A Minister's Experience. White Head, N.S., Nov. 9.—Rev. Dr. Smith had a very trying time with chronic catarrh, but he is quite well again, having used Catarrhzone. Although his throat and nose were inflamed and stuffed up, the soreness has disappeared and to-day there isn't the slightest sign of his former trouble. Practically every minister, teacher and public speaker in this locality now uses Catarrhzone, which is guaranteed to cure all throat troubles, bronchitis and catarrh. The large dollar package of Catarrhzone lasts two months—very economical; sample size, 25c. Better use Catarrhzone yourself.

AGAINST FALSE PRETENCE. The Whig does not object to well-intentioned friendship—has not failed to meet it more than half way—but it has a contempt for false pretences from a quarter which, with the exception of a few years, has been markedly, irrationally, hostile. There has been no improvement under the latest change, but a striking change from the good feeling maintained during the proprietorship of Mr. Newton. A recent article professing fairness on the part of the Standard is most unfair, showing that, if the writer was sincere, he is unfortunate in being incapable of the very feeling he proclaims. His extraordinary estimate of the villainess of the Whig is not a close secret. It was a bad case of prejudice even before he entered upon a direct personal opposition.

The Standard declares that the member of its staff who telegraphed away the exaggerated news of small-pox, before the Board of Health, to the detriment of two local industries, had done nothing more than the Whig itself was guilty of. That is a positive mis-statement, all the more misleading and unjust because surrounded by professions of good intentions. The Whig did not mention any family, or business, or concentrate attention upon any one; none of its staff sent messages off to other cities, mentioning industrial establishments. Yet the Standard staff well knows that one of those who has had cases in his place of active business has been the most persistent abuser of the Whig and its manager the city has produced. The Whig had some charity for an opponent; the atmosphere of the Standard has none of that feeling to spare.

The chief desire of the rival paper on Friday was to discredit the Whig for reporting the small-pox situation. A deputation of the Board of Trade requested the papers to stifle references to the disease, to protect business. The Whig replied that it had kept silent for several years during the existence of the disease, that the public judged it lightly, mingled with families infected altogether too freely, and that it had been censured by a member of the Board of Health for not creating a sentiment of caution and danger, thus contributing to its spread. Silence was conceived to be its mistaken policy. The Standard, in its desire to be popular, conceded the point to the traders, but made a trade of it, to help itself to the prejudice of the Whig. It printed an article upon its duty to local business, and circulated it by letter also among those who advertise. A foul epidemic was not too repulsive a subject. The incident would, however, have been passed without notice, were it not for its professions of kindness and the justification of a speech sent for circulation in a large city and on trains, a damage far greater than local publication.

It is conceded that papers can live in Kingston—and tolerate bankrupt prices; they can resent unfair offers for advertising without breaking compact, as a certain paper has done, in at least two cases, destroying confidence in its pledges; the world is large and many are out of employment, so that it is not necessary to approach at least seven of the staff of a rival, even chasing after a canvasser at a distance to take him away by a larger offer. Papers can be built up without the practice of supplanting rivals by methods all professions despise.

The matter of the telegram to the Gazette is one that must be followed up in the plainest defence of industrial safety here. On Monday at the board of health two members moved that the matter of two large places, much frequented, should be left to the medical health officer to deal with as he saw fit. There had been three affected persons within them, as there had been in two other places open to the public before this. Cases had also been in vehicles of travel. No telegram was sent out regarding any of these outbreaks, or regarding meetings of the board of health. On Wednesday two reports came in respecting the locomotive works and the Whig, but no infected person had been in either establishment. The two members who had simply referred actual infection on Monday, on Wednesday advocated the closing of the works and of the Whig office, though the closing of the latter would be a loss of circulation and value that it would take many years to overcome, and then after a loss of thousands of dollars; circulation is not to be trifled with. How is it possible, but to be alarmed over a board possessing extraordinary power which it can exercise summarily when such inconsistent proposals are made to be echoed abroad? One of the proposers is on the council of the board of trade, and must have a knowledge of the protection due to business. Further, this member kept his own office open when his partner was in quarantine, because of an actual case at home. For the Whig to be placarded in a distant general newspaper under double head lines, to be the victim of the first telegram sent out, when so little deserved, was an unwarrantable attack, and if only as a matter of precaution, cannot be overlooked.

