A WOMAN'S DRESSES BE LONG TO HUSBAND.

English Judge Says So—Gave Decision in Brompton County Court—The Suffragettes Roused—Positively Wicked, Says Their Secretary.

New York, Oct. 7.—A cable despatch to the Herald from London, says: It has been only a few weeks since an English judge decided that a wife had to live wherever her husband said and now the Brompton county court has gone much more than a step farther and decided that a wife's dresses are the property of her husband, particularly if he has given them to her. The action, which caused this decision arose from a seizure of dresses and other articles of apparel supplied by costumers to a woman living in Chelsea. Her husband asserted the seizure was illegal, as he had given his wife the money to buy the dresses and they accordingly were his. The judge, in summing up, said that according to law if a man presented his wife with articles of jewelry and clothing for her use only during his lifetime such did not become the wife's absolute property. As was to be expected, this decision has aroused the ire of the suffragettes, and Miss Pankhurst condemns it in unmeasured terms, and the secretary of the Suffragette Societies calls it positively wicked.

Waifs From Wooler.

Wooler, Oct. 5.—The fair held here on Wednesday last was a decided success. The day was fine and the attendance large. Rev. William Higgs, with whom Rev. J. R. Butler exchanged pulpits on Sunday, preached excellent sermons both morning and evening to very large and attentive audiences. Mrs. S. T. Gunter and Miss Goldie Gunter have returned from visiting friends near Gilmore. A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. David Connor at the Tabernacle, Sunday last. The deceased had been a patient sufferer from consumption for some time. Frederick W. McCall, left last Wednesday evening for Toronto to attend the faculty of education. The meeting of the Epworth League for next Friday evening is in charge of the social committee. A good time is expected. Messrs. George Rowe and Best Sprung, are visiting friends in the west. William Casement, of Gilmore, was calling on friends in and around Wooler last week.

Vennachar Tidings.

Vennachar, Oct. 3.—Owing to the illness of his wife, H. Lockwood, cheesemaker, in G. W. Jackson's factory, was called to his home at Enterprise. Thomas Love, Matawanachan, has been engaged to make cheese for the balance of the season. Mrs. Bella Bebes has returned to Kingston after spending two weeks at her old home here. Mr. and Mrs. Bloombray have returned to Deer Creek after spending about two weeks repairing the late A. L. Bebes's estate with the intention of moving on the same in the near future. Miss Emma Lockridge, Tamworth, has returned to her home after spending five or six weeks with Miss Annie Connor, Charles N. Elliott, who has been staying at G. M. Bebes's home in State Falls. Messrs. William Paul, Tamworth, and Uriah Wilson, Napawan, members of parliament for Lennox and Addington, addressed a large crowd at the school house on October 1st. Miss Eleanor Ball returned from visiting friends at Verona. Mrs. Justus Sweetman, Pincher Creek, Alta., and Rev. and Mrs. Charles Goodrich, Odessa, are visiting friends in the west. Henry John, Denbigh, is at John Gilmour's; Lorne Chatson, Denbigh, at Wm. Holmes'. Miss Laura Gregg, Snake Creek, is visiting friends here. Mrs. Harvey Snider, who has been ill, is able to be around. Richard, the eighty-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson, died on the 1st. The remains were buried to-day, in the family plot, Matawanachan cemetery.

Wolfe Island Tidings.

A WOMAN'S DRESSES BE LONG TO HUSBAND.

English Judge Says So—Gave Decision in Brompton County Court—The Suffragettes Roused—Positively Wicked, Says Their Secretary.

New York, Oct. 7.—A cable despatch to the Herald from London, says: It has been only a few weeks since an English judge decided that a wife had to live wherever her husband said and now the Brompton county court has gone much more than a step farther and decided that a wife's dresses are the property of her husband, particularly if he has given them to her. The action, which caused this decision arose from a seizure of dresses and other articles of apparel supplied by costumers to a woman living in Chelsea. Her husband asserted the seizure was illegal, as he had given his wife the money to buy the dresses and they accordingly were his. The judge, in summing up, said that according to law if a man presented his wife with articles of jewelry and clothing for her use only during his lifetime such did not become the wife's absolute property. As was to be expected, this decision has aroused the ire of the suffragettes, and Miss Pankhurst condemns it in unmeasured terms, and the secretary of the Suffragette Societies calls it positively wicked.

Waifs From Wooler.

Wooler, Oct. 5.—The fair held here on Wednesday last was a decided success. The day was fine and the attendance large. Rev. William Higgs, with whom Rev. J. R. Butler exchanged pulpits on Sunday, preached excellent sermons both morning and evening to very large and attentive audiences. Mrs. S. T. Gunter and Miss Goldie Gunter have returned from visiting friends near Gilmore. A number from here attended the funeral of Mrs. David Connor at the Tabernacle, Sunday last. The deceased had been a patient sufferer from consumption for some time. Frederick W. McCall, left last Wednesday evening for Toronto to attend the faculty of education. The meeting of the Epworth League for next Friday evening is in charge of the social committee. A good time is expected. Messrs. George Rowe and Best Sprung, are visiting friends in the west. William Casement, of Gilmore, was calling on friends in and around Wooler last week.

Vennachar Tidings.

Vennachar, Oct. 3.—Owing to the illness of his wife, H. Lockwood, cheesemaker, in G. W. Jackson's factory, was called to his home at Enterprise. Thomas Love, Matawanachan, has been engaged to make cheese for the balance of the season. Mrs. Bella Bebes has returned to Kingston after spending two weeks at her old home here. Mr. and Mrs. Bloombray have returned to Deer Creek after spending about two weeks repairing the late A. L. Bebes's estate with the intention of moving on the same in the near future. Miss Emma Lockridge, Tamworth, has returned to her home after spending five or six weeks with Miss Annie Connor, Charles N. Elliott, who has been staying at G. M. Bebes's home in State Falls
