WHAT IS BELIEVED NO MORE

PENSIONERS ARE USUALLY LONG-LIVED.

Enormous Sums Paid Out By United States Since Close of Civil War.

That pensioners live long is a generally accepted proverb, perhaps because their active career having closed their early demise is popularly expected. At any rate, the pensioned war veterans of the United States and their widows, the widows especially, furnish astonishing proofs of longevity.

In recent years the annual disbursements for pensions has been about $140,000,000, or, as Mr. Roosevelt might illustrate, more than the annual cost of the navy, and would build fifteen battleships every year.

COULD NOT SELL LAND.

Unable to Make Sale on Account of Noise.

Dublin, Sept. 12.—A few days ago an attempt was made to sell 100 acres of meadowing and grazing farm at Ballymoore, County Roscommon. For a considerable time past efforts have been made to secure the land for distribution among the neighboring tenants.

DIYING LAD REFUSES ETHER.

Insisted on Comforting Parents Till the End.

New York, Sept. 12.—Lying on an operating table, in St. Vincent's hospital yesterday afternoon, with one leg amputated and the other badly crushed, nine-year-old Edward Burke, knowing that he was near death, refused ether, and although so weak he could hardly turn his head, the boy whispered: "I don't want the stuff, stretching out a hand and placing it in his mother's."

THOUGHT HE SAW A BEAR.

So Sportsman Fired and Shot a Man Dead.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 12.—A fatal hunting accident is reported from Month Lehanon, the victim being a Finn who was shot in mistake for a bear, by a sportsman named Welsh. Welsh and some companions were out deer hunting and when in some very heavy underbrush, Welsh saw something moving which he took for a bear, he fired with the result above stated.

Bertha Claiche Liberated.

Auburn, N.Y., Sept. 12.—Bertha Claiche, chief figure in one of New York's recent notable murder cases, was one of six convicts in Auburn prison whose applications for liberty were favorably acted upon by the prison parole board.

HEIRESS WEDS CLERK. Favorite of Carnegie, Secretly Married.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—John E. Morris, a bank clerk, and Florence C. Moreland, favorite sister of Andrew Carnegie, one of the younger partners of Andrew Carnegie, made a hasty trip to this city yesterday and were married by the Rev. J. R. Miller at St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Fifth street and Baltimore avenue.

Mr. Morris, who is a bookkeeper in the Anchor Savings Bank of Pittsburgh, left that city on Saturday for a vacation. He came to this city and was met by Miss Moreland, who had been spending the summer at her brother's cottage at Spring Lake, N.J.

The Moreland family became very wealthy through their former connection with Andrew Carnegie. It is said that Florence Moreland as a little girl was a great favorite with Mr. Carnegie, who used to talk to her when she came to the steel works with her uncle and brothers.

Andrew Moreland did not smile upon young Morris's suit. However, he and Miss Moreland had been acquainted since childhood, and it is believed that they decided to marry years ago. It is said that the girl frequently visited Morris at the bank. Morris is 29 years old and his bride is 23.

LAW'S DENIAL.

Says He Gives Wife No Allowance.

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 12.—Harry K. Thaw made to the American yesterday the first public statement he has ever made regarding his financial arrangements with his wife.

GIRLS WHO WORK

Girls who work for their living are especially exposed to the dangers of organic feminine disorders. Standing all day, or sitting in cramped positions; walking to and from their places of employment in bad weather all tend to break down their delicate feminine organism.

CONAN DOYLE ON DIVORCE.

A More Rational System Should Be Introduced.

London, Sept. 12.—A greater amount of preventable misery arises from the operation of the divorce laws than from any other cause in the social life of this country, says Sir Arthur Conan Doyle in a contribution to the Daily Telegraph's silly season correspondence on "Ideals of Marriage."

Where the Octopus Abounds.

Manneapolis Journal. "The rocky coast of Brittany," said a life-guard, "abounds in octopus—the puerile, as they say down there. Walk a Breton beach at low tide—the beach of St. Lannaire, for instance—and you will easily find in a half mile a score or more of perfect cuttlefish of those friable white bones that birds love. They are from six inches to a foot or more in length, snowy and very prettily shaped; they make nice ash trays. The peasants gather them for bird food, for ash-trays, and also, I believe, for cigarette cases. They are bones of the octopus, and their abundance is a convincing proof of the octopus in those rock strewn waters of France."

Twenty Years After.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 12.—Word was received from Port Moody that the remains of a man had been found in the woods. From the brief investigation made after the discovery the remains are believed to be those of a man who mysteriously disappeared some 20 years ago, and was believed to have been murdered during a fracas in a resort of questionable character.

Little Flatterer!

"Did you really care for me when you accepted me?" asked a fond husband of the lady to whom he had been married for a year. "That is a great comfort to think I didn't urge you against your wishes," "James," was the reply, "how could you ever doubt my affection? Have I told you that I had proposals from men who were brilliant, handsome, and talented—and, passing them all by, James, I chose you!"

Under A Strain.

Catholic Standard and Times. "But," asked Miss Mattie Nay, "did you ever have stage fright?" "Only once," replied the actor, "and that was before an audience of only five or six people." "My! Where was that?" "Out West. You see, the audience informed us that if our show didn't suit them they'd fill us full of holes."

HEADACHES

Suffered From Constant Headaches—Cured by "Fruit-a-tives" When Doctors Failed.

"I was a sufferer from fearful headaches for over two years, sometimes they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicines, was treated by physicians, and yet the headaches persisted. I was rarely free from headache. A short time ago I was advised to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days my headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of the tablets my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad, and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. Ottawa, Ont. My headaches will be induced to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and will be cured."
