YEAR OF PROGRESS
FISCAL REPORT SHOWS GROWTH OF CANADA.

The Total Trade Was Beyond Any Previous Year—United States Capital Has Been Largely Invested. Canadian progress is outlined in the introduction to the annual series of consular reports on the Dominion just published by the bureau of manufacturers, Department of Commerce and Labor.

The total trade for the calendar year 1907, according to Canadian statistics, was $646,150,000, of which $372,225,000 were imports and $273,925,000 exports. The increase in imports over the previous year was $22,755,000, and in exports $18,940,000. The figures for the Canadian fiscal year, which ended March 31, 1908, make approximately the same showing. The United States exported to Canada in the calendar year goods to the value of $222,520,000, which is an increase of $28,455,000 over the previous year. This increase was maintained in the face of the preferential tariff which gives the United Kingdom an advantage of about 30 per cent. in the customs duties. The exports from the United States to Canada are more than to all the rest of North America, including Cuba and the West Indies; more than twice the amount to South America or Asia, and four times that to Oceania.

The imports from the United Kingdom into Canada were $96,849,000, an increase of $19,204,000 over the previous year. Exports to the United Kingdom decreased $8,458,000, but have been invested in Canada in one hundred and fifty important industries since 1897. The immigration from the United States during 1907 was 55,000, and the estimated property brought by these immigrants was $49,000,000.

In 1907 fifteen hundred miles of railways were constructed, and the total mileage in operation at the beginning of the present year was a little short of 25,000. It is estimated that $75,000,000 will be spent in railway construction in 1908.

In electrical development the present plans contemplate 400,000 horse-power from Niagara on the Canadian side, as compared with 3,000,000 horse-power on the United States side. About $80,000,000 is involved in an important electric light and power enterprise to transmit the power 119 miles to London, Ont. Substantially all the importations of electrical apparatus are from the United States, that country having sent $3,341,000 worth, as against $74,000 from the United Kingdom. In the agricultural department the United States supplied $6,225,000 out of a total of $6,900,000. The United Kingdom has better success in holding the market against the United States in textiles. The United States only supplies 12 per cent. of the textile imports. The importation of woollen goods from the United Kingdom increased from $10,300,000 in 1900 to $21,000,000 in 1907. Coincidentally the number of Canadian woollen mills declined from 157 to 103.

As an illustration of the increased cost of living it is said that the royal commission has recommended an increase in salaries for the civil servants in the United Kingdom. In Eastern Canada and to 25 per cent. in Western Canada.

CANADA'S BEST SHOT.
Sergeant Morris, Though Young, Has Long List of Honors.
Sergeant Frank H. Morris, 46th Regiment, Bowmanville, who has made such a phenomenal record at Bisley this year, making the highest aggregate in the whole empire, winning the coveted Gold Cross of the National Rifle Association, and several other valuable prizes, is one of a trio of marksmen from the Dominion—Major W. C. King (adjutant of the Canadian team), Pte. G. J. Rowe and Sergeant F. H. Morris. He was born at Shanklin, Isle of Wight, 29 years ago. J. H. Morris, his father, is also a Wimbledon man and winner of prizes in local and Provincial Rifle Association matches. Sergeant Morris won second place in last year's Bisley team. Last year was his first time at Bisley, when he won £6 for the team and £3 for his shot. Long Branch ranges in 1906 he won the gold medal of the Corporation of Toronto, the Culverwell Cup for highest aggregate at Cobourg last year, and the Hopper Cup of the Cobourg Rifle Association, winning two years the best Durham Rifle Association cup in 1905, the Canadian Military Rifle League's trophy, Ottawa, in 1906 for highest aggregate at long range, and a host of lesser prizes.

Lascelles Made a Chief.
The last night of his stay on the Plains of Abraham was the flickerlight of camp fire and with all the strange ceremonial attending such occasions, Mr. Frank Lascelles, master of the pageants, was initiated as a Chief of the Iroquois. The presentation of the Wampum necklaces, the feather and the head dress, with the christening of the new chief Tehonikronka, the man of resources, was followed by the initiation dance, after which several of Mr. Lascelles' assistants were made minor chiefs. By some extraordinary merging of east and west the ceremonial and the merry-making concluded with the singing by Indians and white men of 'Auld Lang Syne' around the fire.

