

TOSSED BY WAVES

TWO NIGHTS AT SEA IN FRAIL OPEN BOAT.

Young Sailor Lad Has Perilous Adventure in the Bristol Channel.

London, Aug. 15.—The steamship Ludovico, which arrived at Barry, today, brought to port William Rowles, a Devonshire lad, who, was rescued after he had spent two days and two nights in an open boat in the Bristol Channel.

Rowles hails from Barnstaple, and has always longed to go to sea. Two months ago he walked from there to Plymouth, and secured a berth on the schooner Ella Owens, of Cardigan. A few days ago the Ella Owens put in at Swansea, and on Thursday last young Rowles went ashore, taking the ship's boat to row across the dock.

When he returned a couple of hours later he could not find the schooner, and, thinking that she might have moved out into the bay, he rowed to the end of the pier to look for her. The boat was struck by a large wave, which carried it out into the channel, and at the same time washed away one of Rowles's oars.

"I never hoped to weather it," said Rowles to a reporter. "I had only one oar to pull with and I could not make any progress against the current. The rain came pouring down, there was a strong westerly gale blowing, and the sea was running very high. The small boat rode the waves splendidly but I was tossed about like a cork, and I was often in danger of being pitched clean out of the boat. I spent the night in the bottom of the boat clinging to the seat, hailing out the water and keeping a sharp lookout. When daylight came I was on the open sea, but no vessels were near me, and throughout the day I was tossed about on the waves. On Friday night a sailing ship appeared within a mile of me. I shouted, and as the ship came nearer I thought they would pick me up, but no one appeared on the deck, and the vessel passed without taking any notice. I had been suffering from sea sickness and was getting very weak, and my thirst was painful, owing to the sea water, which had gone down my throat. The second night was coming on and I was in despair. The waves broke in and almost washed me out of the boat, and it was only on the crest of a wave that I could see around me, and I noticed that the ships passed ten miles away."

"Then I tried to sleep under the seat, but the waves killed the boat so often that I could not rest. I was bruised and tired and hungry and I gave up all hope. When night came on for the second time I did not seem to care whether I was drowned or not, but when the light came my hopes began to rise again. I cannot tell you what joy I saw the Ludovico making toward me and felt strong arms drawing me over the bulwarks to the deck. They gave me brandy and food and I am a little stronger now, but I have had a terrible first experience at sea."

WHERE RESPONSIBILITY LIES

At Least It Should Or Else It Suggests Weakness.

Toronto Globe.—The duty of putting the liquor license law into effective operation rests on the local authorities, and mainly on the license inspectors of the various districts. If these government officers have been doing their duty in Kingston and Hamilton there would have been no need to send provincial "whiskey detectives" from Toronto to ascertain who were violating the license law. So far from being a commendable proceeding on the part of the government, this kind of enforcement is equivalent to a confession that the ordinary local machinery can no longer be trusted to accomplish the very purpose for which it was brought into existence.

Had Bad Ear Trouble.

The skin became hard and dry, caused frightful itching and nothing helped till Dr. Hamilton's Ointment was used; it cured. Nothing known that is so healing, so antiseptic, so sure to alleviate all skin irritation. Try Dr. Hamilton's Ointment yourself.

Selby Sayings.

Selby, Aug. 14.—A number from here attended the picnic in Vanhooknet woods, on Thursday, and all reported a good time. C. Dean has sold his residence, here, to H. Martin. G. V. V. and wife spent Sunday at D. V. V. Friskin's. Rev. Mr. Dowdell made a few friendly calls here last week. Mrs. Thompson and we are sorry to say, is quite poorly. F. L. Amey and wife and Mrs. J. Goult attended the wedding reception at S. File's on Thursday evening. Visitors: Miss Anderson, at C. Anderson's; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, at C. Arnold's; R. Lucas and wife, at G. V. V. V. Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be lost forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. GRAIN CROP INJURED

So Says a Correspondent at Sharpton.