THE ANNUAL RACES OF THE Y.M.C.A. HELD ON THE HOLIDAY.

Four Races Were Puled Off in Series of Two—A Good Lunch Provided After the Lively Contests.

Commencing at 9 a.m., the Harrier Club ran off their annual races, which were a huge success. Four races were run in two. Senior and junior school boys ran together, and senior and intermediate, each department having its own prize list. The results by departments follows: Junior school boys, 1st, E. Fleming; 2nd, W. Paul; 3rd, W. Cook; 4th, W. Edgar; 5th, B. Donald; 6th, G. McBroom. The cake, given for the smallest boy to finish, was won by G. McBroom. Senior school boys' race was hotly contested, and fast time was made, the course being out Princess to aimed, to Union being out Y.M.C.A. The winner was "Ben." Franklin, closely followed by H. Donnelly, and A. Cook. Time, 9:30; distance, 1 1/2 miles. After the race, the boys sat down to a dainty lunch, provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary and the prizes were presented.

At ten o'clock the seniors and intermediates were sent away (this being a handicap), the course being Barrie to Bath road to Kingston to Y.M.C.A. and returned as follows: Senior, A. Sinclair, 4 min.; handicap, time, 33 min.; T. Bucknell, 4 min., 34 1/2 min.; A. Woodrow, 4 min., 34 1/2 min.; R. Day, 21 min., 32 1/2 min.; L. Marshand, 24 min., 33 min.; J. d'Estree, 1 min., 34 1/2 min. Time prize won by K. Day, 32 1/2 min. The intermediate results follow: L. LaRush ran a fine race and set a mark that will take some beating. He ran from scratch and finished in 30 min. 4-5 sec; distance, five miles; Gordon Fleming ran a good race and finished in 32 1/2 min.; Ray Marshand being third.

After a bath and swim in the plunge the men sat down to a lunch that the Ladies' Auxiliary had set in the parlour. After having satisfied the inner man the prizes were presented and speeches given by E. P. Jenkins, Capt. "Jack" d'Estree, President Frank Kinnear. The winner, A. Sinclair; R. Day (winner time prize), and Physical Director Thompson and others, the gathering dispersed with cheers for the Harrier Club and ladies.

Fine Basketball Game. Albert College, Belleville, and Y.M.C.A. intermediates had a "dandy" basket ball game on Monday night. It was one of the best games ever put on the local floor. The local team, though somewhat lighter than the college boys, were in better condition and this, with some fast work, was responsible for the victory. At half time the score was 17 to 18 in favor of College, who played a very clean game. From this time on play was very close and condition told as the game progressed and the final score, Y.M.C.A. 33, Albert College 26. The local team was Meek, Gilbert, McCartney, McCormack, McCullagh (captain). After the game the visitors were the guests of the local boys at dinner and the boys left for home on the midnight train highly pleased with their visit to Kingston. The local boys play them a return game in the near future.

RACED FROM A STORE With Bottle of Liquor, But Was Caught. A rather daring theft, with an amusing finish, occurred on Brook street about ten o'clock this morning. A well-known resident, no stranger to the police, walked into a liquor store and in some way procured a bottle of spirits and made a dash down the street. He had only succeeded in getting a few yards when two clerks dashed out after him closely followed by the proprietor.

The thief was caught near Ontario street and brought back to the store. He made one or two desperate attempts to get away but his captors held on to him. When he was taken into the store he confessed, returned the goods and was allowed his liberty.

To Appoint Vicar. On Wednesday night a meeting will be held in St. James' church, to form a committee to select a vicar. This action is taken owing to the illness of Archdeacon Macmorine, who will continue to be rector, but who will be relieved from active duty.

Returns To Kingston. Miss Anna McGrade, pianist, at the Bijou Theatre, Watertown, N.Y., arrived home on Saturday. She has accepted the same position at the Princess Theatre. She is recognized as an accomplished musician.

"Phone 230" for drug store wants. Gibson's Red Cross Drug Store has prompt delivery.
