LIGHT OUT OF ORDER MAY KNOCK IT OUT COAL STOVE EXPLODED
THE NIGHT BEFORE THE ROAD PAVING MATTER AND KITCHEN IN HOUSE
BOY WAS KILLED NOT YET SETTLED. WAS WRECKED.

At the 'Corner of Centre and Union Streets—Tree Caught Fire From Stay Wire The Night Previous—Waa Wire High Enough?
There promises to be some interesting developments in the Charles Bostridge case against the city when it comes to trial. The night before the plaintiff's boy was killed by a shock from the guy wire of the electric pole at the corner of Centre and Union streets, a large tree, to which a stay wire was attached, caught fire, and the light department office had to be telephoned to it. It is claimed that this light was out of order, and that the light department had realized it a night or two previous. There was electric leakage somewhere or the portion which the guy caught hold of would not have been dangerous. The prosecution's main contention will be that the guy wire was not fastened high enough above the walk to be beyond reach of passersby. The light department claims it was about six inches above the height required by law, while the plaintiff will be prepared to show that the wire fastening or ring on the pole was less than five feet above the walk.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.
Heard the Pros and Cons Concerning Street Rumors.
The Board of Health met on Tuesday afternoon and its members felt happy over the fact that since last Saturday no new cases had developed. An odd case will, no doubt, be discovered now and then, but the vaccination of the people is going to stamp out the epidemic, in a very short time. If everybody gets vaccinated, the fort hospital will soon be empty.
The board had invited Alderman Graham and Dr. Bogert to be present and make definite statements about irregularities which they alleged against the board and its officers. Ald. Graham's were of a general nature, such as are heard on the street and were shown by the mayor to be without much foundation. Dr. Bogert's chief charges were that the health officer had not isolated all cases of which he knew. The health officer denies and challenged proof. Dr. Bogert said he could prove what he said, and Dr. Bell declared he couldn't. There was a warm passage between Alderman Angrove and the medical health officer, with reference to a mistake made by the latter on Thursday last by entering the house of a relative of Ald. Angrove's on Queen street to see an alleged case. The wrong house was visited. The debate between the alderman and the health officer finally reached an exciting climax, and Dr. Eberington stepped in and prevented bloodshed.
The mayor defended the health officer in regard to the street criticisms made of that official, who was doing his very best to carry out the law. The mayor stated at the council meeting Monday evening that if the health officer resigned, the board couldn't get another doctor in the city to take his place at this time.

CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE.
George Free Wanted to Fight Whole Police Force.
George Free is a small man, but when in his cups, is very troublesome. He has been before the court on several occasions, and also served twelve years in the penitentiary, on a serious charge. Last night about 7 o'clock, he was very drunk, caused a disturbance at the corner of King and Brock streets, and Constable Filson hustled him off to the lockup. Free fought with the constable all the way, and used some very bad language.
In the police court this morning, Free was fined $5 and costs, or one month, and as he had no money, he was forced to go down.

Your Stomach Warns You.
Some organs can get out of order without your knowing it, but not the stomach. Pain, heartburn, water-brash, belching, or a sense of fullness tell the story at once. Use Day's Dyspepsia Cure at once. It has digestive, tonic and laxative properties. Each bottle contains sixteen days' treatment. For sale only at Wade's drug store.
Bibby's, the men's underwear store. On Tuesday a horse was sent back to the American side from here. The Canadian authorities will not allow any horses to cross now for fear of the foot and mouth disease, which exists in the United States.
Lennox Cascara Laxatives for constipation. Regular price 25c. each; two for 25c., at Wade's drug store.

MAKES ASTONISHING CURES.
Mi-o-na Tablets Cure Dyspepsia By Promptly Removing the Cause, or Money Back.
There is just one way to cure dyspepsia and stomach disorders, trivial or serious and that is, to tone up or put energy into the stomach walls, so that they will be able to properly mix or churn the food.
"Mi-o-na" tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction and in a short time it is able to do its work properly.
Harry Dodd of Bridge street, Hastings, Ont., says: "For seven years I had suffered and spent much money doctoring, but all to no avail. I could eat but very little, as the food would ferment and sour, making gas, which caused serious heart oppression. I was in constant misery, sour gas would belch from my stomach, I was languid and weak and had no ambition. I did not feel like going anywhere or seeing anyone. There was a constant chill pain in the pit of the stomach, I was unable to sleep, was nervous, restless and would awake more tired than on going to bed. I tried Mi-o-na and soon found relief, and in less than six weeks Mi-o-na had completely cured me.
G. W. Mahood, the druggist, sells Mi-o-na tablets at 50c. a large box under a rigid guarantee to do all that is claimed for them or money back.

