MRS. E. H. ASSELSTINE RECEIVED A BAD FALL

While Walking in Portsmouth—She Tripped and Fell on the Sidewalk—A Big Cut on the Head Resulted.

About ten o'clock on Tuesday morning Mrs. E. H. Asselstine, Portsmouth, was the victim of a very painful accident and as a result is now lying at the general hospital in a serious condition.

Mrs. Asselstine was walking down the street in the village when she missed her footing and fell head on to the ground, striking her head on the edge of the board walk. She was rendered unconscious by the force of the blow.

Persons who witnessed the accident at once hurried to the scene and raised the unfortunate woman from the walk. The blood was running freely from a deep wound in her scalp and it was thought better to remove her to the hospital. James Reid's ambulance was summoned and the patient was brought to the city.

Upon examination it was found that a terrible scalp wound had been inflicted, fifteen stitches being required to draw the flesh together. Other bruises were found on her arms, and shoulders but none were very serious except the one on the head. At two o'clock Mrs. Asselstine was resting easily. This is the second bad fall which has caused serious results that Mrs. Asselstine has suffered in a very short time. Only a few months ago she fell down the cellar stairs in her home and fractured four of her ribs and received other injuries that took some time to heal. Her many friends in the village are in the city, very sorry to hear of her injury and hope to see her around again soon.

MUST OBEY THE COURT.

Summonses Issued Must Not Be Ignored.

Summonses issued for attendance at police court, must not be ignored, and they are, trouble is sure to follow. A well known citizen who was wanted to give evidence at the police court this morning, found this out to his sorrow, when he was placed under arrest and locked up in a cell. Disobeying court summonses is a very serious matter. The case had to be postponed just because this witness was not on hand to give evidence. After the court adjourned, Magistrate Farrell issued a warrant, and Constables Bateson and Timmerman were not very long in rounding up the offender.

In the police court yesterday, there was a similar case. A citizen was summoned, charged with a violation of a city by-law. He failed to answer to his name, and he was arrested. His excuse was that he understood that Wednesday was the day set for the trial. To-day's offender made the excuse that his wife was ill, and that he could not attend. However, he gave the court no intimation of this. The best way in all cases is to obey the court, and then there will be no trouble. Some people have a great dislike for police court proceedings, and do not like the idea of going into the court, but the law must be obeyed.

RE-OPENING OF SCHOOLS.

Scholars Back at Their Studies Again.

The Collegiate Institute and public schools re-opened this morning, and the scholars are back at their studies for another term. The schools are reported to be very large at all the schools. School children found it rather hard to turn out for school this morning, after a two months' vacation. Books placed away on the shelf had to be pulled out and looked up. There was a great stir in some of the homes early this morning, when preparations were made for school.

Two members of the teaching staff, Miss McLeod of Central school, and Miss Chown, of the Collegiate staff, did not report for their classes. Miss Chown is away in the North-West, and report says that she will not return to the city for two months. The board of education will have to furnish a teacher to fill her place.
