DECIDES TO RESTORE THE OLD DOME

On the City Buildings—A Special Meeting Called to Consider Petition Regarding Reducing the Board of Education.

At the city council meeting last evening were Mayor Ross and Aldermen Angrove, Chown, Couper, Craig, Free, Givens, Graham, Hanley, Henderson, Kent, McCann, McNairney, Nickle, Robertson and Hong.

These communications were referred to committees:

Communications.
William Follett, asking for rebate of taxes on account of inability to pay.
John Macdonald, secretary-treasurer Board of Education re vacancy on Board of Education caused by the death of D. Reeves.

Henry Ross asking to have a tree at No. 377 Brock street cut down.

J. G. Baslow re removal of trees at No. 123 Clergy street.

W. S. Ellis, principal Collegiate Institute, submitting names of candidates at the matriculation examinations who made the highest number of marks.

Local Board of Health asking council to make arrangements for carrying out the terms of the public health act re vaccination.

William Snodden, et al. re construction of a concrete walk on Aberdeen street.

William McQuaid, et al. asking council to continue construction of walk on Russell street, westerly to Division street.

Local Board of Health asking the council to provide a building suitable for the care and treatment of small-pox patients.

Local Board of Health recommending that council install some effective system of trapping the grates and street drains.

John Scott, making application for the position of foreman in the reconstruction of the dome on the city buildings.

J. J. Cunningham, asking to be appointed line foreman of the lighting system.

Anti-vaccination league asking council to defer action on compulsory vaccination question.

T. J. Pollie, for remission of business tax.

E. McMullen, re establishment of a factory in the city.

J. Macgillivray and others asking that the Board of Education members be reduced to ten.

A Special Meeting Called.

The petition to reduce the Board of Education to ten members, the mayor said, would have to be considered by a special meeting of the council to be held before Oct. 18th.

This was the law. Ald. Henderson asked if some of those in favor of the petition would be heard. The mayor replied that they would be at liberty to speak. Ald. Hoag said he supposed the representatives of those against the petition would also be heard. In course they would, the mayor replied. It was decided to hold a special meeting of the council on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to discuss the question. The petition for the change contains over 400 names. What the petition sets forth has already been published.

Board of Health Matters.

A Board of Health deputation consisting of Francis King and Dr. Etherington addressed the council on the question of the necessity of a permanent small-pox hospital in the present building in use being unfit for winter use. There was plenty of vacant land around the city, Mr. King said, and a building could be put up at small expense. Dr. Etherington reminded the council that for some time at present small-pox was an epidemic throughout Ontario, having been introduced here from the lumber camps of Michigan in 1899.

Last winter small-pox had cost the municipality of Brockville $7,000. Since that spring there had been twenty cases in Kingston. Of course there might be no epidemic, but it was imperative on the council to provide a place for the treatment of the cases. The mayor referred the matter to a special committee, and said that he would likely call a special meeting in which case Dr. Etherington and Mr. King would be invited to discuss the question with the committee.

Mr. King asked that the vaccination question be not delayed too long. The mayor said the question could come before the committee at the same time. Ald. Nickle said it would be well for council not to act at the present meeting until the law on the matter was clear.

The anti-vaccination league petition asking council to refrain from action till all sides had been heard, was read by Dr. J. G. Evans, Dr. S. A. Aykroyd and J. N. Scott.

A Street Line Matter.

The Board of Works last week decided that W. J. Turkington, Patrick street, must remove his fence off the street line, but gave him permission to erect a portico over the street line.

Ald. McCann considered it a hardship to insist on Mr. Turkington moving his house back off the street line, and refusing to allow him to build a portico over the street line.

Ald. McCann considered it a hardship to insist on Mr. Turkington moving his house back. The street line had existed as it is now for fifty years.

Ald. Henderson said that the commission on Catarrh in this section of the country that all other diseases put together, and that the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it a constitutional disease and therefore required constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

My Valet service, $1 a month.

G. M. Reid, of London, is a visitor in the city.

Mayor Ross has accepted the conservative candidacy for Kingston.

A. A. Wright, ex-M.P., Renfrew, has been appointed postmaster of that town.

Donald E. Ryan, manager of the roller rink, returned from Toronto, to-day, after visiting friends.

Frank W. Jackson returned to Baltimore, Friday last, after a pleasant visit with his parents, 29 Dufferin street.

The tennis match played at Varsity courts, Toronto, on Saturday, between Royal Military College and Varsity resulted in a draw.

Rev. Father D. C. McRae, who died on Sunday in Cornwall, was ordained by Archbishop Cleary. He spent several years in Kingston and Gannan.

The finance committee recommended that the request of the Y.W.C.A. for exemption for taxes for the building owned and occupied by them be granted. Also that an additional appropriation to provide a building suitable for the credit of the Board of Works. Adopted.

Ald. Graham moved that an electric light be erected at the corner of Arch and Union streets. There was some discussion on the matter of lights which were needed on a number of dark corners. It was decided to refer the whole matter to the fire and light committee for a report.

To Restore Old Dome.

It took the council just fifteen minutes to decide upon the city buildings dome. The property committee report recommending the restoration of the old dome, on practically the same lines, and of wood, was adopted. The committee's recommendation was as follows:

"That the plans of the city dome, as presented by Architect Power, be adopted, and that the additional cost of the new structure over the amount received from the insurance award, amounting to about $2,500, be provided by the committee on finance and accounts, and that the committee on city property be authorized to proceed with the construction of the dome either by contract or by day labor."

