EARLY DAY HARDSHIPS OF ARCHDEACON MACMORINE AS MISSIONARY

In Northern Ontario the Cause of His Breakdown in Health—He Did Great Work in Mission Fields.

With the retirement from parish duty of the Venerable Archdeacon John Kerr Macmorine, D.D., it is not alone a parish priest who will get a well-earned rest, but a live missionary as well. A Queen's man, or rather a Queen's boy, he matriculated at fourteen, the Rev. Prof. Ross being his tutor, took his bachelor's degree at seventeen, and his master's at eighteen. Mr. Macmorine began life as a Presbyterian, the son of the Rev. John and Mrs. Macmorine, both Scotch, and staunch members of a school elected to follow in his father's steps, and was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry with Douglas as his charge, and later the Presbyterian flock at Lanark was given to his care, and a faithful shepherd he was here, but gradually coming to feel the desire for Holy Orders as they are held by the Church of England, left the Presbyterian ministry and after study, was confirmed in the Anglican church and in due time raised to the priesthood. He was sent to Almonte and shortly after married Miss Edith Meyer, of Quebec, who was a true helpmate with him for many years.

For long, Mr. Macmorine had wished to become a missionary, and after eight years' work at Almonte he went to Port Arthur in 1877. That was before the days of the C.P.R., when mails were received but two or three times in the winter, being brought by dog-sleds from Duluth. Winter supplies had to be left in before the close of navigation, and other hardships were encountered. As a missionary, then a man of vigorous health, he walked about his parish in winter on snow shoes, a Brobdignagian pair, which were given him by an Indian chief, and which are valued trophies at St. James' rectory, and on his way he baptized, catechized, held services and often took the place of doctor and nurse. In this last, he was aided with not only great skill, but great unselfishness from Mrs. Macmorine. To go out into this missionary parish called for a walk of thirty miles in one day, a rest of a day, and a walk home on the third.

With quiet humor the archdeacon will tell of some of his Algoma experiences, but it is from others that one hears that he was offered while in the west "locum tenens" at St. George's, Ottawa, with the prospect of a good parish at its close. Mrs. Macmorine and her little children were in the east on a visit and the offer had been accepted, when wire news of the Port Arthur church and parsonage. At once the missionary's decision was made—he would stay in the west till both were rebuilt; and he did, the structures at present in use being raised, and when he came east in 1885, he left with only $60 of debt upon them. His recall to the east by the death of Rev. F. W. Kirkpatrick, and since May 21st, 1885, he has been St. James' revered rector, a preacher of force and deeply logical. He has the power of clothing his words in language graphic and poetic, and his sermons appeal alike to the imaginative practical. Needless to say his faithful exercise of a priestly office did not cease when he left the far fields of the west for the more comfortable surroundings of the poor and sick, shepherding both the sheep and the lamb of his fold with loving willingness.

While on missionary deputation work in the diocese, some few years after his return, he took a severe cold, which ended in a long illness. Then the hardships of earlier days told and chronic bronchitis was the outcome, a winter in the south in 1892 failing to ward it off.

Of his eight children, six are living, two of his sons being in priest's orders, and working in missionary dioceses, one in Rupert's Land, the other in Qu'Appelle. His eldest son, a brilliant lad standing well up in Trinity College, School, Port Hope, met with an accident by falling from a tree breaking his back. Some years as an invalid followed and in 1890 when his boyhood friends were graduating from Trinity College, he stepped up into the higher school of Paradise.

Archdeacon Macmorine is a man of rare gentleness of spirit, which in turn is speeded by a dry wit, so that as raconteur in conversation he is delightful, and in judgment is wise, and with all merciful. That he may long be

A Shining Mark.
What Parisian Sage did for Charles S. Baker it will do for you. Read the following:
"I was so bald and such a shining mark for my friends that I, as a last resort, tried your Parisian Sage (after trying several bottles of the highly advertised and high priced so-called hair restorer), and I am glad to say I now have a heavy growth of new hair. I am now forty-four years old and I have a heavy growth of new hair after carrying my shining mark for over seven years. I should recommend Parisian Sage to all afflicted with baldness." Charles S. Baker, 491 Main street east, Rochester, N.Y.

Parisian Sage, the only natural hair restorer, is guaranteed by G. W. Williams Financiers company, Toronto. It cures dandruff, stops falling hair, and cures itching of the scalp, or money back. It is the ladies favorite hair dressing, because it adds charm and luxuriance to the hair. 50c a bottle. Ask G. W. Williams about it.

READY FOR BATTLE THE ATHLETIC GROUNDS OF QUEEN'S.

Pronounced By Interprovincial Officials As One of the Best Gridirons in Canada—Excursions From Ottawa and Hamilton.

Everything was in readiness at ten o'clock this morning for the big rugby battle. On Friday afternoon, Mr. Davidson and W. Hagar, of Montreal, visited Queen's Athletic grounds, and both men were more than satisfied. They stated that the field was one of the best gridirons in Canada, and no team had cause for kick. A few things were changed on the field and made as Mr. Davidson wished them. "Alfie" Pierce had the field marked out and everything put in its proper place. Hamilton arrived in the city on Friday night and are at the British-American. They are a sturdy looking bunch and full of confidence of victory. Inside of the Hamilton players are very badly injured, and although the line-up could not be obtained, the team will likely be the same as was defeated in the capital on Saturday last.

