SAYS HIGH SOCIETY IS NONSENSE.

With Her Daughter and Her Pup She is Having a Much More Comfortable Time Now.

Mrs. Hetty Green.

New York, July 18.—The World says Mrs. Hetty Green was found, yesterday, in a boarding-house at No. 673 Madison avenue, living with her daughter Sylvia, and her pet dog Dewey, in two very ordinary rooms.

Her newly-made friends in fashionable circles thought that she would go to Newport for the summer after her surprising debut in the "Hotel Plaza," and they are greatly amazed to learn that she has returned to a life almost as simple as that in the red brick Hoboken flat, where she lived last spring.

But the woman financier is sorely disgusted with high society as she experienced it at the Hotel Plaza. "It's too expensive," she explained to an acquaintance. "You have to keep dressed up all the time. It's all nonsense. Hoboken should have suited me well enough."

At all events, she seems happy in her new home. There she pays approximately $10 a week for a plainly furnished sitting-room and a bedroom with simple board for herself, Miss Sylvia, and Dewey. Her savings is at least $300 a month.

DISPROVES OWN THEORIES.

Reached Sixtieth Year and Still Keen For Work.

London, July 18.—Dr. William Osler, the Oxonian, who in his address at Johns Hopkins University, 1905, was widely quoted as saying that man's best usefulness was passed at forty, and that most men ought to be chloroformed at sixty, entered upon his sixtieth year yesterday. He called for coffee and rolls, remarked that it was a fine day, and read the politics in the morning paper. Then he dressed himself for church and walked to the house of worship on foot. It now appears that Dr. Osler is about to enter a contest with Winston Churchill and George Wyndham, former chief secretary for Ireland, for the lordship of the University of Edinburgh. The race is scheduled for November next, and it is understood that Dr. Osler is to begin training at once. Since the contestants do not have to carry weight for age, Dr. Osler is believed to have a fine chance to defeat the others. In any event, if he is a loser, he will not permit his defeat to dampen his ardor for other work.

The back of the gown had a panel as in front, except that there was no suggestion of a surplus. The little plastron was of white princess lace, and the vogue was of white washable net, tucked.

Out For His Health.

Crow Lake, July 17.—The farmers are engaged cutting hay and some fall grain; both are a fair crop. Raspberries are very scarce on account of the weather. Our school teacher is greatly missed; the young people are anxious for the holidays to be over. Very few attended the Orange celebration, the least for many years. William Souster, Newdale, Man., who has been renewing acquaintances here, has returned home again. William Belore and Mr. Connor spent a few days at Westport. J. Mulville, Westport, made a flying trip out here last week on business. John Leach is spending his summer vacation on Bob's Lake for his health.

OFF TO SOUTH POLE

Away From Civilization For Three Years.

Paris, July 18.—Dr. Jean Charcot, the well-known explorer, will set sail in a few days in the ship "Pouqou" (Why Not), on a voyage of discovery to the South Pole.

The twentieth century cannot, says the doctor, "allow the great white spot to remain on this map. Scientists await from us, the explorers of the Antarctic, the solution of problems that we alone can solve. It is the discoveries in the Antarctic that one may depend on to solve the great problem of the origin of life."

Dr. Charcot and his thirty men will take with them provisions for three years, and the officers and men will fare exactly alike with regard to food and clothing, and even tobacco.

Husband's Mistake.

Paris, July 18.—After a whole year of married bliss a young man named Hahn, living at Volosca, Dalmatia, discovered the other day that he had not married the girl he intended. When he proposed to her he mistook her for her twin sister, who so resembles her that they can scarcely be distinguished, and he did not realize his error until he began calling her by her Christian name instead of by the terms of endearment he had hitherto used.

Cyclist Ablaze.

Liverpool, July 18.—While a motor cyclist was riding from Alton to Farham he discovered that his clothes had been set on fire by a box of matches in his pocket. Fortunately, he had the presence of mind to roll himself on the ground, over which a water cart had passed a few minutes previously, and in that way prevented himself from being seriously burned.