Sharpton, Aug. 13.—Abundant rains have brought good pastures, stocks are thriving. The flow of milk is above the average. But nearly half of the grain crop will be injured by rust, therefore we may expect a deal of lightweight grain, especially oats. The straw is generally heavy. There will be plenty of hay and straw for fodder. While with farmers' money is not as plentiful as in late years prospects are good. Already threshing machines are on the move. Mr. and Mrs. Wood, of Brockville, are to visit their daughter, Mrs. P. W. Bell. Statute labor is being done on the several beats. S. Somerville received a letter from his brother, Adam and Albert, who are mining in the Klondyke. Mr. Hartman, Odessa, peddles meat through here, once a week. Considering the amount of cattle that left the country last fall it is surprising how low the price of beef is. Miss Barclay having resigned, Miss Wood, of Sydenham, will begin as teacher next Monday. Miss Barclay is to conduct Elginburg school. W. Somerville, Camden East, is spending the summer with his niece, Mrs. G. McGowan. R. Patterson visited his mother at Wilton, who is

SERVED AS A POSTMAN

A STORY ABOUT JACK LONDON, THE AUTHOR.

His Alaskan Stories Made Him Famous and He Gave Up His Position at the Post Office.

When all the belated dispatches heralding the progress of Jack London, novelist, about the uncharted seas in his yacht Shark have been collected, there will be ample material for another autobiography on a magazine contract from the pen of the author of "The Call of the Wild." Yet there are a few items concerning London's youth, which the author and his friends have overlooked in the past. For instance, it has never been told that when London had his first piece of fiction accepted he was a postman. Just about the time that his cheque arrived from a well-known short story magazine of the news stand type, published in Boston, London's name was posted in the post office at Oakland, Cal., in the list of those who had passed the civil service examination for the position of carrier. His rank was higher than that of any other of the ten or a dozen who was generally considered either a "genius" or a "bug."

MARCONI AT THE KEY. Making Thunder and Lightning in His Paris-Workshop.

SIGNOR MARCONI.

The asphalted floor is covered with a carpet of rubber. The walls and ceilings are of hard wood. Strange instruments lie in each corner of the room. On a platform raised a yard above the floor, says a writer in La Revue, is a table with a transmitting key upon it and a large wooden lever also used in transmitting. Marconi is on the platform, his hand grasping the lever.

"Now," says he, "be careful. When I signal to the electrician 50,000 volts will enter the room. Stand behind me and touch nothing. Do not approach those coils, because the current will not wait for you to touch them; it will leap out upon you."

The signal given, a lever is pulled and a dull noise is heard. The needle of the voltmeter begins to move on the dial and to attain all sorts of high figures.

"Now," says Marconi, "I will communicate with the nearest station," and he presses the key of the transmitter.

There is a blinding blue flash and at each pressure on the key sparks nearly two feet in length start from between the two silver balls of the induction reel. One of these balls is in communication with the earth and the other with a metal rod which represents an impulse which is communicated from the battery to the rod and from this rod the electrician says in motion the vibrations of the ether called Hertzian waves.

These waves expand in space in every direction at a speed of 300,000 kilometers a second; that is to say, seven times the circumference of the earth. They are independent of wind and temperature and glide above the surface of the earth and sea, striking on their way the wireless stations that lie far beyond the horizon.

At each blinding flash that accompanies the movement of the key a noise like the report of a rifle is heard. It is an awe inspiring spectacle, the inventor calmly standing there pressing the key amid the lightning and the thunder. The operator is obliged to stuff his ears with wool. It appears, however, that recently Marconi has found means of doing away with the noise almost completely.

Had A Fine Trip.

The New York Dramatic Mirror of August 14th, has the following: B. J. Branigan, local manager of the Grand Opera House, Kingston, Ont., one of A. J. Small's theatres, was in New York last week on his way back home. Accompanied by Mrs. Branigan, he has been spending a short vacation at Atlantic City. Branigan reports excellent business prospects for next season at Kingston. The house he manages is the only theatre in the city, and it plays the best attractions visiting Canada. Mr. Branigan is also manager of Lake Ontario Park, Kingston, owned by the great railway. Branigan and his wife are vaudeville and moving picture artists. While away, Mr. and Mrs. Branigan also paid a visit to Philadelphia, and their trip was a most enjoyable one.

Harrises On Run.

The harriers held their first run of the season, Thursday, and covered about two and a half miles. Regular runs will be made every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, leaving the building at 8:45. By leaving then it will not follow too closely on the evening meal, and will be a greater benefit to all taking part. Members should make an effort to get out to these runs. The association will be represented in the Marathon on Labor day. Tonight, at the athletic grounds, the events will be 100 yards, handicap. There will be three heats and first and second in each heat will qualify for the final. Every member should make it a point to be on hand early.