Naturalizing Canadians.
According to returns received by the state department 87,404 aliens have taken out naturalization papers as British subjects in Canada since the act went into force in 1902; between July 1, 1906, and December 31, 1907, 7,279 United States subjects were naturalized and 305 Japanese.

JEWESSES IN ENGLAND.
Are Foremost in Every Intellectual and Artistic Pursuit.

It is interesting to note that Jewish women in England have been among the foremost in every intellectual and artistic pursuit, while in domestic life they have always been recognized as pre-eminent. Many great London hostesses, many talented wives of English statesmen, are Jewesses, and in philanthropy their work is very valuable. 'The Jewess of stage and literature and life,' says a writer in 'The Lady's Realm,' 'has always commanded honor, esteem, admiration. Intellect she has, and esprit, and as for chic, says Zangwill, your Yiddish girl possesses it in a degree which among Christians is the birthright of a few actresses and music hall artists—themselves probably of Semitic origin. And more than probably in the case of Madame Rachel, who began by selling oranges and singing at cafes, and ended by being feuded right royally even at the Imperial Palace, Petersburg, and also in the case of Sarah Bernhardt, for her stage brilliancy is probably due to the fact that she is Hebrew. Turning to Jewesses in our midst, the public does not often number among its favorites such a group of relatives as Miss Julia Neilson, Miss Hilda Hanbury (sister of the late Lily Hanbury), Eileen Kerin and Nora Kerin, the last named, who studied at Paris and Queen's College, Harley street, declaring to the writer that they were all stage-struck whilst still in the nursery, where they acted their own tiny plays. Not to mention Miss Maria Dainton and Ada Reeve, Mrs. Lewis Waller and Mrs. Clement Scott, Miss Irene Carrasco, Miss Vanbrugh and Violet Vanbrugh admit a Jewish strain, though far off; Mrs. Brown-Potter is the granddaughter of a Spanish Jewess. And here one may say again the Jewess of the stage is wholly good, for, like Caesar's wife, a Jewess must be above reproach.

'But if one were asked to name the virtue pre-eminently which Jew and Jewess exercise in their relation towards the world, it would be philanthropy or benevolence. Montefiore and Mocatta have been and are names almost synonymous with those words, and we know that the late Mrs. Sam Lewis did her millions, remembering that the Carmelite Order, Mrs. Vanbrugh and Violet Vanbrugh admit a Jewish strain, though far off; Mrs. Brown-Potter is the granddaughter of a Spanish Jewess. And here one may say again the Jewess of the stage is wholly good, for, like Caesar's wife, a Jewess must be above reproach.

Some Were Vaccinated.
Kingston, Oct. 31.—(To the Editor:—) In yesterday's issue I noticed Dr. Bell's belligerent move in taking advantage of a most unjust act, viz., compulsory vaccination. Vaccination is abominable to hundreds of our best citizens, many of whom have had sad experience. Hundreds of cases can be cited where the one vaccinated was the only victim of pox, small or chicken, or a loathsome disease caused by coming in contact with foul air emitted from a dirty sewer or cellar. Such places are not properly inspected. Prevention is better than cure, and if any of the disease exist, it is the careless negligence of the chairman of the board of health and his associates. A gentleman from Toronto who resided on Queen street north left our city disgusted, saying that if circumstances existed in Toronto such as he found here there would be a rebellion. The stretch on warm evenings from out-houses is terrific and has been the cause of much comment.

The nuisance ground out Division street is horrible. Horses, cows, pigs, dogs and cats lie unburied through the heat of summer and the stench is dreadful, and no doubt, germs come back on drivers, delivery rigs, horses, and on those who perform surgical operations on the dead animals. I am told cove's heads, with eyes, brains, guts, ears, etc., are boiled up and put in bologna and other sausage. I hope it is not so.

What Kingston needs is a thorough system of cleansing in cellars, sewers, out-houses, yards, etc. The idea of expecting Officer Timmerman to do all this work and put down the report in a three-cent scribbler. When, oh when, will Kingston get out of the rut in doing things so far behind the age? If you want a good laugh read the book containing Kingston's by-laws. It should be read in some of our five-cent theatres. It would certainly take. I hope Dr. Bell will act slowly and not close up our Collegiate or Colleges by forcing that abominable measure. If he does, I would advise him to get a velvet coat, for the college boys are well up in hazelogy.

