CORDIAL CONGRATULATIONS.

Hon. Mr. Harty is to be congratulated upon his re-election as the representative of Kingston in the Commons, and by the handsome majority of 349. There never was any doubt in the minds of the liberals about the result. They felt, and with good reason, that there would be a proper recognition of the man's splendid service as a citizen and public man. Even the conservatives realized that if he got his desert they would be returned to parliament, to further bear his country's honors and responsibilities. They courted conflict simply because it would not do to have the city go liberal by acclamation, since this would imply weakness in the party and a reflection on its leader.

The electors have, by their action and decision, acknowledged real worth and they have, at the same time, put the stamp of their disapproval upon the ridicule and abuse which marked the closing days of the campaign. Mr. Harty has very wisely paid no attention to the indignities of the conservative press. He has had the consciousness of knowing that the people appreciate his services and they desire nothing more than the assurance that as he has acted in the past he will act in the future, as an unselfish member of parliament.

The electors have said, in plain and unmistakable language, that they are satisfied with his loyalty to the city, and its interests; they have declared quite clearly that they know he will perform his public duties fairly, honestly and impartially; and they want to continue his enterprise as a large employer of labour. He is free to return to Ottawa as a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his government (which has been so strongly endorsed), and of the great works to which he is committed.

Once more let us congratulate the member-elect and express in the name of the people the hope that he may live long to enjoy the people's regard and confidence.

CONTEST IN THE COUNTY.

The county has been apparently true to the conservative cause and has elected Dr. Edwards as its member by a substantial majority. The term "apparently" is used because at this time of writing the full figures or returns are not at hand.

It is only a few days since a leading conservative paper—that which supplied the inspiration for the conservative cause in this campaign—alleged that it was no credit to a man to say that he was a member of a party because his father had belonged to it. It was contended that the young men of the times should study public questions on their own account, and be governed in their action by their judgment dictated. As a matter of fact, however, the young men accept their politics pretty much as they do their religion, from their parents. It is the result of that closer relationship and training that are so effective.

Hence Frontenac which has been conservative so long remains conservative, and its voters have responded to the call of the party and voted fairly well for the candidate of the convention. That he did not get all the conservative vote goes without saying, though the number of independents is seemingly exceedingly small. There was, too, a marked difference in the canvass of the men. Dr. Edwards is a born and persistent politician. He is withal very suave, and he gave his time and talents to the campaign with a remarkable devotion. From the time of his nomination—from the time, indeed, of the previous election and in anticipation of a call—he had been continually in evidence, and his was a vigorous quest for votes. He was, too, the superior candidate on the stump, and altogether had many advantages in the contest.

The liberals could have done probably as well with a candidate of their own, one who would have stood up for them in public meetings, and represented liberal ideas and principles. Mr. Avery was no doubt grateful for the liberal support he received, but independent conservative candidates will never redeem the country in the name of the liberal party.

NO MORE SCANDAL.

The scandal campaign of the conservative party has been a complete failure. Save and excepting Mr. Borden, who managed occasionally to talk about his Halifax platform, which embraced some of the more important issues of the day, the candidates of the party could discuss nothing but scandal.

As the premier put it at one meeting which he addressed in Ontario, it was hardly possible to conduct the largest business in the country, the people's, without some irregularity, but the small things were magnified and distorted, and some of them were persistently pushed into the public view long after they had been exploded. The more serious offence on the part of certain public men lay in the fact that they said outside the house what they had not dared to say in it. They confessed to the weakness of their case when they admitted that if the men they charged with misdeeds should have been called to account in the commons.

Thank goodness the electors have swept aside some of the greatest trouble-makers and scandal-mongers, including Fowler, Lefurgey and Bennett. These never tired of using offensive language. It was even hinted of them, by the conservative papers, presumably to their credit, that they were the "terrors" of the house, the men who could be relied upon at all times to make a scene and lead in the obstruction. Foster remains, but he has been humiliated, and it is hoped, made harmless.

The people have pronounced upon the scandal campaign in a most pronounced way. They have intimated that they want no more of it.

SOME SNAP SHOTS.

The Whitney government made the campaign in Ontario its own. Sir James was absent from the province when it began, but he hastened back to take a hand in it and join his colleagues in their onslaughts upon Laurier. It would have been as well had they been less conspicuous. They did not influence the vote against the federal government; in fact they helped the cause they essayed to hurt, and woke up to find that the people had severely rebuked them.

The independent vote, said the Toronto News some days ago, had swung in favour of the Whitney government, and it was going to swing in favour of the Borden party. But it did not. It swung surprisingly in favour of the government which has been constructive and progressive in its policy, and which has triumphed in spite of the Whitney's, the Haanas, the Foy's, and all the rest of them. The Algoma incident was the limit—the all too evident attempt on the part of the local government to dragoon the electors into supporting the conservative candidates. Does Sir James Whitney see any hand-writing on the wall?