Fishing At Algonquin Park.

The passenger department of the Grand Trunk railway system have just received the following letter from a prominent medical practitioner in Western Ontario: "I have just returned from ten days' fishing at Algonquin Park. While there our party of five put up at the 'Highland Inn,' and we were all so well pleased at the accommodation that I think it my duty to drop you a line and acquaint you with the unanimous opinion of our party. I have travelled almost over the world, and I do not think with any exception that I ever received better or more courteous attention than at this delightful spot."

Staying Up Late.

Alden Arthur Knipe in August St. Nicholas. One evening when my bedtime came I didn't want to go. So I took a little nap. For just this once, you know. And so I stayed and stayed and stayed. Through all the night, I think. And never went to bed at all. Nor slept a little wink. But when at last the sun arose, A-shining warm and red, I found I had my night on. And was sitting up in bed. The Cape Vincent lice ball is to be enlarged, ground, having been purchased for that purpose. About as much damage is done by reckless tongues as reckless hands.

If there ever was a specific for any one complaint, then Carter's Little Liver Pills are a specific for sick headache, and every woman should know this. Only one pill a dose. Try them.

At Prescott on Tuesday afternoon, Miss Fannie, daughter of Benjamin Brightman, Brookville, was married to John Pyke, Wolfe Island, successful applicants. London carried the mail pouch for a short time only, and then he suddenly began to find himself famous because of the vogue of his first Alaskan stories, and he gave up his job with the post office. When London came back from his cruises on a sailing schooner to enter the Oakland high school, he was a shock-haired, unkempt youth about twenty-one, who always wore a blue sweater and who rode to school on a dilapidated bicycle. Because of his age he appeared to the other students there as a man full grown, who was hardly to be met on the footing of comradeship. It was not until he began to write little monologues in tramp dialect for the school paper that London attracted attention. Some of the things he wrote for that school paper he could sell under his name to-day, for they were far and away above the calibre of the school paper story. The awe in which the students held the husky young man increased one day when after he had been attending school for about a year he was arrested for addressing an outdoor socialist meeting in Oakland's city hall park without police permission. That capped the student wonder, and he

MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN IN ENGLAND.

When the portrait of Miss Close was published over the world as the winner of the London Daily Mirror beauty competition there was a general consensus of opinion that the verdict of the judges was justified. As, however, only the full-face portrait of Miss Close was published, cautious people doubted whether her profile was equally beautiful. This photograph, specially taken to show Miss Close's profile for the first time, conclusively proves that it is as beautiful as her full-face.

A CASE OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION

Relieved In a Remarkable Manner By Pe-ru-na.

Pe-ru-na is a Systemic Catarrh Remedy.

Especially Adapted to Cases of Nervous Prostration Caused By Overwork, Mental Strain or Extreme Summer Heat.

In latitudes where warm weather is of long continuance, the inhabitants become more or less accustomed to it. In Temperate Zones, however, where the change from winter to summer is great, the system is sometimes poorly prepared to meet the exigencies of hot weather. This is the cause of much sickness.

Stomach catarrh, indigestion and dyspepsia are not among the least of summer ailments.

When the digestion is disturbed, the assimilation is also affected, and as a result the body does not receive the nourishment it should. Lassitude, weakness, brain fog, loss of flesh and nervous prostration are the natural results.

What is needed is a remedy that will restore the digestive organs to their normal condition.

Such a remedy has been found in Pe-ru-na. It has proven itself of great value in thousands of cases of this kind.

Its action has been remarkable at times in restoring some patients who had given up all hope of recovery.

But there is nothing strange about Pe-ru-na's action. It simply tones up the mucous membranes of the organs involved, restoring them to their normal condition and leaving Nature to perform her duties unhindered.

That person who has sound, healthy mucous membranes lining the entire digestive tract is well-guarded against the usual summer ailments.