Ottawa arrived here at noon, surrounded by about six hundred supporters. The special train came over the Grand Trunk from Brockville, and picked up a number of sports at the different stations.

The special train carrying the Hamilton contingent also arrived about 12:30 o'clock. This excursion numbered over four hundred.

Hamilton Tigers will line up as follows against Ottawa: Tope, full back; Simpson, left half; Burton or Biggs, centre half; Moore, right half; Ballard, quarter; Craig, McCarthy, Buckholder, scrum; Barron, Gray, inside wings; Isbester, Wigg, middle wings; Marriott, Lotus, outside wings. Philip McKenzie, Montreal, will referee and F. McMaster, of Montreal, will be umpire.

Dr. Thompson, manager of the Tigers, was wearing a happy smile this morning and was quite confident that his Tigers would win.

All-Intercollegiate Team.
Rev. Father Stanton, coach of the Ottawa College team, selects the following line-up as a representative all-Intercollegiate team, and makes the daring claim that this all-star aggregation would very probably beat an all-Rig Four team. Father Stanton further states the back line could not be improved upon, even with the very pick of the interprovincial half-backs.

His team consists of these players: Full back, Williams (Queen's); half-backs, Macdonald (Queen's), Lawson (Varsity), Corkery (Ottawa); quarter, Dean (Ottawa); outside wings, Elliott (Queen's), Black (McGill); middle wings, Smith (Ottawa), Lee (Varsity); inside wings, Gilmore (McGill), Harrington (Ottawa); scrum, Ritchie (Varsity), Hume (Varsity), Gibson (Queen's).

Magill, H. J. McIntyre, R. R. Simpson, E. J. Kelly, Hamilton; Sir William Stell, Stony Creek.

An Important Visit.
It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see samples of the latest Parisian and New York styles in hair goods; therefore, it will pay everyone to visit Prof. Dorewend's private parlor at the Randolph hotel on Saturday, November 28th. His parlor styles are now worn by over 90,000 people of all classes. They are securely adjusted, undetectable and can be combed just as your own hair. Every lady and gentleman is invited to see the samples on the date above mentioned.

OTTAWA IS RUGBY CRAZY.

Result of the Big Game Awaited With Anxiety.

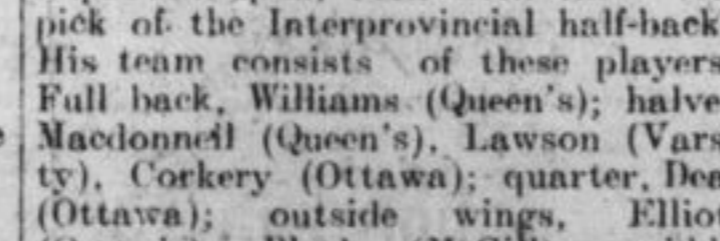

An Ottawa special to the Whig says: The capital is football crazy to-day. Two large excursions, one by C.P.R. and the other by G.T.R., left this morning. In one special car were eighteen players of the Ottawa football team, and also all the officers, several from the city hall, and scores from stores and factories asked off to take in the big game. The expectation is that Ottawa will win by a few points and both Ottawa and Montreal money has been laid in this direction to a large extent.

The team had a private signal practise at the Ottawa Athletic association rooms last night, and King-Clancy himself expressed himself as well satisfied with the results. The line-up will be about the same as last Saturday.

It is expected here that whichever team wins the final game for the Dominion championship with Queen's, in all probability will be at Kingston as there was some understanding last year that the Dominion championship contest should be held at the town where the winning collegiate team resided.

Very special preparations are under way here. The papers are issuing extras. Telegraph instruments have been placed in their offices and also those of the Two Maces, the largest clothing houses in the city, and the details of the game as it progresses are being posted there this afternoon. Between 250 and 300 left on the special this morning for Kingston, to witness the game. The crowd was as large as it was anticipated would be. "Jack" Ryan went with the team and will play this afternoon. "King" Clancy said: "I expect one of the hardest struggles that have ever marked a championship match, but I think Ottawa can win out." It has been finally decided that Allan Powell will play full-back, "Jack" Williams being at centre half, with McCann and Hal Kennedy on either side of him. Kilt will hold down quarter position, and the wings will be Ryan, Aylmer, and Binney, Church, Vaughan and Stronach, George Kennedy, "Doc" Sheriff, and either "Eddie" Phillips or "Pete" Ferguson will be in the scrum. Ferguson's hip is still troubling him. "The team is the strongest that Ottawa has put on the gridiron in years."

A COMING EVENT.
Montreal's Favorite Singer Here Monday Night.

WILLIAM EVA.

William Eva, tenor vocalist soloist of St. Paul's, Montreal, recently of St. James' Methodist church, Montreal, will sing at an organ and vocal recital, to be given in Sydenham street Methodist church on Monday evening next, at 8:30 o'clock. Mr. Eva is Montreal's favorite tenor, and always attracts a large audience. Mrs. Andrews will be soprano soloist and Prof. James Small will preside at the organ. A varied and attractive programme has been arranged. Mr. Eva will also sing at both services on Sunday.