Nova Scotia has given a few more seats to the conservatives. New Brunswick has divided its awards, and Manitoba, where the Roblin government exhausted its resources in the attempt to win a conservative victory, has broken nearly even. Prince Edward Island has reversed its record. The one seat formerly liberal has gone conservative, and the three conservative seats have gone liberal. Alberta has favoured the liberals as it was expected to do, and Saskatchewan has, in its new arrangement of constituencies, made a sweep for the liberals. British Columbia is incomplete at this writing.

The premier—whose stalwart and picturesque figure was a leading attraction throughout the campaign—had the correct feeling about the probable outcome when he predicted an easy victory. His majority in the commons is a large one. It is really too large, though Sir Wilfrid may be expected, in view of recent developments, to exercise a wise supervision of public offices and give no cause for regret for the splendid victory he has achieved.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The American method of conducting an election is not a success.

The cartoonist's has gone into retreat. He has occasion to repent of his sins.

The locomotive works employees had their jubilation last evening. They felt that the victory of the day had a special significance for them.

Kingston in doubt—that was the story of the Toronto News—and it was as much out in this as in all other matters political with which it dealt.

What was the object of lampooning the liberal candidate in the conservative press? It was not apparent, and it certainly was not approved by the people.

The conservative candidate was treated as a gentleman by the Whig. It is a pity that Mr. Harty could not have been treated as kindly by the conservative press.

Among the notable incidents in Ontario is the defeat of Cockshutt in Brant—the high protectionist—and the election of W. L. McKenzie King, who will be the new minister of labour.

The poor old Toronto News will today be the sport of the province. There never was such a spectacle as it presented with its daily announcements that the government was going.

The election returns made the members of the Ontario government sit up last evening. They saw, at a glance, the sign that they had made the mistake that they controlled the province.

The hindsight of the man who made up the election forecasts for the chief conservative paper will be very keen. How the Mail, the Telegram and World must enjoy its contemporary's humiliation.

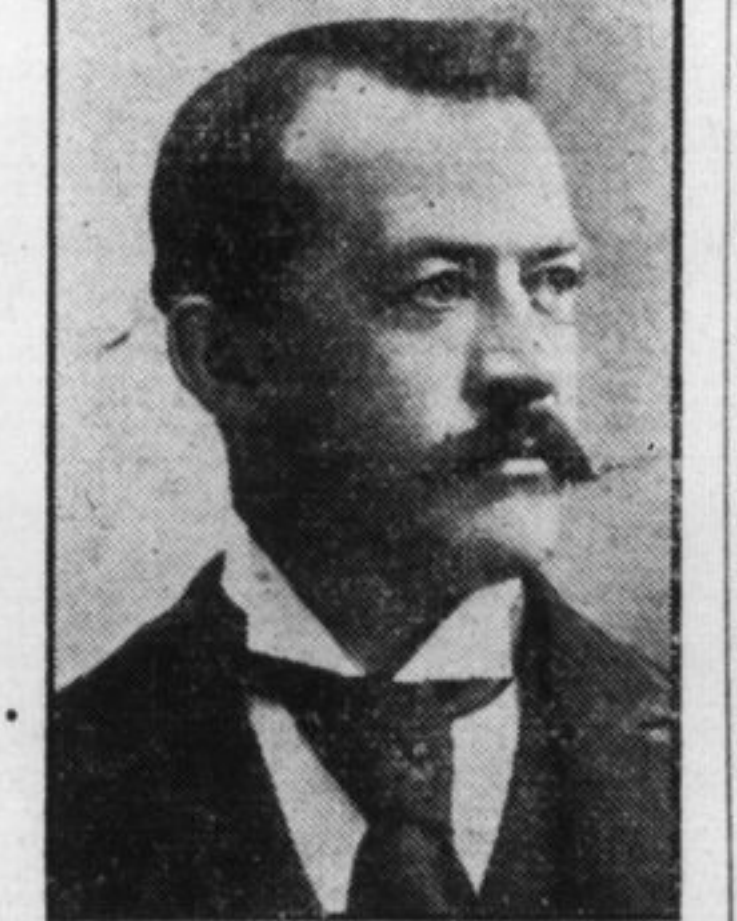

EDWARDS ELECTED

In Frontenac By a Good Sized Majority.

In Frontenac, Edwards was elected, but the complete returns are not available. As far as heard from the following is the standing:

Palmerston	10 maj.
Parham	17 maj.

Heals Like Magic.

Wade's Ointment is more than a soothing, healing application. It is antiseptic and germicide. It heals, it prevents the infection of wounds by germs, and it destroys the germs or parasites that cause annoying and stubborn skin diseases. Cures eczema, salt rheum, scald head, cold sores, chapped hands, erysipelas, piles, etc. In big boxes, 25c., at Wade's drug store.

Women Kissed Bryan.