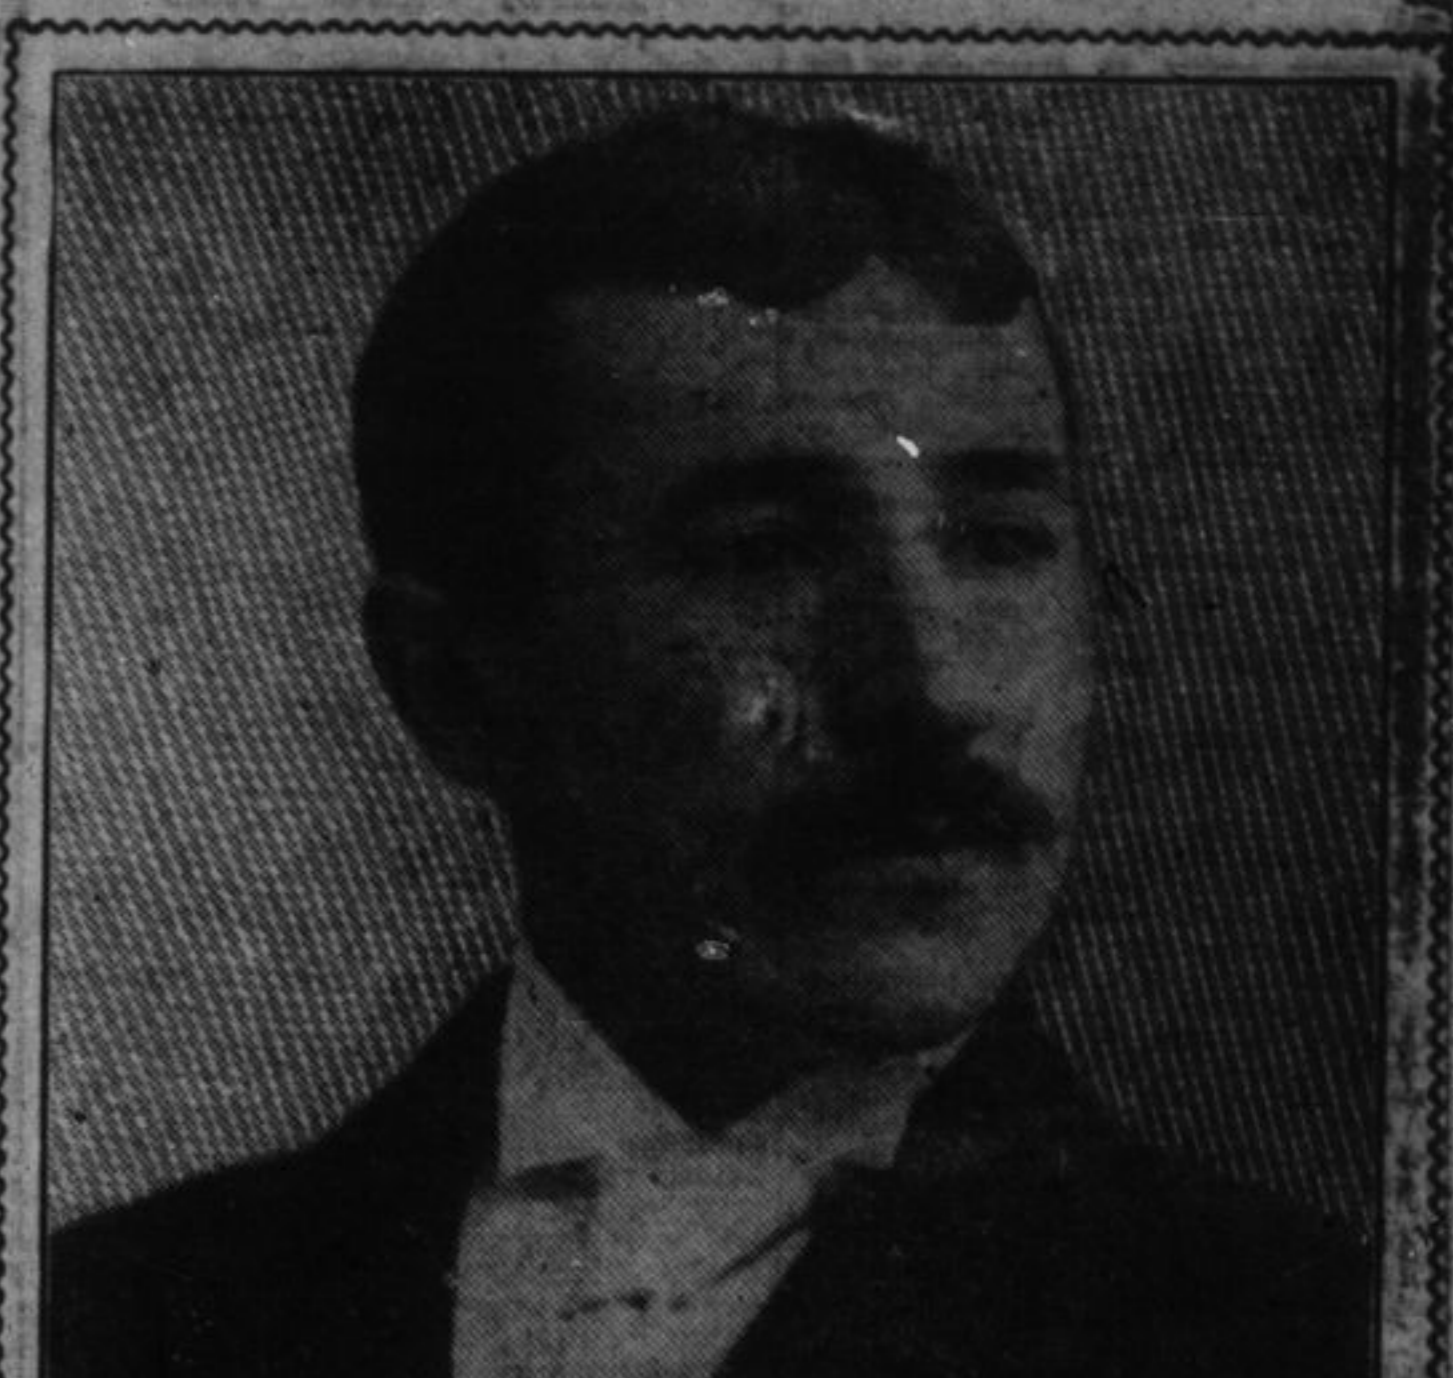

Pe-ru-na is the means whereby to attain this most desirable condition.

If you suffer from any of the above mentioned symptoms, try a bottle of Pe-ru-na.

One bottle of this remedy is often sufficient to convince any one of its merit as a safe and reliable remedy for all catarrhal conditions.

We have many letters of gratitude received from persons who have experienced its benefits.

These testimonials are proof to us that Pe-ru-na has not failed in the mission for which it was intended, that of relieving suffering and restoring health.

MR. P. BRIEN, 28 Third Street, Limouliou, Quebec.

"The fatigues entailed by my duties as accountant began to weaken my system about a year ago. I felt that I would not long be able to withstand the severe strain upon my nerves, as, a thing unknown to me before, I would long for office hours to be over in order to rest."

"I gradually grew weaker and a few months later my sight was impaired. It then broke down completely and was obliged to take to my bed. I was also suffering from palpitation of the heart."

"After a few weeks' treatment by a local physician, I was in the same critical condition and as the doctor held out no great prospects for me, I decided to experiment on myself."

"I took several remedies advertised as tonics, but did not derive any benefit. Pe-ru-na was then given a trial, and before I had taken it a week I felt my condition improving. After a few weeks more had elapsed, during which time I followed the directions carefully, my shattered nervous system became firmer, my sight stronger and I hoped to be out soon again."

"My expectations were realized; for in three weeks I assumed my duties as accountant at the office."

"Pe-ru-na certainly worked wonders on my system, and for persons run-down from overwork, I believe it is the most efficacious tonic."

Kidneys and Liver. Distress After Eating.

Mr. George E. Hess, 1611 Broadway, Supervisor of the 2nd District Water-works, N. Y., writes:

"It is not just to you to acknowledge with thanks the great help I have received from the use of Pe-ru-na. Two years ago I was a sick man. My kidneys and liver were out of order, and the pain in my back and head was at times so severe that I was obliged to give up my work."

"At this time a club friend of mine spoke to me of Pe-ru-na, and induced me to try it. The effect it had on me from the first was most remarkable. I knew at once that I had secured the right medicine, and was entirely cured in ten weeks."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Columbia City, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Pe-ru-na."

"I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas, causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal."

"But, thanks to your Pe-ru-na, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals, and it is all due to Dr. Harrison and his wonderful medicine."
