

FIT-REFORM vs. CUSTOM TAILORING

Talk No. 1

The question is sometimes asked, "Why is a Fit-Reform Suit so much better than similar garments made to order by a custom tailor?"

One reason is because the Fit-Reform Suit is completely finished and is ready to try on. It is so constructed that, if any alterations are necessary, they can be made easily, accurately and quickly.

The custom tailor, on the other hand, merely bastes the various parts of the garment together. The necessity of trying on unfinished garments, simply proves the inaccuracy of the custom tailor's measurements.

There is no comparison between Fit-Reform accuracy and custom-tailor

The Fit-Reform Trademark is in the pocket of every garment to guarantee satisfaction. Look for it whenever you buy.

The question as to which is the most profitable breed of fowls is very frequently asked. There are undoubtedly differences in breeds, but undue importance should not be placed upon breed The trap nest has shown that there more difference in individuals than in breeds. The hopper style of feeding the growing chicks is not only a labor saver, but has many advantages. The chicks soon learn to cat only what they require and there is no waste, at the same time, the birds are never underfed. A gain in growth is claimed by those who have tried it, and that is sufficient reason for its adoption. The hopper should hold from a bushel to a bag of grain.

The Maine Experiment Station has been conducting some poultry breeding experiments, the principal object of which was to increase the egg-laying capacity of the flock of chickens. Already several hens have been found to lay more than 200 eggs in one year, and the result seem to indicate that the average egg yield of a flock can be increased by selection.

On all farms, highlands, lowland and mid-height, the month opens with browned meadows and pastures, in many cases with dead sod that crumbles under the footstep of the farmer, and turns to powder under the hoofs of live stock. October opens with more dry cows than usual and with the cows in milk averaging the smallest yield per head known in many years. Winter rations have been feed for a month half of the territory and now winter feeding is general. Farmers are drawing water to supply their houses and their stock. LADY CURZON ACTUALLY DIED IN POVERTY.

Curzon Has Enough For His and Child's Needs.

Chicago, Oct. 30,-Revelations .. owing the poverty of Lord and Lady Curzon, who was Mary Leiter, after near return from India, where they hau ruled over millions of subjects in regal sum, $9,000,000, that "Joe" Leiter dropped in his famous plunge in the wheat pit, were made public for the first time against the Zeigler Coal Co. for $416, on trial in the Judge Eberhardt's court. Because of Leiter's unfortunate speculation, as was shown, his allowance s now only $54,000 a year, while both his sisters are receiving more tha. twice this amount. Lady Curzon's pov erty followed her to her grave.

When she and Lord Curzon returned to Europe they could not open their magnificent London house, but were forced to take rooms in a hotel and live inexpensively while waiting for funds to arrive from America.

In a few months Lady Curzon died but in a letter, which was produced in court, she wrote that until she knew celery, 30c. to 50c. a dozen; beets, whether she was to receive the full in come from her father's estate she could not open her town house.

BAIT FOR THIEVES.

The highway robber in opera hat and papers and even the police, we are told, are vastly concerned that a person so dressed should take an unlawful fancy for a lady's purse. The surprise of the police is a bit of stage play,, a piece of police fiction. Men not only in dinner jackets and opera hats, a barbarous combination by the way, but men in absolutely correct evening dress are numerously under the strict observation of special officers employed Mont de Piete at Dijon, a bachelor, died of the check-room boys to get hold of all the outer garments of men and women diners is not wholly actuated by a but on his death no will could be found. places have a nervous horror of diners The fortune then went to three distant who insist upon keeping all their belongings with them and then carelessly tossing them upon an otherwise unoccupied chair at their table. That is a bait which draws the well-dressed thief. The chair is piled high with wraps hats, canes and, finally, the woman of the party, tired of nursing her reticule, which generally contains some jewelry, tosses it, too, on the chair. To get near to such a prize the thief must be dressed like a gentleman, and the frequent reports of robberies under such circumstances proves that the gentleman's dress is frequently well assumed. For Fels-Naptha changes washday to play-day."

Modern progress hasn't forgotten the woman at the tub.

Fels-Naptha proves that.

Time was when medicine wasn't considered good unless it was strong enough or tasted bad enough half to choke the patient.

Some folks who don't know about that new way of washing think that washday must be a day of seething suds, scalding water, perspiration and general misery.

But Fels-Naptha is converting these people who have been tied to the notgood-enough method.

You see there is a way to wash clothes summer or winter in cool or lukewarm water, a way that saves your strength, your time and your temper, and preserves the garments from the ruinous, fibre-destroying boiler.

That way is the Fels-Naptha way. Look for the red and green wrapper.
