"Its Only a Cold, A Trifling Cough."

Thousands have said this when they caught cold. Thousands have neglected to cure the cold. Thousands have filled a Consumptive grave through neglect. Never neglect a cough or cold. It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, inflamed. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the very foundation of all throat or lung complaints, relieving or curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. It contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other potent remedies. It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily discharge the morbid accumulations. Don't be humbugged into accepting an imitation of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

"Mrs. J. Brewster, Grafton, N.S., writes: 'Two winters ago I suffered severely with a very bad cold and asthma. I was so bad I could not get my breath, and very often thought I would choke. My husband became very much frightened, and got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and it gave me almost instant relief. I can recommend it to anyone having the least kind of a cold.'

CALLED HIM "PAPPA"
MRS. CHARLES HESSMAN TRACED HER SPOUSE.

New Yorker Lived With Wife No. 1 From 4 to 6.30 p.m., and With Wife No. 2 From 6.30 p.m. to 8 a.m.

New York, Nov. 18.—It was with shrewdness and a careful regard to the warning of the clock that Charles Hessman, lived his double life—with one wife and seven children at No. 419 Twelfth street, West New York; with the other and six children at No. 607 Henderson street, Jersey City.

When seen at her home by a reporter, Mrs. Charles Hessman, No. 1, gave her side of the story. "My husband is a good-for-nothing, never-do-well, and I shall do my best to have him put away," she said, sternly. "He never has been any good, either to myself or to the children. It's hard on me, of course, but I could bear it if it were not for my poor little ones."

"I have been married to Charles Hessman for twenty-six years, and have had fifteen children by him, seven of whom are living. I think I have done my duty by him, and I have been a good mother to my children."

"Even though I have suffered through this affliction of his, my sympathies are more with her than him."

"Twelve years ago Bella Stanton, who is the woman my husband has been living with, was in my employ as kitchen-maid. I had my suspicions then, and, in fact, two children were born while she was still in my employ. However, nothing could be proved, and I suffered in silence."

"About a year ago my suspicions were again aroused, and this time I had my husband trailed. He was fairly caught by a man whom I employ, and a few days later by my own self. I trapped him, and he, in a fit of rage, beat me terribly. I had him arrested, but he pleaded so hard for forgiveness and made such beautiful promises that I released—most foolishly, as I now see."

"Two days ago I saw him go into a flat, where several little children ran out and kissed him, calling him 'pappa.'"

"My husband is in debt to the extent of at least three thousand dollars, and lately he has taken to drink and violence, and was so fallen that he would take the few stray pennies and nickels from the hands of his own little ones, who often went hungry."

"Before I married Hessman I ran a restaurant in Park Row, and also for some time after I was married. I made a more than comfortable income, so that then my husband's extravagance troubled me little."

"Whitehead Reid and Chauncey Dewey would drop into my restaurant to sample my cooking—and they liked it too."

"Mrs. Hessman is not vindictive toward her rival to her husband's salary and affections, but rather pities her and the unfortunate children by the other woman."

"He's had fifteen of his own," she said. "Goodness knows what he wanted more for."

"Mrs. Hessman is a gray-haired, motherly woman with a pleasant smile and pleasing manner. She is a little in striking contrast to her little Mrs. Stanton, Hessman's second wife. She is a frail, patient-faced woman, with apparently no will of her own."

"When seen at her home yesterday she had no defence to make for herself. She plea, save the six little ones standing around her."

"My husband was always good and kind to me," she said. "I love him and so do the children. He is our best friend. He used to spend his evenings with me, and that is why his wife became suspicious."

"I love his children and I was perfectly willing to see him when he could see me and ask no questions. It is my belief that Mrs. Hessman doesn't care about what her husband has done, or whether he is punished or not. She simply wants to deprive me of my little happiness and my only treasures—my children."

"We were such a happy family until she broke us up. I was doing no harm. I loved him more than she."