THE BY-LAW TO BE PASSED REQUIRES A THREE-QUARTER MAJORITY VOTE OF COUNCIL—SOME ALDERMEN MAY SEcede.
Although the Board of Works' recommendation regarding street paving passed the city council by a vote of 15 to 4, the matter may yet be bowled out, as the by-law requires a three-fourths majority vote of the council, or seven-tenths of the report on Monday evening are talking of opposing the by-law when it comes up at the next council meeting. If they do so, then the road paving question will receive a slap in the face, for although there will be a majority in favor yet there will not be enough votes to pass the by-law. If this is to be the result, then there will be no street paving for probably five years, and the city engineer will have to revise his other road construction plans as the downtown roads can no longer be allowed to remain in their present disgraceful condition. The engineer will never recommend that they be macadamized, but will simply advise patching them until such time as a paving by-law is passed. To pass the by-law for the three blocks proposed in the report of the engineer, as adopted by the council on Monday evening, two more votes were needed, those of Ald. Harty and Hanley who were not present when the vote was taken. If either of the other aldermen who voted for the scheme desert it, or remain away, it will be good-bye to road paving.

EPIDEMIC STAYED.
No new contagious cases have developed for four days, and the outlook for a speedy stamping out of the mild but unpleasant disease that floated into Kingston some time ago is very bright. The people are being rapidly vaccinated, and by next week, very few will be found who have not been obeyed the law in this respect. Hence the danger of the disease spreading has been reduced to a minimum. There are not nearly as many cases at the fort as people imagine. From now on patients will leave the hospital faster than new cases will occur. The epidemic has caused injury to the business of the city, but there is now no reason why there should be any further scare. The people from the surrounding district have no reason to be afraid. They are perfectly safe in coming to the city as usual, for the civic authorities have taken the most emergent measures to isolate every case, placing them two miles beyond the city. People shouldn't believe the silly rumors that are going the rounds, as not one-tenth of them are true.

THE MEDICAL DINNER
Will Be Held on Thursday, Dec. 17th.
The date for the annual medical dinner has been set for Thursday, December 17th. Several prominent speakers have been invited and not the least of these is Sir Wilfrid Laurier. To advocate the difficulty of procuring a sufficient number of waiters, as in previous years, an arrangement has been made with the science dinner committee, whereby the science faculty will supply students to wait on the med's in return for their services at the science dinner. The general committee is under the co-sponsorship of Dr. E. Chatham of the final year.

G. W. Mahood, the druggist, does not guarantee Parisian Sage to grow hair on every bald head, but if there's any life left in the roots of your hair, Parisian Sage will stimulate the hair bulbs and cause your hair to grow again. Here is one case. "I am now using the second bottle of your Parisian Sage, and can notice a new crop of hair appearing. I am glad to say it is a darker color than my hair was before I became bald." Harry Reid, 10 Manhattan street, Rochester, N.Y.
Don't wait till you're bald before using Parisian Sage, use it now. Kill the dandruff germ and prevent baldness.
G. W. Mahood, the druggist, sells Parisian Sage at 50c. a large bottle, and he guarantees it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair, and cure all diseases of the scalp, or money back. Parisian Sage is a deliciously invigorating hair dressing; it makes the hair soft, fluffy and beautiful.

The members of the Dramatic Club are rehearsing faithfully for their performance. "Much Ado About Nothing" to be presented on Nov. 30th at the Grand.
The final year At Home to have taken place on the 27th instant, has been postponed indefinitely. This is due to the fact that the senate of the university has requested that no more At Homes be held till after the holidays. This has aroused considerable discussion among the members of the club, as they feel much disappointed in not being able to hold their annual "At Home" before Christmas. They hope to be able to hold it immediately after New Years.

