ARGUMENT CONTINUED BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT OF CANADA.

In Case of Copeland Chatterton vs. Business Systems Ltd.—What is Charged Against the Defendants. Ottawa, Nov. 11.—In the supreme court to-day the argument in the Copeland, Chatterton & Co. vs. Business Systems, limited, was continued. The Copeland, Chatterton Co. were plaintiffs, and their action alleged that the defendants, other than respondents, had been in their employment and while so entered into a conspiracy with a rival company, had induced other employees to break their contracts with the plaintiff, had induced customers to do likewise, had taken from the plaintiff, promissory notes, checks, bills and other things manufactured by the latter and had carried off a lot of tools belonging to the plaintiffs. At the trial the plaintiffs obtained judgment against the defendants, and entered into a conspiracy and enjoining them from communicating any of the private business of the plaintiffs' company, from further publication of the prospectus, from soliciting agents or servants of the company to break their contracts of employment, and declaring that the tools in question belonged to plaintiffs and the forms had been wrongfully taken from their premises. A conference was ordered to assess damages. A court of appeal reversed the judgment and declared that the tools belonged to one of the defendants. The injunction was set aside on the ground that the actions enjoined had ceased and were not likely to be repeated.

A GOOD STOMACH Means Good Health, Cheerfulness, Ambition, Persistency and Success. Mi-o-na will cure your dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble by building up the flabby walls and making the stomach so strong that it will digest food without pepsin or other artificial aid. In other words, Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia by removing the cause. G. W. Mahood is the agent for Mi-o-na in Kingston, and he says to every reader of the British Whig who suffers from indigestion, that Mi-o-na is guaranteed to cure or money back. The price is only 50 cents a large box, and one box is all you need to prove that you are on the right road to health and happiness. George Lindner, corner Mill and Park streets, Elmira, Ont., says: "For about ten years I have been severely troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that I could not retain my food after eating. I could not eat meat, or scarcely anything and had headaches and constipation. I secured a package of Mi-o-na with the result that now after having taken two boxes I am entirely cured and can eat anything, digest perfectly and am selling fine Mi-o-na also overcome my constipation. I am only too glad to publicly endorse and recommend Mi-o-na."

CHATEAU RIDEAU TO BE NAME OF KINGSTON'S NEW HOTEL.

Plans and Model on View—The Proposed Structure Will Be the Most Unique on the Whole Continent. Many citizens to-day viewed the plans and large plaster model of the proposed hotel, to be erected on the site of the present Martello tower in Macdonald Park, on exhibition in the store next to the Whig office, and in charge of Dr. R. Dupuis, of Boston, representing capitalists, and J. Palmer Graves, the celebrated Chicago architect, of the firm of Graves & Wade. Everybody who viewed the exhibit was delighted with it.

The proposed hotel will cost half a million dollars. "It will be the finest hotel in Canada," Mr. Graves said to a Whig representative. "Hotel men of large cities, including Montreal, have seen the plans, and say that Kingston will indeed be fortunate in having such a fine hotel. It will be a much finer place than the Chateau Frontenac of Quebec."

The name chosen is "The Chateau Rideau," as the planned structure is of the old French chateau type of architecture. The view both from the harbor and Barris and King streets is decidedly grand. There will be no verandahs; terraces will be used for promenade. The chateau is in the form of a semi-circle, the open portion facing King and Barrie streets. It will be built of rough limestone. A round tower is on every corner of it. The capacity is 300 rooms. A number of special suites for distinguished visitors are provided. The interior is very elaborate.

Besides the plans and model, there are water color sketches of the proposed chateau, the park and vicinity. An elaborate prospectus is also in course of preparation. Every one interested should view the exhibit, as the ratepayers will perhaps soon be called upon to vote upon certain conditions which the city council will present to them. Should Kingston deal well with the men, this city will without doubt have one of the finest and most unique hotels on the continent. There are a couple in France somewhat similar. The exhibit will be on view for several days.

MONARCHS ARE ABSTAINERS. Prince of Wales Has Signed Pledge.

London, Nov. 11.—In quietly joining the ranks of total abstinence the Prince of Wales has again emphasized the fact that abstemiousness constitutes, to-day, the proclaimed note at every one of the royal and imperial courts of the old world, and the rulers who now occupy the thrones of Europe are as distinguished for their temperance as their predecessors were the reverse. No one has done more to promote the cause of temperance in England than King Edward, and although he is not a total abstainer, yet he is a very sparing drinker, and it is attributable to the social influence which he has exercised ever since his marriage, that upon English life, that inebriety has gone out of fashion, and that hard drinking is no longer countenanced by society. Intoxication is now regarded as being bad form in the banquetting halls of the peer as well as in the back parlor of the small shop-keeper, in the smoking-room of the crack London club, and in the cafe or bar-room of the suburban club or gin mill.

The old saying of "drunk as a lord" has no longer any meaning, thanks to King Edward, and I would recall to my readers the memorable letter written in his name by his private secretary, Lord Knollys, expressing the wish that the royal toasts, which are obligatory at military and naval messes, should be drunk with mineral waters, by all those of his officers who for one reason or another objected to alcohol. To-day the number of officers in the English army who are total abstainers is very large, and the battle of Omdurman, which crushed the Mahdi, and restored the Sudan from barbarism to civilization was won by a teetotal army.

King Alfonso of Spain, although the fact is not generally known, is a total abstainer; so too is Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, her mother, Queen Emma, as are also the two Queens of Sweden, and the King of Italy. Both the kaiser and the crown prince of Germany are so temperate that they might also be described as total abstainers, restricting themselves almost entirely to mineral waters, while the present czar has always been noted for an abstemiousness that is foreign to the character of his countrymen, and to the reputation of the members of the Imperial House of Romanoff. Yet, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, there was not a monarch of the old world who did not think it necessary to go to bed drunk.
