BEAVER COLLIERIES TO BE OPENED IN CROW'S NEST DISTRICT.

They Will Rival the Famous Crow's Nest Coal Company Collieries at Ferme and Michel—Description of the Property.

Pineher Creek, Alta., Nov. 17.—The citizens of this town and the adjoining neighborhood have for several years been using, when they could obtain them, the coals from a mine about five miles west of here, known formerly as the Mill Creek Mine, now more generally known as the Beaver Collieries. The coals from this property are peculiarly adapted for domestic purposes, and are very much sought after by our people, as they burn with a clear flame, giving out very little smoke, producing no soot in the pipes and chimneys, and lasting very much longer than any of the other coals produced in this district. So much were the coals from what are now known as the Beaver Collieries preferred, that the coals from the Crow's Nest Coal mines and the Lethbridge coal mines could not be sold in competition against them, even though they were sold at 50 cents less per ton. The property referred to has fallen into the hands of the Western Oil and Coal Consolidated, a concern that has been operating very largely in the oil field south of here. They have acquired about 7,000 acres of these coal lands and are now opening up the collieries to put them on a basis of one thousand or twelve hundred tons per day. The property is situated about six miles immediately south of Cowley, and about ten miles south-east from the Crow's Nest Pass. In a report made last February, Frank B. Smith, E. M. and B. Sc., Inspector of coal mines for the Dominion government, estimates that the Beaver collieries will produce over 72,000,000 tons of marketable coal. The company recently acquired the services of Professor John Bonsor Porter, C.E., and D.Sc., principal of the mining department of McGill University, Montreal, who is reputed to be the best coal expert in Eastern Canada. Prof. Porter has just completed his investigation and it is learned that his report is in every way satisfactory and practically confirms the report made by Frank B. Smith, who is probably the best informed coal man in the west. These experts estimate the minimum amount of coal to be over seventy millions of tons, and the facilities for cheap mining are exceptional. The present total output of all the Crow's Nest Collieries is a little over ten thousand tons per day. Some idea may be gained of the enormous deposits of coal on the Beaver Collieries, when it is shown that there is sufficient coal on these lands to produce as much as the present total tonnage of the whole Crow's Nest district. Prof. Porter estimates that the tonnage might exceed the present estimates by more than a third. The coal is of the highest grade of bituminous coals, and is most eagerly sought after by the railway companies for steaming purposes, but it is probable that when its qualities are more generally known it will be greatly in demand for domestic purposes. The development of this very valuable property in the vicinity of Pineher Creek, adds another element to the progress of the town, as all the supplies for the new collieries will, undoubtedly, be purchased at this point and it is expected that the company will make railway connection with Pineher Creek town. There is a marked railway extension and development of the great west, and the opening up of varied manufacturing industries in the middle west and far west of Canada, and the United States, have created and are making a demand for fuel which will tax all the colliery companies to their utmost limit of production for a good number of years to come. The wealth of Alberta as a province is scarcely appreciated by the people of the east. This town is in the centre of one of the finest agricultural districts of Western Canada. It has for many years held a prominent position as a ranching centre, the oil industry is attracting attention from all parts of the continent, the coal is of the very highest grade of bituminous coal, suitable for steaming, domestic and cooking purposes, and lying adjacent to the coal fields are some of the richest deposits of iron ore to be found anywhere in the west. Alberta, particularly the southern part, will in a few years be one great hive of varied industries.

One On The Jury. When Ella Van Dross, a young colored girl, was tried before Judge Rosalby in general sessions on the charge that, when Joseph Kavatt, a white man from Yonkers, asked her in the hall of 249 Second avenue whether the Joneses lived on the floor above, she stealthily removed a pocket-book containing $10 from his pocket, the jury deliberated only a few minutes, and then returned with their verdict. The girl, much disturbed, was led to the bar. The foreman rose. "We find the defendant not guilty," he said. As the late prisoner was turning to leave court, Judge Rosalby called out: "One moment, Ella. Be careful not to let any suspicion fall on you," whether you are innocent this time or not.

Oh, judge," said the girl, "Ah novah done it befoh, an' I de Lord Ah novah will again." The jury looked amazed. "That's one on you, gentlemen," remarked the judge, and all the court room laughed.

PRESENTATIONS MADE To Rev. W. J. and Mrs. McQuarrie Pittsburg.

Last Tuesday evening a jolly party of the young people of St. John's congregation, Pittsburg, gathered at the manse to pay their respects to Rev. W. J. and Mrs. McQuarrie, who expect to leave for the west in a short time. That Mr. and Mrs. McQuarrie's labors have been highly appreciated was clearly shown by the spirit of those present. Miss A. McAdoo read an address to Mr. and Mrs. McQuarrie, expressive of the love and esteem of the whole congregation and the sincere regret which they all feel in view of the approaching separation. The address concluded with an earnest desire that Mr. McQuarrie would withdraw his resignation but if he must go they wished them both God-speed. During the reading of the address Miss F. Weir stepped forward and presented Mr. and Mrs. McQuarrie each with a purse of gold. Mr. McQuarrie, on behalf of himself and his wife, thanked the congregation for their new tokens of what has been unflinching kindness. Mrs. McQuarrie and himself felt that they were not their own but were at the disposal of an all-wise father, whose will was law to them, whether it brought them into heaven or lighter fields of labor. It mattered little to them, they could go confident that "Wherever I be Still 'Tis God's hand that ledeeth me." In conclusion he again thanked the friends who had so liberally expressed their esteem. Refreshments were then served after which the event was brought to a close by singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."