New York, Oct. 27.—When William J. Bryan entered the Astor gallery at a reception of the Women's Democratic Club, at the Waldorf Astoria, yesterday, he was kissed by two women, in the presence of nearly seven hundred others, and narrowly escaped the embraces of a third. Mrs. Bryan was present. Mr. Bryan displayed some embarrassment.

Changing Tastes.

London, Oct. 27.—Chrysanthemums of all possible colors and degrees of curliness were seen when the October show of the National Chrysanthemum Society opened, yesterday, at the Crystal Palace. The large and elaborately "dressed" Japanese blossoms are not so popular as they were, and they are gradually being ousted from favour by the single chrysanthemums, which lend themselves better to decorative purposes.

Needed Any Hour.

A liniment may be needed any hour. Keep a bottle of Smith's White Liniment in the home, ready for any emergency. This is the best of all family liniments. A large bottle for the price and the remedy meets a wide range of needs. Cures neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, stiff joints or muscle pain in the back and all ordinary hurts. 25c., at Wade's drug store.

Dog's Suicide From Grief.

Paris, Oct. 27.—A St. Bernard dog, which had refused all nourishment since the death of his mistress a week ago, suddenly dashed into the street in Paris, yesterday, and threw himself under a passing motor car.

Died, at his residence, October 23rd, George P. Dowsett, aged forty-five years. Deceased was one of the most widely known and highly esteemed farmers in the township of Bastard. He was a member of the Methodist church.

QUEEN'S JUNIORS WON

DEFEAT CADETS TWENTY TWO TO ONE.

Match Was Played on Queen's Campus—Return Will Be Played Next Saturday at the Military Grounds.

On Monday afternoon, Queen's III and Cadets II played their first game in the junior intercollegiate series, on Queen's campus. The weather was not good for football, and the ground was heavy and soggy after so much rain, yet the teams put up a good exhibition. "Curly" Campbell's Indians were not to be outdone, and had to add their share to the victories of the other teams, so they put it over Cadets, 22 to 1. At half-time the score stood 6 to 1 for the winners. The game was witnessed by a large number of students and cadets, and at times the game became quite exciting. The teams line up as follows:

Queen's—George, full-back; Goodwin, Macdonnell, Ramsay, halves; Kirkpatrick, quarter; Ramsay, Barker, Reid, scrimmage; Anglin, Battersby, inside wings; Des Brisay, Hamilton, middle wings; Losee, Connolly, outside wings, wings.

Cadets—Gordon, full-back; Watts, Nordheimer, Adams, halves; Wheeler, quarter; Dunbar, Fisher, O'Reilly, scrimmage; Stewart, Wright, inside wings; Ball, Peters, middle wings; Hanson, McPherson, outside wings. Referee, G. Campbell; umpire, J. Sutherland.

A return game will be played next Saturday, at R.M.C.

Montreal Comments.

Montreal Herald: Williams, the tall stringy Queen's full-back, was the mainstay on which the visitors relied. In any emergency where he was called out to kick, he kicked, giving an exhibition of skill head and shoulders above that displayed in Montreal so far this season. Hastings and Williams are both good men in the booting world, but the odds are in favour of the Queen's boy. His long, high, twisting punts gave the Kingston outfit time to follow up, which they did in every case.

Montreal Witness: Williams and Macdonnell were the stars of the Queen's team, the former being easily the best punter on the field. Macdonnell repeatedly made gains on the running and passing game, being apparently the hardest player on the field to tackle. In addition to useful work at all times, Williams scored a number of points on kicks for rouges, and also dropped a goal from the field. Macdonnell secured the first Queen's touchdown, and figured in several of the other scores. The Kingston back division is a good one all around, and Turner and Crawford both did good work at times. They were perfectly protected by the line in front of them and made repeated gains on criss-cross runs and other trick plays.

Montreal Star: "Ken" Williams is without doubt the best back in the league, and his kicking was a feature. Macdonnell is another first class man, and it was his kicking that enabled him to bring him to earth whenever he got away on a run; the hands of the tacklers seemed to slip off him as though he was a greased pole. Crawford and Turner also played steady games. Although the Queen's line is not so good as their back division, still they proved much harder to get through than that of Ottawa College a week ago.

Portland, Maine, Child

Ill, Weak and Emaciated, Restored to Health By Vinol.

"Our little daughter, six years of age, after a severe attack of the measles, which developed into pneumonia, was left pitifully thin, weak and emaciated. She had no appetite, and her stomach was so weak it could not retain food. She lay in this condition for weeks, and nothing the doctor prescribed did a bit of good, and we were beginning to think she would never recover.

"At this time we commenced to give her Vinol and the effect was marvelous. The doctor was amazed at her progress, and when we told him we were giving her Vinol, he replied, 'It is a fine remedy, keep it up.' We did so, and she recovered her health and strength months before the doctor thought she could." J. W. Flegg, Portland, Me.

"Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body. Vinol is sold in Kingston by George W. Mahood, druggist.