People in York Street Home Had Exciting Time, But Escaped Injury—Windows Broken and Furniture Thrown in Heap.
A coal stove at the home of Charles Thomas, corner of York and Barrie streets, exploded about four o'clock, on Tuesday afternoon, and almost made a total wreck of the kitchen. Luckily, two members of the household, who were home, were in one of the upstairs rooms at the time, and thus escaped injury. The cause of the explosion is unknown, and the damage is estimated at about $300.
The coal stove was situated in the basement, and was fitted out for heating water for a large bath. Mr. Thomas says that he started the fire about two o'clock in the afternoon, and then left the house. The explosion occurred two hours later, as he was on the front steps of the house, about to enter, and they had escaped. Nirenstein, who boards with him, was in one of the upstairs rooms, with a baby, and Thomas opened the door immediately, and shouted to Nirenstein, asking him if they had escaped. Nirenstein answered that they had escaped, came down, and then the two started an investigation. The explosion was a most terrific one, the flooring being torn up and strewn all over the floor, and mixed up in it, a tangled mass, was the furniture, stove, and every article in the room. Everything was in a topsy turvy state. A small fire started in the ruins, but this was extinguished before it made any headway. Nearly all the plaster was knocked off the walls, and large holes were made in the ceiling. Every window on the one side of the house was shattered, and some of the windows in the house next door, were also broken. A small room leading to the kitchen was also badly damaged, the door being blown clear of its hinges. There was no damage in any of the other rooms.
The explosion could be heard some distance, and attracted quite a large crowd to the scene, many of whom waited around until late in the evening. Mr. Thomas has lived in the house for about two years, renting it from Andrew Mills. An investigation will, no doubt, be made to see what was the cause of the accident. It appears that the stove on previous occasions, has given some trouble.
Mr. Thomas is to-day congratulating himself on the very narrow escape he had, as, had he been in the kitchen at the time, he would, no doubt, have met a horrible death, and he states that it was his intention to go into the kitchen. The explosion stopped him on his way.
"I was just about to go into the door when I heard the awful crash," said Mr. Thomas to a Whig reporter, who was on the scene, immediately after the affair occurred. "I knew that Mr. Nirenstein and the baby were inside, and I was afraid they had been injured. When I found that they had escaped, I was very thankful. They were indeed saved in the same, immediately after the explosion. Mr. Nirenstein and the baby were in a room directly above the kitchen, and both suffered a severe shock."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.
Name For The Hotel.
Kingston, Nov. 24.—(To the Editor). As to the name of the coming big hotel, suggestions are in order. Is "Chateau Rideau" really euphonious? To some of us it does not appear so, the similar ending of the two words, not falling strongly or pleasantly on the ear. "Hotel Rideau" would be ever so much better. It is a telling, musical name that is wanted. But, best of all, and by far, "Chateau La Salle"! Listen to the music of that, and see how it stands out. And besides, the fine historical flavor of it! How weak in looks and sound is "Chateau Rideau" by comparison! What think you, Mr. Editor?—Yours, NOMEN.

Tale Of A Municipal Jaunt.
Toronto Saturday Night.
In 1882 when Stratford was erecting its jail, the city council was sent as a delegation to Kingston, to study the most approved methods of imprisonment. One of the members of the council was somewhat illiterate and had never travelled so far before. He was so interested in seeing new places that at every station he would get off the train and walk up and down the platform in order to see the different buildings.
Down past Belleville the train stopped at a tank to take water, and the representative from the Canadian Stratford-on-Avon got off as usual to explore. When he came into the coach again one of the party asked him: "Well, George, what is this?" He was greeted with the reply: "There don't seem to be no place, but the sign calls it Castoria."

Frightened Horse Ran Away.
A runaway occurred on Union street on Tuesday evening about nine o'clock. A young man from the country, driving a rather spirited horse, along by Victoria school, when a young lad dashed across the road frightening the animal. The horse made a couple of leaps and was galloping away before the driver could get him under control. The animal ran out Union street at a furious pace, the light rig bounding from one side of the road to the other. The young driver held on gamely and at Ellerslie avenue had his horse well under control.

The How Of It.
Hamilton Herald.
We assure the Kingston Whig that the at-large system of electing aldermen was abolished in Hamilton because it was a failure and the people became disgusted with it. It was grossly abused by the party machines and it was cumbersome and complicated in operation. The at-large system may be suitable for small towns, but it is obvious that the larger the town the more difficult it is to operate until a point is reached where its operation would be virtually impossible.
