

If You Want To Know What "An Easy Shave" Feels Like, Use the "New Process" Blades

NO doubt you thought perfection had been reached when you shaved with the Gillette Safety Razor and the usual Gillette Blade. We thought so, too—at first. But four years ago, we started out to make a better blade. That was a big undertaking.

First of all, we were then using the hardest steel that the greatest steel makers in the world could produce. We set experts at work to create a new steel, that would take a keener shaving edge than had yet been possible and still be rolled as thin as a sheet of paper.

It took nearly three years before our steel experts perfected the formula for this superfine steel.

Then the tempering process had to be regulated to give increased hardness to the steel. And finally, automatically regulated machines had to sharpen the blades on both sides with unswerving precision.

All this was accomplished in four years. To-day, we offer you, in "New Process" Blades, the keenest, most durable razor edge that the world has ever known.

If you want to realize what a real easy shave feels like-if you want to enjoy, to the full, the supreme luxury of an absolutely smooth, comfortable shave-get a box of "New Process" Blades on your way home and shave with one in the morning.

"New Process" Blades are put up in handsome nickel-boxes, which hermatically seal themselves when closed-and which make convenient match-boxes when empty. 12 "New Process"
