THE 5 P.M. EDITION MOST UNFAIR ACTION

IN CALLING FOR NEW TENDERS FOR DOME.

Hunter & Harold Protest Against What City Property Committee Has Done—Architect Power Explains Why He Refused Blue Prints.

J. W. Power acceded to the request of the city property committee, and placed plans for the city buildings dome in the office of the city engineer. Mr. Power stated to a Whig representative that the reason he didn't wish to give blue prints of the plans to steel work contractors was that it would look ridiculous for plans drawn for a wooden dome to be figured upon for a steel structure. So far as contractors for a wooden dome were concerned, he had no objection whatever to give them blue print copies of his plans.

It is said that some of the contractors who have already tendered will not put in figures again, as they consider the property committee's action as most unfair in calling for new ones after publishing the first figures. The whole action of the committee is condemned as unbusinesslike, and the committee are criticized for the way they have bungled the whole matter. It is suggested that the city council take the dome question out of their hands and appoint a strong committee to take hold.

A Most Unfair Thing.

Kingston, Oct. 8.—(To the Editor): The action of the city property committee in calling for tenders a second time for the reconstruction of the dome on the city buildings, seems to us unbusinesslike and very unfair to those who tendered before. The plans and specifications are exactly the same as when tendered before, so that there is no reason for those who tendered then changing their figures, and as the figures have been published all that is left for those tendering now is to underbid a few dollars. We ask no favors, but only for a square deal.—HUNTER & HAROLD, Contractors.

Laymen's Missionary Movement.

A meeting of the central committee of the Laymen's Missionary Movement was held, last evening, in the parlor of the First Congregational church. The organization will be that of the five original members (appointed in January), and of two lay representatives from each congregation in the city, together with all the clergy. It was resolved to adhere to the dates of October 28th to 30th, when there is a surety of the attendance of J. Campbell White, New York, who will also be asked to remain over for a missionary Sunday, November 1st. The details were left until his movements are made more definite. Edw. J. B. Pense is chairman and Rev. Charles Villiers is secretary, and it is hoped that every clergyman and layman interested will keep himself in communication with these officials, and do all in his power to put Kingston in line with other cities in ample preparation for the coming rally. If the members appointed cannot attend meetings and do organizing work, it is hoped they will frankly say so and enable the work to be done by others who can.

Recovered A Bicycle.

Constable Mullinger, this afternoon, secured the bicycle belonging to a young man named Godfrey, living on University avenue. The wheel was taken from in front of the Y.M.C.A. last night. Constable Mullinger got busy on the case, to-day, and as a result succeeded in finding the wheel on Sydenham street, where it had been left by the thief, up against the side of a house. The guilty party is not known.

Spectacles.

New York America. It is highly probable that spectacles were never worn prior to the eleventh century. The invention is variously attributed to Alessandro da Spina, who died at Pisa in 1313; to Alhazen, the Arabian (eleventh century), and to Roger Bacon (1214-92). It is quite safe to suppose that the invention was not earlier than the beginning of the eleventh century.

No Wonder.

Walter Pater, who looked an old man at fifty, bald as a coot and generally plain, regarded every woman much as did Dean Swift, who wrote: "A very little wit is valued with few words spoken intelligently by a parrot."

"You don't approve of marriage?" a friend once observed to Pater.

"No," he replied, "nor would anybody else if he gave the matter proper consideration. Men and women are always pulling different ways. Women won't pull our way. They are so perverse."

A Riddle.

What does a man love more than life, Hate more than death or mortal strife, That which contented men desire, The poor have, and the rich require, A miser spends, the spendthrift saves, And all men carry to their graves?

All sorts of answers were sent in but the correct one was declared to be "Nothing."

OTHERS WANT CHANGE

TO FIGURE IN THE HOTEL SCHEME.

Boston Syndicate Representatives Confer With Board of Trade Committee—They Are Impressed With Kingston.

A meeting of the hotel committee of the board of trade, with other leading members and the mayor, was held this morning to meet George E. Smith and J. H. Kelly, of Boston, who hearing of Kingston's advantages for hotel projection, came to look over the situation. Mr. Smith is an old friend and admirer of the city, having spent some time here in connection with the proposed Ontario electric railway. Mr. Kelly is an hotel expert, who has built three hotels and has managed them afterwards. When Mr. Smith talked of the attractions of Kingston, a Boston syndicate, headed by Senator C. B. Fiske, sought Mr. Kelly, and sent him on with Mr. Smith, to Kingston, to look over the situation. The result is a new admirer of our fine city in the latter gentleman. He desired to know what the city is prepared to do and what it asked in return.

The board stated that they had proposed to the public a guarantee of $100,000 in bonds to encourage an hotel, which will cost at least $250,000, without the furnishings. The question of site had not been given consideration yet. They were in duty bound to await the proposition of Dr. Dupuis and the Chicago syndicate which had been delayed by the very critical illness of the architect's wife, but of which proposition they had, within the last day, received the assurance. The committee added that they were very much in earnest, and they had no question whatever that this scheme would go through, if they could receive the support of the electors (who were eager), and then of the legislature for the guarantee. They thanked Messrs. Smith and Kelly cordially for their visit and kindly interest, and will await their proposition and give it the fairest consideration.
