GARDEN PARTY HELD AT HOTEL DIEU HOSPITAL

Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary, on Tuesday — An Ideal Night And a Record Crowd.

An ideal night, arrangements complete in every respect, and a record crowd, went to make the fourth annual garden party held yesterday at the grounds surrounding the Hotel Dieu, and under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital, a pronounced success. Each year the efforts of this energetic auxiliary have been crowned with great success, but yesterday's affair will go down into history as the best one ever held, and the members are to be congratulated. The spacious grounds presented a very busy scene all yesterday afternoon and evening, the attendance being very large. Sales were brisk and it is expected that a good sum will be realized. The money all goes to a very worthy cause, and the ladies desire to thank everyone who in any way helped along the good work. To general secretary, Miss Anna C. Ronan, goes a good share of the praise, for having all the arrangements so complete. It was a big undertaking, and under her guidance, everything went along smoothly. She was surrounded by a band of hard workers, and to this little band is also due much credit.

There were different booths, well stocked with something to attract the attention of everyone, and open up purse strings. All the booths were very prettily decorated, some of them having new and novel methods in the way of displaying the goods. Prominent in the centre of the grounds floated the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, and a large streamer across the hospital balcony were the words, "Welcome to all!" And it was indeed a warm welcome that each visitor received. The ladies made everyone feel right at home, and warm hospitality was shown.

There was a fine display of flowers on the balcony, which added much to the beauty of the scene. In addition to the large lights around the grounds there were numerous smaller ones, used in and around the booths.

The members of the 14th regiment band occupied seats on the balcony, and during the evening, discoursed an excellent programme. The entertainment given in one of the rooms in the hospital, was a special feature.

Mrs. Welch, the treasurer, and Miss Ronan, secretary, had a table at the gate entrance, and these ladies looked after the business in a business-like way.

The "lottery table" or "great expectations" as it was known by, was a very attractive booth. There was a fish pond and fortune teller, and both did a rushing business. Great sets were given out, for an exceedingly small fee, and also much information that was to prove of much value to those concerned. Fortune-telling is something that always "takes" well. The lottery table was cared for by Mrs. Deschamps, the Misses L. and S. Swan, Mrs. Duffy, Misses Folger, Beaupre, Crow, O'Gorman, and Jacquith.

The candy booth was well looked after by Mrs. Leahy, Misses Irene and Reta Swift, Miss Anna Rigney and Miss Fannie Sullivan. The ladies had everything nicely arranged, in fact so good that they could not resist the temptation to buy.

Adjoining the candy booth, there was the home made table, with something to attract the eye. The ladies in charge were Mrs. Mrs. Dolan, Miss Lyons and Miss M. Dolan.

In a prominent place and as the old saying goes "as cute as a dollar," stood the flower table, and it was a regular bower of beauty. The flowers were well displayed, and the ladies in charge, Miss Irene Daly and Miss Gallagher, were rewarded for their pains by good sales.

Swift's Steamer Aspasia, down and up, to-day; steamer Althea, from bay points; steamer Dundurn, down from Hamilton to Montreal.

The steamer Egdal made a trip to Nine Mile Point, yesterday, with some of the officials of the marine department.

The steamer Wassaga is expected to reach Richardsons' to-morrow, from Fort William, with grain. She has a cargo of 55,000 bushels.

Swift's Steamer Aspasia, down and up, to-day; steamer Althea, from bay points; steamer Dundurn, down from Hamilton to Montreal.

The wind of last night made it very rough on the lake. The schooner Maywell, on her way to Oswego, was held at Four Mile Point, and the schooner Mary Ann Lydon had to anchor.

M. T. Co.'s wharf: The steamer Mary arrived from Montreal, with two barges: the tug Glyde - Steam - Montreal, with two barges; steamer Rosemount, with 65,000 bushels of wheat and flaxseed, and barge Unarga, with 70,000 bushels of wheat, will arrive from Fort William to-morrow.

The tea tables presented a very busy scene from six o'clock until 8 o'clock, when tea was served. The tables were arranged on a long platform erected for the occasion, and the menu was of the best. Everyone had warm words of praise for the way in which every detail was carried out. Mrs. P. Devlin had full charge, and will look after her duties. She was a very able assistance. Those gathered around Mrs. Devlin in this work were: Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison, Miss Irene Swift, Miss Hanley, Mrs. Daly, Miss Metcalfe, Miss Shaw, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. Lovitt, Miss Corrigan, Mrs. Pearson and daughters, Mrs. Petro and the Misses Phillips.

A garden party would indeed be incomplete without a peanut and popcorn booth. Those in charge of this popular booth were Mrs. Hickey, the Misses Hickey and the Misses Nicholson.

The Red Rose Tea company had a nicely arranged booth, with their local travelling salesman, Mr. Taylor, in charge.

The tea room was a cozy place, and attracted a great many. Those serving tea were Mrs. Drayton, Mrs. and Miss McDonald, the latter from New York.

The "duck pond" and the "human lobster" were amusing features, and those who did not pay to see this part of the show missed a rare treat. Those in charge were Misses K. Cain, S. Cain, B. Simpson, M. Brown, J. Cain and Joseph Swift.

One of the hospital rooms was used as an ice cream parlor, and the ladies in charge were kept very busy. The ladies serving were Mrs. Moran, Mrs. McCormick, Mrs. Doran, Misses Dickinson, E. Daly, M. Moran, O'Brien, Irene McCormick, Troy, Kehoe, and Pendleton.

There was a beautiful display of fancy work, Mrs. Manly and the Misses K. and A. O'Connor being in charge. The booth was very attractive.

The red cross booth was fitted out with friends on Wednesday.
