SECRET DRUG

Used by Physician to End His Life.

BAULKED AT FIRST

RESORTED TO POISON IN A MILLS HOTEL.

Dr. C. H. Brooks Was a Noted Cancer Specialist—Life Was Unendurable and He Tried to Suicide—The Kind of Poison Used Was Not Known.

New York, Sept. 9.—A man who had represented himself to be Dr. C. H. Brooks, a once noted cancer specialist, in a Mills hotel, committed suicide, in a Mills hotel by taking some subtle drug, the nature of which could not be determined.

Dr. Brooks was the same man who, last Saturday night, tried to end his life in the rectory of the Church of the Holy Innocents. Two priests at the rectory saw the man trying to cut his throat with a razor and held him until he was disarmed by an officer.

After being prevented from taking his life on Saturday, the man, who said his name was Dr. Brooks, confessed to the priest he had come here to seek work, that he had left his family in Maine in a penniless condition and that it was worry over their sufferings that had made life unendurable.

Rev. Father O'Farrell and Father O'Keefe, to whom this confession was made, had sent for the police, but when a policeman arrived Dr. Brooks promised not to end his life and so the priests told the policeman that it would be wrong to arrest him. They refused to reveal the identity of the would-be suicide to the policeman and the case caused a great deal of mystery.

A hotel detective, who had been called in by the priests, accompanied Dr. Brooks to the Mills Hotel and paid for a room for two days. The priests gave Dr. Brooks some money to pay his living expenses and believed they had reasoned him out of his desire to commit suicide.

When the police learned that a man who registered at the Mills Hotel as "Dr. C. H. Brooks of Portland, Me.," had died of hemorrhage of the lungs it seemed to the police worth while investigating and the coroner was called.

The investigation led to the finding of letters in the pockets of the dead man which were almost convincing proof in themselves that he had killed himself, and the coroner's confirmation of this conclusion by stating that he found traces of poison on the lips of the man but could not tell what kind of poison had been used.

Detective Madden identified the dead man as the man who tried to kill himself in the church. Efforts were made to learn whether the suicide's relatives are in Portland, Me.

ROBERTSON BROS.

REMODELLING LORDS.

Plans For the Reforming of That August Body.

London, Sept. 9.—The committee of the House of Lords appointed some time ago at the suggestion of Lord Rosebery to consider plans for the reforming of that body would appear to be proceeding on much more thorough lines than anyone would have given them credit for. Briefly it is said the committee's proposal is to limit the number of members of the House of Lords to about 180, and to base the membership first on public service and secondly on an extension of the principle of representative peers.

Thus peers who have served in liberal or conservative ministries, or who have been members of the House of Commons would at once be eligible for the upper chamber. To this nucleus of experienced members would be added a corpus on the representative principle elected from the body of the hereditary peers, as is now done in the case of the Irish peers. The plan is probably the handiwork of Lord Rosebery himself, but Lord Lansdowne is also on the committee, and if he supports them the recommendations will assume an importance they would not otherwise possess. Whether they will receive the support of the general body of the peers is quite another question.

A LITTLE GIRL'S PLUCK.

Saved Her Father From a Mad Bull.

Marksboro, N.J., Sept. 9.—Attacked by a bull, which became suddenly enraged when he entered the barnyard, Rufus Jennings, a farmer, received injuries yesterday, that will probably result in his death. The savage animal tossed Jennings against a fence several times, then hurled him to the ground, and for the interference of his twelve-year-old daughter and a large Newfoundland dog would have killed him on the spot. As the dog seized the bull's hind leg the girl dragged her father away, but the bull shook off the dog and attacked the girl knocking her down but not seriously injuring her. The girl finally got her father out of the barnyard and then collapsed.

USE ELECTRICITY

To Cleanse Inactive Nerves and Tone Them Up.

London, Sept. 9.—Before the physiological section of the British Association, Sir James Grant, Ottawa, delivered a full account of his nervous system, acting on inactive nerve centers, which become poisoned by noxious gases, but for the cleansing thereof by electricity. Sir James said he would be enabled to abandon spectacles and also increase general activity in consequence of the use of the instrument. The discovery is the first successful application of electricity to human digestion.

THREE IN THE FIELD

THIS IS THE PROSPECT IN PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY.

It is Said That Alcorn Can Be Easily Ousted—H. C. McMullen and E. M. Young May Be Independents.

