TO CHANGE RULES, Now the Law Prevents Players Going Elsewhere.

At the next meeting of the City League Baseball executive there promises to be something doing. At present the rule regarding players says that if a player is signed at the first of the season by one team he must play with that team all season, and with no other. That means that if a player signs with a team and after a few games is released or leaves the team he is out of baseball for the season, as he cannot play with any other. In many cases this season players have left teams and have not played with any other. On Saturday last "Alfie" Pierce played with the Victorias and it is understood the Emeralds have protested the game because he was signed with them at the first of the season. At the next meeting the rule will be under discussion and some of the members will try to have it amended so that a player released from one team can play with another.

AND DELAYS THE PRINCE OF WALES.

It is Not Likely His Royal Highness Will Reach Quebec Until Hours After Time Set For Appearance.

Quebec, July 22.—Fog delayed the arrival of the Prince of Wales, this morning. His royal highness was expected to reach opposite Quebec, on the cruiser Indomitable, by twelve o'clock, but although the pilot's office which had no definite word of the cruiser Minotaur, expected her by one o'clock, the Marconi wireless people were positive, at 11:30 a.m., that they were still one hundred miles down the river and not likely to reach port till three o'clock. This may badly upset the plans of the welcome and be a hardship to the waiting troops.

Died At Sombra.

R. Meek was notified, on Wednesday, of the death, at Sombra, Ont., of his brother-in-law, Robert Stokes, formerly of Wolfe Island. A widow and nine children—eight of them married—survive. Deceased was almost eighty years of age. He lived a retired life. His brother, George, resides beside him.

Has Likely Declined.

Rev. R. G. Peever, B. D., pastor of the Methodist church, Coaticook, Que., has been asked to consider an invitation to the pastorate of the Central Methodist church at Windsor, Ont., for next year. This would seem to indicate that Rev. C. A. Styles, of Kingston, had declined to consider a change.

She Is Around Again.

It was reported around the city, this morning, that Mrs. Francis Duffy had died suddenly as a result of the shock she experienced when she returned to her home on Stuart street, Wednesday afternoon, and found her home in flames. Fortunately there was no truth in the report. Mrs. Duffy did suffer a little from nervousness, but was not seriously ill, and was around all right this morning.

Marine Notes.

It is fully expected that the car ferry Ontario will clear from the government dry dock to-morrow morning. It has been said that this steamer carries excursions of 1,200 people out of Cobourg. Her certificate allows her to carry only 600. The M. T. company tug Thompson will be next to enter the government dry dock. Afterwards the steamer Mopska, of Hamilton, will enter the dock.

Who Has The Boiler?

A lady who resides on Barrie street, is out after the baseball players who played in the Cricket field on Saturday last. Before the game started, some one asked her for the loan of a pail of water for the players. Not having a pail handy the lady gave them a new boiler full of ice water on the promise that it would be returned after the game. Up to the present time the boiler is still missing, and the woman is very much put out. The police are on the lookout for it.

Didn't Know He Was Blind.

A funny incident occurred on Barrie street at noon today. A blind man ran into a government official, and the other, not realizing the other's optic condition, started to whack him with his umbrella for such impudence in colliding with an official of his majesty the king. The blind man also had an umbrella and he wielded it in an endeavor to smite his opponent, but couldn't see the attacking party and his blows hit only the atmosphere. Finally the king's officer tripped and sat down on the sidewalk. The conflict then came to an end, and explanations and apologies were made.

Davis Dry Dock Repairs.

The Davis dry dock will not be ready for re-opening until to-morrow. The work of repair, which at first was expected to occupy six weeks, has just taken half that time, and a good job has been done. The Davis company was assisted in the building of an overdam immediately outside the gate, under which the break occurred, by a government dredge. Outside the dam a couple of lines of piling were driven. Between the dam and the piling a filling of cement was placed, making a good, solid, water-tight wall. The entrance is considered to be in better condition than ever. The repairs cost the company, $1,200, besides three weeks' loss of the dock.

DETECTIVES HERE.

Looking For Boys-Who Broke In to Bonded Car. Two members of the Grand Trunk detective force are in the city looking for the person or persons who entered a bonded car here not long ago. The railway force have been working on the case for some time but have not succeeded in landing the offenders. Suspicion points strongly in one direction, and stronger than ever during the past few days as a few of the members of the gang have figured in police court circles before on similar charges and if they are caught it may go hard with them.

STONE WALL STOPPED IT.

A Motor Cycle That Made Great Speed. New York, July 22.—A Tribune special from Great Barrington, Mass., says: John Gilpin's ride, in fiction, was duplicated, to-day, and that with all the modern improvements, when John McCarthy, a telephone collector, got started on a motor cycle, that he could not stop and covered fifty miles before he finally ran the machine into a stone wall. McCarthy was learning to ride the machine. He turned it on at full speed and got a friend to start him off, and the machine started at a clip of forty miles an hour, with McCarthy yelling "stop it, stop it," at every turn of the wheel. At At Housatonia, McCarthy turned into way.

A POLICEMAN DEAD.

He Was Shot By Unknown Thug at Early Hour. Niagara Falls, Ont., July 22.—The Niagara Falls, N. Y., policeman, Michael McCormick, who was shot by an unknown thug, early this morning, died at 3.15 a.m., at St. Mary's Hospital, where he was taken shortly after he was shot. Manger, his comrade, who escaped with a flesh wound in the leg, is doing nicely. Although the entire force and many citizens scoured the entire district where his assailant is supposed to have fled after he did the shooting, he has not been apprehended. He ran down Main street in a southerly direction, passing into the state reservation from between the International and Cataract Hotels, and evidently made good his escape through the maze of bushes and shrubs, dodging from one to another in the dark. It seems the thug had held up an Italian on the streets shortly before the shooting and it was for this the patrolmen accosted the man. McCormick leaves a wife and one young son.

A regular horse pistol was picked up on the street near the scene, last night, with three chambers empty, being long, no doubt, to the unknown thug, who evidently threw it away. Only one man did the shooting. When Manger grabbed the man by the right arm, the thug drew his revolver out of his pocket with his left hand and shot Manger in the leg. When McCormick, rushed to Manger's assistance the man held his gun right in to McCormick's abdomen. He fired a second shot at McCormick, which hit him in the arm as he fell to the pavement. The three shots fired all took effect, two in McCormick's body, the one in the abdomen proving the fatal shot, the other in Manger's right leg.

JEALOUSY CAUSED TRAGEDY.

Shoemaker Fatally Wounded Wife Committed Suicide. Philadelphia, July 22.—John Braunschweig, sixty-three years old, a shoemaker, armed with a colt's hammer and a razor, attacked his wife, Barbara, aged fifty-seven years, asleep in their home here last night, and, thinking her dead, went to the backyard, where he committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. His wife was taken to a hospital, and cannot recover. Jealousy is said to have been the cause of the tragedy.
