May Depart Both.

Col. Hunter, or Constable Baker, of Portsmouth, have not yet found out anything about Mrs. Savers, who disappeared on Wednesday evening from the village. The villagers are glad she has gone and do not want her to come back soon. The people do not believe that she has drowned herself, but are of the opinion that she has cleared away. Her husband is still around. He says he is quite willing to have the authorities deport him, as he is anxious to get back to his own country again, where he can get some work at his trade. If the woman could be located she will be held in jail until the officers can arrive to take her to the steamship.

WHEN HOUSE WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Portion of Kitchen at Home of William Davy, Barrie Street, Was Wrecked—Several People Stunned.

William Davy had a miraculous escape from death, when lightning struck his home, at 435 Barrie street, at 11:40 o'clock on Friday morning. Lightning struck the kitchen of the house, and knocked in all one side of it, smashed a pane of glass in a window at the opposite side of the house, and gave all the inmates of the house, and those residing nearby a bad scare. Mr. Davy was walking out of the dining-room into the kitchen, when the bolt struck the house, and he was so stunned that he did not know what had happened for a moment. The boards fell in around him and he was surrounded with debris. Boards flew in all directions, and the fact that he escaped injury is a miracle. Mrs. Davy was in the dining-room, and she also suffered a severe shock.

One side of the kitchen is almost a complete wreck. The ball of fire lit up the whole house. Luckily, there was no fire.

Miss Morris, living in a house near Mr. Davy, was out in her back yard at the time, and received quite a severe shock.

The two-year-old son of Constable John Navion, living close by, went into convulsions as a result of the shock, and Dr. Robert Hanley was called. The lad made a speedy recovery.

(Citizens who heard a loud clap of thunder just about 11:40 o'clock, were of the opinion that first that there had been an explosion. The sun was shining brightly at the time, with no warning whatever that there would be lightning.)

TO HAVE "TAG DAY"

The Woman's Aid Society Will Do Collecting.

The Woman's Aid Society of the General Hospital, will hold what is known as a "tag day" in Kingston and the near vicinity, about the first week in October. They propose to divide the entire city into sections, with a member of the society and some ladies as assistants. Each section will have boxes to receive contributions. Any person dropping into the boxes will receive a neat tag with the letters K.G.H. printed on them, and the wearer of this tag will be sure that another contribution will not be solicited during the day.

The "tag day" has been tried in many other cities in aid of hospitals, and has proved a great success. It should have a great deal of work to do before all the arrangements are completed, but they are sure of making their undertaking entirely successful.

RAISED FROM HER BED

ASCribES IT TO THE POWER OF GOD.

The Promise Made to Her Creator and Strength and Vigor Imparted Soon After—Preached on Thursday Night.

The following remarkable episode has been furnished the Wig by the family concerned: On Tuesday evening, August 4th, there was an exciting time on Charles street, when Miss May Ghent, a young girl, sick for five months and suffering severe pain, arose from her bed by the power of God.

Every effort had been put forth to save her life, and as many as six doctors had been at her bedside attending her. All failed to do her any good.

People who stood over Miss Ghent's bed could say nothing of her patience; it was really wonderful how she bore the suffering. She had the smile of God continually upon her face, and God's presence was felt by all who entered the room.

Miss Ghent is a girl fashioned and patterned after God. She promised God, on Tuesday evening, if He would raise her up, she would spend every hour and moment in saving souls for Him.

She had been in Kingston hospital nearly three weeks, but was removed from there a few weeks ago. It had been some time since she had been able to turn herself in bed, the doctors saying she had pneumonia, an-typhoid, and drying up of the lungs, while praying for her healing, she heard a voice from Heaven saying: "Arise, and come forth into my vineyard."

She arose and shouted the praises of God, and of His power to heal. A great crowd gathered round the house, some filled, and a crowd on the street. Some were excited.

She went to meeting in the Holiness Movement church on Thursday night, and preached of God's power to heal. She says she has not a pain or ache.

Sticks To Its Work.

Montreal Gazette. The British parliament before it took its summer recess passed two important bills, that providing for old-age pensions and that relating to the Irish universities, and each important in its way. It also began consideration of and advanced a licensing bill, a bill respecting the education of the common people, a bill to make eight hours a legal day's work in coal mines, and a number of others of minor importance. The blow the majority in the House of Commons are receiving from the electorate are not taking away its capacity for the kind of work it is addicted to.

High Wages On Farms.

Winnipeg Free Press. The anticipated scarcity of farm laborers with the harvest almost ready has resulted in high wages being offered to experienced men.