Pictou, Sept. 9.—There promises to be a jolly toss-up when Laurier springs on the dominion elections. The crop of candidates is finding this season good growing weather, and the number is gaining strength. The conservatives have their candidate in the field already, George O. Alcorn, K.C., the present M.P., who has held down the seat allotted to Prince Edward for two terms now. But there is every evidence that it only requires a weak opponent to oust him from Ottawa. He has done nothing for Prince Edward. There have been rumors of Dr. Marley Currie, ex-M.P.P., coming out as the liberal standard bearer, but it is pretty definitely understood, at least as definite as politics ever are, that he has finished with elections. It was announced, to-day, that ex-Mayor H. C. McMullen will run as independent liberal. Mr. McMullen bases his chances for winning, and deserving the honor of adding M.P. to his name, through his early associations with the county. He and his brothers were largely instrumental in having built the O. C. railway, and he thinks this effort for the town and county should receive some recognition. Then, perhaps, the most interesting of the prospects is E. M. Young, barrister, and county clerk, who, it is understood, will take the independent plank. With a three-cornered fight the chances for Mr. McMullen are the brightest.

Girl Burned To Death.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Sept. 9.—Ida Ingvarson, a young woman living eight miles from here, met a horrible death by being burned to a crisp, yesterday. The unfortunate girl was alone in the house at the time of the accident. She was endeavoring to light a fire so she poured coal oil into the stove, which caused an explosion, with fatal results.

A Privy Councillor Was Also a Forger.

SMALL INVESTORS

SUFFER THROUGH FORMER MINISTER'S DISHONESTY.

He Has Surrendered to the Police—His Embezzlements Have Reached Over Two Millions of Dollars—Was a Cabinet Minister For Seven Years.

Copenhagen, Sept. 9.—M. Alberti, former minister of justice and king's privy councillor, has surrendered to the police, confessing the embezzlement, by fraud and forgery, of $2,500,000. Alberti resigned his portfolio on July 23rd, on account of alleged ill-health, but in reality because of attacks made by the radicals upon his personal property.

He has been cabinet minister for seven years and had an unimpaired reputation. Alberti was president of the Peasants Savings bank which is apparently the chief sufferer by his dishonesty, and the national bank also, affected though it is stated their losses are largely secured. The Peasants bank which was closed by order of the government, yesterday, owed the treasury $555,000 of which $415,000 is fully secured. The depositors, mostly small investors throughout the country, will be the losers. It is asserted that the frauds have been going on for years.

MONEY SAFE.

Berea, O., Sept. 9.—Fearful of banks, Frank Marks, a Strongsville farmer, converted all his money into gold coins and hid the metal under the floor of his pig pen. While he and his wife were in Cleveland robbers searched his house, ripping up the mattresses, upholstery in an effort to locate the hidden wealth. Incidentally the thieves fired the barn and the pig pen. Neighbors fought the flames and saved Marks' house. Upon his return home Marks surprised his friends by digging in the ruins of the pig pen and drawing forth a huge lump of gold, said to be worth a several thousand dollars. The gold coins had been melted by the intense heat.

WILL IT BE VALUABLE?

A NEW TUBERCULOSIS REMEDY BEING TESTED.

Finnish Discoverer Asks Co-operation of Medical Profession in Experiments.
New York, Sept. 9.—Tests are being made in New York City of a new serum treatment for tuberculosis, the invention of Dr. J. Gabrielowitch, director of the Imperial Russian Sanitarium for Tuberculosis, at Halisa, Finland. Dr. Gabrielowitch, whose fame as a scientist is world wide, is about to start from Finland for the United States, to read a paper explaining and describing his discovery before the international congress on tuberculosis, which will convene in Washington on September 23rd.
The new tuberculin, like Koch's old tuberculin, is prepared from cultures of the tubercle bacillus of human origin. The method of production is based on that of Koch, and the active agent is the same. It differs from the Koch tuberculin, however, in that there have been removed from it, by a process which Dr. Gabrielowitch has not yet disclosed, those constituents which produced the deleterious action of the older remedy and the disagreeable symptoms of fever, chills, insensations, malaise, digestive disturbances, etc., which caused the failure of the Koch tuberculin to become a popular remedy. When administered according to Dr. Gabrielowitch's directions there is scarcely any reaction noticeable, although very large doses are used toward the end of the treatment. Yet its diagnostic value, in doses of half a milligram, seems to be equal to that of the tuberculin in general use for such purposes.
Tuberculinum purum is not purchasable anywhere in the world. If the results of the series of international experiments do not justify the belief of its discoverer that it is a valuable remedy for tuberculosis, it is doubtful if he will disclose its method of preparation to the pharmaceutical laboratories. The specimens that are available for use at present are made for Dr. Gabrielowitch himself for absolutely free distribution among the medical profession.

