In Convocation Hall, the first of series of addresses to be delivered before Queen's Historical Society, was given by Prof. Wrong, on Friday night. Members of the society turned out in large numbers, and there was quite a good pitendance of the general public. Prof. Wrot.; gave a most interesting address on history, his remarks being listened to with keen interest. Principal Gordon presided during the even-

During his lecture, Prof. Wrong days. It was far easier now to get at pointed out in a very interesting manner the deeper and broader meaning of the word history.

A most important part of the question was to inquire into the qualities of for himself. It required generation after generation, before man could build a house. There was nothing that could be compared with the strength of the human hand. The hand was one of the greatest endowments with which man. Man came into the world with the greatest endowments with which man started out with in life. Man had many powers which the lower of animals had not. He had great capacities and high hopes. And could we get any meaning of history in this respect History was the development of man's capacity. He began life, with the out-look of a child, with everything to learn. The problem was very hard to grasp. Man, as we know him to-day, made great development. There should be study of man's past, and it was for the university to make the truth clear.

At the close of the address, Mr. Mc-

Arthur moved a hearty vote of thanks to Prof. Wrong, which was carried by a unanimous vote. Mr. McArthur stated that it was the intention of the society to have several addresses, and that of a yearly historical publication. Principal Gordon said that Canada offered an attractive field for history In this respect Canada held rather an

Prof. Morison spoke briefly, extend ing thanks to Principal Gordon, for presiding at the meeting. Touching up-on local history, he said that he deeply regretted the fact that a Martello tower sixty years old, would have to be torn down, to make way for an hotel.

Moth As A Firebug.

Moths and flames are universally connected, yet few people suspect that danger could arise therefrom. The insects are of such frail structure that generally they get destroyed before it is possible for them to inflict injury, and it is hardly creditable that the wings would ignite and retain the flame long enough posed that they were in the building to enable the moth to fly to its sur- when the doors were closed at 2 o'clock

Apparently the thieves were to one wing and darted on to a curtain watching the watchmen and so connear by, which at once flared up. It is trived to elude them, possible that many summer evening fires in the country could be attributed to a source of this kind. It is notorious that mysterious fires often arise at sunset in the hot months.

ING BURGLARS.

Nothing But Precious Stones Appeals to the Cupidity of Band of Thieves.

London, Nov. 14-One of the most laring jewel robberies of recent years ook place during the week-end, when at least $20,000 of gems was stolen, lespite watchmen, strong-rooms, and ourglar-proof safes, from the premises of Messrs, Debenham and Freebody, in Wigmore street.

The burglary was discovered by a ireman who came on duty at nine clock on Thursday night. He noticed that one of the backdoors of the building in Mill Hill place had been forced open from the inside. He surried to the strong-room. The door of that also stood open, and within was imple evidence that the place had been
