THE 5 P.M. EDITION

FORTY YEARS A RULER.

Celebrates Completion of That Period.

Bangkok, Nov. 13.—Yesterday was the beginning of the ceremony that marks the completion of the fortieth year of the reign of the King of Siam. A fine equestrian statue of bronze of the king was unveiled amid great rejoicing on the part of the people. The religious ceremony was followed by illuminations and a splendid pyrotechnic display.

Farmers' Rights Sustained.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 13.—The right of farmers to get possession of gravel in river beds adjoining their property is re-affirmed by the court of appeal in the case of William vs. Pickard and Aubrey. William, who owns a farm on the Thames river, claimed the river bed to the centre of the stream as his property and objected to the defendants removing sand and gravel. He got a decision from Justice Clute, at the Chatham assizes, but this decision was reversed at the divisional court at Toronto. On an appeal by A. H. Clark, of Windsor, the original judgment is restored, with costs.

LIVINGSTON'S

ROUND-UP BY POLICE

FOUR WERE ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF THEFT.

Accused of Entering House and Making Off With Goods—Solen Property Found in House Where Prisoners Were Living.

Late on Thursday afternoon Constables Craig, Driscoll and Filson paid a visit to a house near the corner of Bagot and Ordnance street, and placed under arrest Norman Staley, William Anderson, William Sullivan and Lawrence Marsh, on a charge of theft. On Monday evening the summer cottage of W. J. Wells, at Barriefield, was broken into, when a quantity of cutlery, bed clothing, linen and other household goods, valued at about $100, was carried off. A large quantity of the stolen goods was recovered in the house and taken to the police station. All the prisoners were remanded until Monday.

When the case was called in the police court this morning Lawrence Marsh was the first prisoner to be arraigned. He told the court that he was seventeen years of age. All the other prisoners are much older.

When asked about the robbery he said that he went to Mr. Wells' house with his brother, Albert Marsh. Albert was not arrested by the police. He said that his brother handed him the things out of the house and that later, when it was dark, they removed them to the house on Bagot street.

Anderson told the magistrate he had been "stumped," by Albert Marsh, to go to Mr. Wells' house. He admitted carrying groceries to the house on Bagot street, which he said was kept by the prisoner, Staley.

"I wasn't there at all," said Sullivan, when arraigned. The prisoner said that he had been working in the city, and had been staying at Staley's house. He came to Kingston about two months ago from Sharbot Lake, where his parents lived.

Mr. Wells was called, and told about his cottage being entered. Entrance had been secured by way of a window, which had been broken. Everything in the house had been turned topsy turvey. Witness identified the goods produced in court, as belonging to him.

Constable Craig told the story of the arrest. Staley was in the house when he arrived there with the other constables and Mr. Wells. He had secured a search warrant, and on entering the house Mr. Wells identified a quilt on a bed, as belonging to him. Staley said that the goods had been brought to the house by Marsh and Anderson and he did not know they were stolen. When first questioned, Anderson would not say that Staley was with them when the goods were stolen, but afterwards admitted this. Marsh also said that Staley was at the house when the goods were taken. Witness said that Sullivan could not be connected with the theft, but had been living at Staley's house.

Staley, the last to be arraigned, pleaded not guilty.

The police made the round-up in about one hour and a half. As Staley was the only one in the house at the time they called, they sat down and waited for the others. Anderson was the first to fall into their nets, Marsh followed and Sullivan was the last on the list. Albert Marsh, a brother of one of the prisoners, who is alleged to have had a hand in the case made good his escape.

It appears that Staley rented the house furnished, and the young men implicated in the case have been making their home there, keeping up bachelors' quarters. The house was fairly well fitted out, and a gas stove had been installed for cooking purposes.

She Marries Again.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 13.—R. B. Kesson, general manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, who is now in Toronto, attending a meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association, is to go from there to Montreal, where, on Friday, or Saturday, he will be married to Mrs. Whitlock, recently divorced from her husband, Jules T. Whitlock, the cashier of the St. Stephen's Bank, at St. Stephen. Mrs. Whitlock, before her marriage, was Miss Sisson, of Fredericton, and met her first husband while teaching school at St. Andrew's. Before coming to St. John as general manager of the bank, Mr. Kesson was manager at Montreal of the Bank of Ottawa.

The wedding announcement has caused something of a flutter in social circles.

Drowned In Shallow Water.

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 13.—While skating with a party of friends, last night, on Hudson Bay Slough, Alfred W. Harvey fell heavily on his head near an airhole, breaking through the ice and skidding for some distance beneath it.

Not knowing the depth of the water, which subsequently proved to be only two feet, his friends formed a chain, and after some ten minutes' distressing work, succeeded in getting the unfortunate man to the bank, by which time, however, it was too late.

Grand Duke Of Luxemburg.

Treves, Prussia, Nov. 13.—Grand Duke William Alexander of Luxemburg is sinking rapidly, and the chambers have decided to request his wife, the grand duchess, permanently to accept the regency, which she took over temporarily last April. One of the grand duke's sides is completely paralyzed, his power of speech is gone, and he is mentally incapable.

On Special Service.

David Murray, local manager of the Northern Crown Bank, after special service at the head office in Toronto, has been sent upon a mission to Winnipeg, to complete the details of the amalgamation of the Crown and Northern banks. He has won high confidence for skill in adjustments.

Signature In Gold.

The new patented device for lettering in gold, recently installed in George Mills & Co's big store, Princess street, is creating a lot of interest around the city. Your name, as you write it, can be printed in gold on hats, umbrellas and linings of fur coats, scarfs, etc. while you wait with no extra charge.

Will Not Be Strong Team.

The Yacht Club team will be weaker when it meets Brockville, Saturday morning than when it was defeated by Gananoque on Saturday last. Grimshaw, Crawford, Nelson and Shorey will not be available. The team will likely line up as follows: Nicholson, full-back; Dick, Dickson, Donnelly, halves; Moxley, quarter; Rescorla, Revells, Wilkinson, scrimmage; Evans, Strachan, inside wings; Graham H. Dick, middle wings; Bearance, Birch, outside wings. The officials have not yet been chosen for the game.

Called To Rest

The death of Mrs. Frank Kirkpatrick, widow of the much-loved rector of St. James' church, has called from a devoted circle one of the noblest of women—in kindness of heart and in wifely and motherly qualities. Throughout her illness anxious thoughts and good wishes have been centred upon her recovery, or, at least, for alleviation of suffering. Few are the memories that will be preserved as hers, without a break in the long-fragrance of a sweet-disposition life.

Work Of The Templars.

At the regular weekly session of the Hope of Kingston lodge, I.O.G.T., held in the Sons of England hall, last evening, J. Shearer, special deputy of the G.C.T., was admitted as an associate member of the lodge, and A. K. Keel and H. F. Norman were appointed to represent the lodge on the local committee of the Moral and Social Reform League. It was decided to institute an I.O.G.T. Juvenile Temple on Thursday, November 26th. The members have to pledge themselves to abstain from intoxicating drinks, tobacco, bad language, and gambling. The lodge will open its doors again to non-members on Thursday next at 9 p.m., when Rev. T. E. Burke will speak on "The Licensing Laws Of Ontario."