RAILWAY REGULATION.

Tribute to the Management of the Railways.

Hamilton Herald.
There has been no more significant tribute to the Laurier government's policy of railway regulation by means of a permanent commission than the admission made by a prominent Canadian railway official in an article contributed to the new Winnipeg magazine. The writer is William Whyte, of the C.P.R.
Mr. Whyte says that the development of any new country depends upon its transportation facilities. Countries have developed without the aid of good transportation facilities; but no one will deny that such facilities are very important factors in national development. If railway regulation were to interfere with transportation facilities, the benefits to be derived from regulation might be more than offset by the injury which it would do. But Mr. Whyte witnesses the fact that regulation of railways has stimulated it. Since the new system of regulation came into force, he says, the wisdom of the government's course has become apparent to all. "Although it is not generally known, it is, nevertheless, an established fact that no country in the world has so great a mileage per capita as Canada now has. Then, add to this fact that contracts have been let for hundreds of miles of additional railways, consisting in part of feeders which will suck up and bring to the main lines the crops from the newly-developed wheat regions—and you will understand that government regulation is not necessarily a fatal drag on a nation's railway prosperity."
That railway regulation is a good thing for the shipper, the importer, the settler and the traveller is a fact which no one will dispute. If it is also a good thing for the railway companies, as Mr. Whyte seems willing to admit, it must be a good thing all around.

A Fashionable Wedding in Napance

AT TRINITY CHURCH

FRANK S. BOYES WEDS. MISS PEARL PERRY.

The Bride Was Handsomely Gowned—Groom's Favor to the Bride—The Honey-moon in the West—A Reception Held.

Napance, Sept. 9.—One of the most fashionable weddings that has taken place in Napance in many a day occurred last evening, at Trinity church, when Miss Pearl Perry, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. Lud Perry became the bride of Frank S. Boyes, only son of J. L. Boyes.
The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock by Rev. G. W. McColl, pastor of Trinity church. The bride was given away by her cousin, William Templeton and looked very charming in her wedding gown of cream silk lace embroidered in silk applique, over white duchess satin and chiffon with seed pearls. She wore the customary bridal veil, hemmed with orange blossoms and trimmed with seed pearls and carried a bouquet of white bridal roses and lily-of-the-valley.
The bride was assisted by Miss Alice Pruy, who wore pink silk cologne lace and a pink hat trimmed with plumes to match and carried pink roses. The groom was assisted by J. B. Allison.
Two little flower girls, Miss Violet Perry, niece of the bride, and Miss Diana Miller, groomed in pale blue silk and wreaths of blue forget-me-nots in their hair, carrying baskets of pink sweet peas, lent an added charm to the occasion. The ushers were: William Wright and W. Ralph Scott. Mrs. Cairns-Smith played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party entered the church.
The groom's favor to the bride was a handsome diamond and sapphire ring, to the bridesmaid a pearl brooch and to the flower girls, pearl pins, to the ushers, gold shield pins and the groomsmen, a gold locket, to the organist, a gold bar pin, set with pearls. The bride's going-away gown was of navy blue broadcloth, tailor-made, trimmed with silk braid, and a dainty hat to match.
The honeymoon will be spent in Toronto, Buffalo, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.
After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Bridge street east, and a dainty lunch served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Boyes took the midnight train for their honeymoon.
The presents to the bride were very beautiful and consisted of sterling silver, cut glass and bric-a-brac, in great abundance. Seldom has a bride been so lavishly remembered by friends and relatives, as has the present one. Both bride and groom are very popular in social circles and their many friends will welcome them back, for they are going to settle down with us upon their return.
They will take up housekeeping in J. P. Hanley's house near the G.F.R. station, which was one of their many presents, the bride from the groom's father, J. L. Boyes.
The girl friends of the popular bride decorated Trinity church with white and pink asters and the effect was very pleasing, and added much to the attractiveness of the occasion.

The delegates sent the following telegram to 400 peers and members of the House of Commons: "Fifty-one Protestant societies, assembled in London this afternoon, fearing that the Roman Catholic procession, on Sunday, may cause a riot and even bloodshed, earnestly request you to at once wire the home office, asking that the carrying of the host may be forbidden."

Can't Be Suppressed.

It is reported that the wealthy lawyer who looks after the interests of Harriman, the American railway octopus, has subscribed $50,000 to the republican campaign fund. In view of the law against corporation subscriptions and the pledges of the candidates to decline corporation money, such a subscription would be apt to do the democrats' utmost as much good as if it had gone into the democratic barrel.