FIGHTS TO REGAIN SON.
Came to New Life After Change of Ownership.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—There is a very strange case now before the Montreal courts and one that is being followed not only by the public at large but by the colony of spiritualists in the city.

It appears that one Madame Dickson, when she thought she was going to die, gave her little son, Joseph over to a woman named Madame Cleophas Mercier, a well-known French spirit medium. Madame Dickson recovered, however, and has applied for a writ of habeas corpus to recover the child. She alleges that her boy is being brought up in the religion of the spirits and she objects to all this. Madame Dickson claims that her son is being taught that he is the child of Madame Mercier, the head of the spirit band in her locality.

It appears that the boy is told that he died and that his soul entered Mrs. Mercier, and she transmitted it to life again, all of which is scandalous to the real mother and to the people generally of the Catholic faith.

ALMOST REPAIRED.
Good Progress in Filling Gaps at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 19.—The work of repairing the gap in the Cornwall Canal above lock 18, which was carried away on June 23rd, wrecking the O. and N. Y. swing bridge, is about completed. At least the gap has been filled by a solid concrete wall, 200 feet long, 20 feet wide at the bottom, three feet wide at the top, and 30 feet from top to bottom. This wall is being reinforced on the outside by a bank of earth and stones, which will be between 10 and 20 feet wide at the top. The stone used to weigh down the coffer dam built around the break under the superintendency of Mr. J. L. Weller, of St. Catharines, immediately after the accident, will be deposited outside the concrete wall. Into this wall a concrete pier 13 feet in diameter and rising 24 feet above the canal, has been built, for the O. and N. Y. swing bridge, which will be in place in a couple of months.

BANK CLERK'S SUICIDE.
Body of Leon Renaud Found in Lake St. Peter.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—The body of a young bank clerk named Leon Renaud was found floating in Lake St. Peter. The case of young Renaud was a most mysterious one and aroused the keenest interest.

Some time about the end of August he got into an altercation with a fellow clerk in the City & District Savings Bank and was struck in the face by his fellow-employee. Renaud, at once put down his pen and left the bank and was never again seen alive.

It is supposed that in a violent fit of mortification at the indignity he had received he threw himself into the river. The exact cause of his rash act will probably never be known. His body was lately decomposed, and was identified by means of a bank book in one of his pockets.

Where The Marks Were.
"Prisoner," said the judge, "you say your wife hit you on the head with a plate. Is that so?" "Yes, sir," answered the prisoner. "But," said the judge, "your head doesn't show any marks of any kind." "No, sir," answered the prisoner, with a touch of pride, "but you should have seen that plate."

Why Fugitive.
"This," said the man with the unbraided hair, as he pulled a manuscript from his pocket, "is a fugitive poem. 'Why do you call it a fugitive poem?' asked his friend. 'Because,' exclaimed the versifier, 'every time I hand it to a publisher I have to run for my life!'"

Knew The Territory.
"So you're still hunting work?" "Yes, sir," answered the Plover. "Don't you know that out west they are willing and anxious to give men employment?" "Sure I do. Dat's de reason I likes dis territory. You can go on hunting work without bein' disturbed."

Physician Gives Advice.
Tells Why So Many Suffer from Catarrh and Rheumatism.
A distinguished physician, famous for his successful treatment of catarrh and rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, states as follows:—"Our climate, being more or less damp and changeable, is bad for catarrh and rheumatism, and care must be taken not to let these troubles gain headway. In addition, he says that a great many Canadians are careless in their habits, and to this as much as climatic conditions is due a great deal of the trouble. Insufficient clothing and improper eating will cause rheumatic and catarrhal troubles in any climate."

Will Answer Question When Time Come.
San Antonio, Mex., Nov. 19.—"My friends do not require me to prejudice the future and I shall not take the advice of my opponents on this subject. I hope it may never become necessary to run for office again, but I will not attempt to decide that question until the time comes to act. I do not see any necessity to say any more on the subject."
