

Told in Twilight

Mrs. Edward Torrance gave a most pleasant tea, at Miss Macaulay's, King street, yesterday. Though intended for married ladies a number of unmarried people and the younger girls were asked, too, which made it all the pleasanter.

Mrs. S. W. Dyde, Queen's College, gave a very enjoyable tea, yesterday, in honor of Mrs. Adam Shortt. It had a very professional air, as among the guests were Mrs. D. M. Gordon, Mrs. W. L. Goodwin, Mrs. A. P. Knight, Mrs. Daniel Jordan, Mrs. S. Clarke, Mrs. John Waddell, Mrs. Donald Ross and Miss May Ross, Mrs. J. C. Gwillim, Mrs. L. W. Gill, Mrs. W. H. Willhoft, Mrs. Alexander Laird, Mrs. Robert Laird, Mrs. Robert Meikle, Mrs. G. Chown, Mrs. Hiram Calvin, Mrs. George Fenwick, Mrs. H. B. R. Craig, Miss Annie Fowler, assisted by Miss Muriel Short, Miss Edith Goodwin and Miss Hilda Jordan helped with the tea things.

The picnic which the senior cadets were talking of giving, to Lemoine's Point, this afternoon, is all "off," owing to the R.M.C. vs. town golf match, which Major H. R. V. de Bury organized, at the Country Club, this afternoon. Several of the cadets are also in Toronto, taking part in a tennis tournament to-day.

The hostesses at the golf tea to-day were Mrs. Kenneth Blair, Mrs. Herbert Robinson, Mrs. John Macpherson, Mrs. Hugh Macpherson, Mrs. Edith Straubenzitz, Miss Katie Gordon, Miss Elsie Saunders, Miss Alice and Miss Marion Hague, and Miss Connie Tandy.

There is talk of more tournament in the air, and a bright woman said the other day: "We're just clubbed to death" in Kingston. It got too many organizations for its size and its pockets.

Mrs. H. R. V. de Bury has asked a dozen girls from town and a like number of cadets to try their luck at tennis at the Royal Military College next Wednesday, with tea to follow.

Mrs. W. R. Sillay, Mack street gave an informal little tea, on Wednesday, in honor of Mrs. Adam Shortt. The hostess and a few of her young friends did the honors.

A number of the girls, including Miss Lillian Kent, Miss Mildred Jones, Miss Jessie Smith and Miss Letty Cason, had lunch at the Country Club on Thursday.

Mrs. Ramsay Duff, Linness street, gave a children's party, last night, for little Miss Helen and her friends.

There will be a dance at the R. M. C. next Wednesday night, with Mrs. F. D. Lafferty as guest of honor.

Last her friends should make a mistake it might be mentioned again

"INDIAN" IN TROUBLE. Secured Liquor on Order From a Physician.

Two members on Inspector Wright's "Indian" list are in trouble, and have been summoned to appear before Magistrate Farrell in the police court, on Wednesday next. It is alleged that they have been working a little game to secure liquor, making a complaint to some of the doctors that there is sickness in the family, and that liquor is needed. The two who have been summoned, are alleged to have secured liquor on Sunday last, by working this game.

The game was worked in this way so it is claimed. One man would call on a doctor, and tell a story about his wife or some other member of the family being taken suddenly ill, and asking for the necessary order for liquor. If the doctor was in doubt, he would be told to call up a certain number, by telephone. Indian No. 2, would be at the end of the line and, of course, would corroborate the story told by the other with the result that the order for liquor would be given.

RAVENOUS CUBS. Single Point Now Separates From Giants.

New York's position as leader of the race for the National League pennant was placed in jeopardy, yesterday, by the loss of two games to Chicago.

At the same time, Chicago advanced toward the first position by winning one game from Brooklyn. The result was to give New York a percentage of .629 and Chicago .628, a difference of one point.

HE PLEADS IN VAIN QUEEN STILL OPPOSES ABRUZZI MARRIAGE.

King Humbert's Widow Will Not Have Miss Elkins in Royal Family.

Rome, Sept. 26.-The Union, an authoritative Catholic journal states that last winter, when all the princes of the house of Savoy were assembled to celebrate the silver wedding of the duke of Genoa, the queen mother demonstrated her opposition to the contemplated marriage between the duke of Abruzzi and Miss Katherine Elkins. Now her majesty has again shown that her attitude has not undergone any alteration. The count of Turin has proceeded to Greece, where the queen mother is spending her summer holiday, to see whether his august aunt was inclined to take a more favorable view of the proposed match.

The count pleaded the case of the duke of the Abruzzi, stating that his age, 35 years, would not allow him to delay his marriage any longer. Moreover, he was determined in the matter, and the engagement was now a formal one. Miss Elkins, said the count of Turin, was a suitable qualified for becoming a member of the house of Savoy. It was true that she was not of royal blood, but the count reminded the queen mother of the fact that the first wife of Prince Amadeo, the mother of the duke of Abruzzi, was neither of royal blood nor a member of the princely family, but a daughter of the Count Dal Pozzo della Cisterna, whose nobility was of recent date, yet she was able to hold her position on the throne of Spain beside her husband.

To this Queen Margherita replied that her opinion was the same as it had been last winter. She was absolutely opposed to the marriage, because, among several other things, a large part of the American public had declared that the duke of Abruzzi had gone to a dowry. Moreover, many of the American newspapers, in articles, sketches and caricatures had spread similar statements, while the Italian colony in America was not at all pleased with the match.

The count of Turin was unable to deny the force of this argument, but he replied that in any case the duke of Abruzzi was engaged to Miss Elkins. This deeply grieved the queen mother, and a certain amount of coolness ensued between her and her nephew. The count of Turin, who had intended to stay a few days in Savoy, left immediately for Spezia to meet the duke of the Abruzzi.

It is stated that the duke, who has been taking part in the military manoeuvres on board the Regina Elena, will, as soon as he can leave his ship, depart for New York to arrange all the details of the marriage, which, unless any complications arise, will take place on January 20, his birthday.

ANOTHER CHANCE GIVEN To Kingston to Enter a Team in the O.R.F.U. Kingston was given another chance to enter the senior series of the O.R.F.U. to-day. Stanley Trotter gave a telegram from Secretary Gladstone telling him that the first game was Kingston's and to write him the other dates. This means that the Kingston team can have the first game here, and the schedule will be arranged pretty much as follows: Next week. Many times this season men have tried to get a team together but have always met with reverses, and those that tried to do something have grown tired of it and quit. From the present outlook the city will not have a team entered in the O.R.F.U. series at all. Gananoque and Brockville are both waiting for the locals to make a move before they enter a team, as they want to go into the same series. It would make a good section and some good games would be up. These three towns have nearly always been in the same group and have generally made good from a financial standpoint, and would no doubt do so again.

"B" BATTERY ARRIVED. Came From Petawawa Camp on Friday Night. A special train, having on board the members of "B" battery, from Petawawa camp, arrived at the Kingston and Pembroke railway station shortly before ten o'clock, on Friday night, and the men are now quartered in barracks. The strength of "B" battery is 165, and Capt. Roy is in charge, with Lieuts. Browne, Boak and Jamieson. Fourteen coaches were used in conveying the men, horses and gun-carriages. The work of unloading the batteries was left until this morning. The horses have all been quartered at the riding school.
