ONE OF CANADA'S NAVY. STEAMER NORTHCOTE ROTTING ON RIVER BANK. Did Service During Rebellion of 1885. Middleton's Flagship—Battle of Batoche—Reminiscence of the Half-Breed Rebellion—Story Told by One of the Men on Board—Just Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Stranded on the bank of the South Saskatchewan river, near Prince Albert, are the crumbling bullet-riddled remains of the steamer Northcote, of Gen. Middleton's "navy." Just about twenty-three years ago the Northcote was playing an important part in the suppression of the rising of Indians and half-breeds in the Northwest.

A GOOD CAMPAIGN STORY. Tells How Jim Robinson Bluffed His Opponent. It is related that when "Jim" Robinson was running for the Commons in Northumberland, N.B., he had with him as he drove around to his meetings, a former colleague in the Legislature, Hon. Lemuel J. Tweedie, the present Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick. The Manitoba school trouble and the Remedial Bill were questions of the time.

What was he like? Tweedie enquired. "A tall, thin chap, in a frock coat, and a skimpy brown moustache." "Yes, that's teacher Spooner; know him well. Don't bother, we'll soon settle him. I'll tell you how." They arrived in Blankville to find the hall crowded, and Spooner on hand according to the dream. Robinson had barely introduced his subject when Spooner arose, with a sheet of foolscap in hand, and proceeded to ask the first of a long series of questions he had prepared.

THE QUEBEC BRIDGE. An Exhaustive Report on the Great Disaster. Probably no great engineering disaster has been made the subject of such an exhaustive inquiry as the fall of the Quebec Bridge. Five months the royal commission of inquiry was continuously engaged in its investigations, and the report which has recently been made public is one of the most voluminous and valuable documents of the kind ever presented.

The commission finds that the collapse of the bridge was due to the failure of the lower chords in the anchor arm, near the main pier, and that the failure of these chords was due to their defective design. The stresses that caused failure did not result from abnormal weather conditions or accident, but were such as might be expected in the regular course of erection. The work done by the bridge company in making the detail drawings, in planning and carrying out the erection, and in fabricating the material was good, and the steel used was of good quality.