There is such a disease as small-pox. The prevention of such a disease is cleanliness, not scratching the leg or arm and rubbing cow scab on. There is about as much sense in it as in carrying a chestnut in the pocket to cure rheumatism. In our city to-day there is the most intense suffering caused by vaccination, and there is no need of it, especially the compulsory part. This is a free country and the abuse of freedom will not be tolerated. Let those who wish to be operated on be accommodated but please do not urge those who stand opposed to such measures.—Yours truly, ANTI.

ARISTOCRATIC NUNS.
British Peerage Has Several Fair and Noble Reversals.
The Duke of Norfolk has two sisters who are nuns; Lady Minna Howland and Lady Etheldreda is a Sister of Charity. Lady Edith Fielding, sister to Lord Denbigh, is another Sister of Charity, and spends her days at a convent in Kiou-Kiang, which is in China, as his name indicates. The Lady Isabella, daughter of our Scotch-Italian peer, Lord Newburgh, is a nun in a French convent; and Lady Leopoldina Keppel in a nun of the Sacred Heart, in spite of the fact that she is sister of a Protestant peer, Lord Albemarle.

Then, Miss Mary and Miss Edith Clifford, sister of Lord Clifford of Chudleigh, are both nuns, as are Miss Cecily Arundell, sister to Lord Arundell, and Miss Leslie Porter, sister to Lord Darnley, Lord Fitzroy, who lives in Johannesburg, has two sisters who are nuns; three Misses Petre, sisters of Lord Petre, are nuns; Lord Herries has no fewer than four sisters who live in convents; and, as for Lord Trimingham an Irish peer and eighteenth baron, history seems uncertain as to whether four or five of his sisters are nuns, as several of these ladies have not been raised to the rank of baron's daughters. In by-gone days there were four sisters towards the veil, but most of these ladies are now no more.

A Laughing Philosopher.
The Earl of Sandwich, whose great-nephew has been sponsored by the German Emperor, was once described as a laughing philosopher. He is a man of parts, a musician, an architect, a connoisseur in art, and a great traveler. He has never married, but shows a marked liking for children, and keeps about a hundred, mostly the sons of soldiers, in a house on an estate, called St. Edward's Home. At the time of the Boer War he turned his country place, Hinchingsbrooke, into a convalescent hospital for wounded officers. The humorous side of his nature is sometimes shown in a curious fashion. For instance, during the bicycle craze, he used to walk about the streets of Huntingdon on a bicycle bell, which he rang incessantly in order to warn unwary pedestrians of his possible danger. For his charitable deeds he has received from King Edward the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

The State and the Crystal Palace.
A movement has been organized to obtain state aid for the Crystal Palace. The Lord Mayor has taken the matter in hand, and a public meeting is to be held to consider the project. It is stated that an initial grant of £100,000 and an annual subsidy of £12,000 would be required. The Crystal Palace, which has labored under financial difficulties for some years, is considered to be a national institution, and Lord Brassey, among others, favors a Government grant.

London on Canvas.
By permission of Archbishop Bourne, Mr. Louis Weirer, R.B.A., has converted the top of the lofty campanile of Westminster Cathedral into a sort of studio, from which he is painting an immense picture of London, measuring 20 feet by 12 feet, as seen from that lofty viewpoint.

Some Were Vaccinated.
Kingston, Oct. 31.—(To the Editor:—) It is stated that every case of small-pox so far, in this city, has been among unvaccinated persons, and this being used as an argument in favor of vaccination, I desire to take objection to this statement and to assure the public that vaccinated persons have not only been among the patients who have had small-pox but have really been the worst cases of the city had to care for in the present scare. I don't think it fair to attribute such a statement to Dr. Bell, who knows too well that it is true, and is above lending himself to such a misleading statement in order to make out a case on false pretenses for vaccination. For two months I acted as constable at the isolation hospital and was daily in contact with its patients during that time and I assure you that I saw vaccinated patients there with small-pox. I was not vaccinated, nor was my successor, and yet neither of us caught the disease.—C. WHITE, 177 Alfred street.