Ald. Craig thought that the more elaborate plan should be adopted, even if the cost was double the insurance money. He didn't think the people wanted the council to be held down to the insurance. Kingston should strike out for something better, and show a progressive spirit.

Ald. Graham said that the more elaborate dome would cost probably from $30,000 to $35,000. He opposed running into debt for an elaborate topee to the city buildings when the city had a debt of over a million dollars.

Ald. Angrove said Ald. Craig's stand reminded him of the man who went into a hotel to get a drink. He wanted champagne but he had only the price of a beer. A restoration of the old dome, he thought, was good enough for Kingston, especially when money was so much required for roads, lights, small-pox hospital, etc. He preferred the money loaned down, than sticking it away up in the air for admiration.

The council decided to adopt the property committee's report.

Other Business.

At the request of the proprietor of the Grand Opera House the public buildings' egress by-law was amended by adding the following to section 7: "Provided further that where the width of such passage way or corridor in addition to the widths of the other exits exceeds the width of such stairway the limit of eighteen inches for every one hundred persons, then such stairway may open at right angles to such passage-way or corridor."

Two walk construction by-laws were passed.

Moved by Ald. Nickle, seconded by Dr. Williamson, Morrison, Bogart, Richardson and Campbell for the vaccination, during 1908, of applicants, the statutory charge of twenty-five cents to be borne by the corporation.

The council adjourned at a quarter to one o'clock.

Disgusted With Such Doings.

Ald. Craig was disgusted with the city council doings last night. "Just think," he said this morning, "the council spends over an hour discussing the erection of a couple of steps to a man's house on Patrick street, and dismisses the important question of reconstructing the city buildings' dome in ten minutes. What is our council coming to anyway?"

Charged With Cruelty.

Word received here from Hamilton states that William J. Snow and his wife are charged with cruelty to their fifteen-year-old daughter. The Snow family moved from Kingston some four or five months ago, but while in the city had no police record.

Fall Importations. Of 1908.

Prevost, Brock street, has received all fall importations for order work in his tailoring department. His ready-made clothing and gent' furnishings departments were never better assorted.

Mrs. F. W. Kirkpatrick took a most unexpected change for the better on Sunday night and the improvement has continued, a cause of much pleasure to many friends.

Thursday's Whig will tell what tag day is.

Old De Wolf Hopper Again Entertains.

Kingston theatre-goers were given a real treat on Monday evening, when De Wolf Hopper and company presented "What Happened Then." This operatic fantasy is something new, and built on altogether different lines from any vehicle that Mr. Hopper has had before. It is built around the Pied Piper of Hamelin town, who succeeded in cleansing the city from a great pestilence of rats, and when the burgomaster refused to pay him, he played upon his magic pipes, compelling all the children to follow him to the mountain. He had built a city of Innocence, which was to remain a city as long as the piper kept all in it innocent and good, but the moment anything happened, Father Time would come and take things over himself.

As the Pied Piper, 365 years old, Mr. Hopper is at his best. He has been seen here numerous times before, and each time becomes a great favorite with the local theatre-goers, as a funmaker. He does not cause quite so many side-splitting laughs as he did in Wang, but his work in the part seems more to him. He has some good songs, "What Would You Do With Pools," being his biggest hit.

As usual Mr. Hopper has been surrounded by an excellent company. Every part from end to end was in good hands. Miss Toby Claude as "Lizzie Hazy," was well suited to her part and made a good hit. She played the part of the cook (or Kitchenerette) to the aeroplane party, who stumbled into the city of Innocence. Miss Claude has that something about her that seems to make her hearers see and hear as she does on the stage.

Miss Helen W. Cullinan, played the part of "Elvira," the beautiful girl who was left over, at twenty years of age without a beau. Miss Cullinan seemed made to fit into her part, so well did she handle it. Her singing was in fact the only songs that made a real hit. She has a sweet soprano voice, her big hit being, "Life is Quite Endurable." Dallas Wellford, by no means a new name here, played the part of "Blood," aeroplane pilot, to the duke. He played the part well, got all there was in it out, but seemed worthy of a better part. As the duke, Norman Tharp was good, and Warren Fabian was excellent as "Father Time." The musical parts were all well cast, and the chorus was up to the stand ard.

The scenery certainly deserves special notice, as in some parts its equal has not been witnessed here. The first scene of "Old Father Time" was grand, being perfect, and the scenes in the City of Innocence, were also good.

"The Tyranny of Tears," a comedy of the emotions, which will be produced at the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, October 1st, is most ingeniously constructed on the simplest lines, and is a triumph of the commonplace. Played virtually by five characters and with one change of scene, it has that spacious appearance of ease which is due to dexterity and craftsmanship. It is refreshing, free from theatrical expedients, and the knots which we are accustomed to see snipped by the scissors of an erratic fate are here gently untangled by the fingers of probability.

"A Pair Of Country Kids,"

Go to the Grand and see the new sensational comedy drama, "A Pair of Country Kids," next Saturday, matinee and night, and you will see a real novelty and a clever company. "Hi" and "Brie" are lively and entertaining for two hours and a half.
