The Man On Watch

The Lampman asked me to reply to a letter in the Whig of the 23rd inst., written by Rev. J. Charles Villiers, who takes his task over a criticism made of the ministers for not wanting to close the Sabbath schools unless the places of amusement in the town were also closed.

Any alderman, said the Lampman, who turns around and votes against the road paving scheme after voting for it, is not a good man. I want to get a good view of one of these turnovers," he said. "It would be scandalous to block the scheme now because there is a chance to do so when the by-law comes before the council."

There's some Scotch blood in the lampman, and he'll wear a spray of rather on Monday. He can recall the banquet held by the Kingston Scotchmen for nearly fifty years past, and says there were some wonderful things done in those long past days.

ALL PARIS EXCITED

Confession of Madame Steinhil Causes Sensation.

Paris, Nov. 23.—The arrest of Madame Steinhil, after her confession, that she knew the murderer of her husband and her mother, Madame Japy, who were found strangled in the home of the artist on the morning of May 31st, affords Paris the biggest sensation it has had for years.

M. Briand, minister of justice, is reported to have already begun a secret inquiry into the case to determine the truth of the allegation that M. Leydet, the examining magistrate, entertained relations with Mme. Steinhil, which induced him to stifle the affair.

Political opponents of the government, like Henri Rochford, have been trying to make political capital out of the affair by seeking to force an exposure of the scandal connected with the mysterious death of Felix Faure, president of the republic, in 1899.

The Libre Parole openly charges Mme. Steinhil with having poisoned President Faure. The journal continues by charging that Chief of Detectives Hannard and Magistrate Leydet knew that the arrest of Mme. Steinhil would inevitably lead to the taking up of the scandalous mystery of Faure's death, which had been stilled for ten years.

THEY REFORM HUBBIES

WONDERS WROUGHT BY MENTAL SUGGESTION.

Treatment Effectual Also For Extravagant Wives and For Bad Boys and Girls.

New York, Nov. 23.—Rev. Henry C. Rose, in the Church of the Redeemer, Newark, N.J., of which he is pastor, declared that every fault, sin or crime could be prevented, even bad habits cured, by mental suggestion given in homeopathic doses while the patient slept.

Show me one hundred children addicted to swearing, lying or other vice and I will reform thirty-five merely by sitting down beside their beds as they sleep and talking to them," Mr. Rose said. "Forty-five of the hundred will be greatly benefited by the treatment, and only twelve will fail entirely to respond."

"By sleep I do not mean hypnotic sleep. Natural rest is far more preferable to the neurologist for this kind of work. Then, although the conscious self is slumbering, the sub-conscious self is wide awake and on the alert. The sub-conscious self never sleeps. It is keenly susceptible to suggestion and asserts itself to abide by such suggestions when the conscious self is aroused."

Mr. Rose cited an instance in which he and the Rev. Elwood Worcester, pastor of Emmanuel Episcopal church of Boston, engaged jointly, in which one hundred children were "treated" for depravity with the result he outlined.

"While the mind of a child is more susceptible to mental suggestion during sleep than that of an adult," continued Mr. Rose, "the adult can be reformed by persistency. I know of women whose homes were made unhappy who reformed their husbands by waiting until the latter slept, then sitting down beside their beds and talking to them. One, whose husband drank, told me that she spoke about as follows:

"I am going to have a little talk with you, Henry. You will not awake, because I am going to tell you pleasant things, and because I will not harm you, but love you, you will listen. You will not be alarmed, but will listen to me closely, because we will both be happy."

"Having dealt with him negatively she then spoke positively. 'To-morrow when you will have finished your work, you will not go to the club and drink and carouse. You will return home, where you will find a good dinner and a happy family. The evening you will spend with me, because I will entertain you so that you will not want to leave.'"

The next day the husband came home as his wife said he would, forgot his club, and soon, after persisting in the treatment, the wife had entirely cured him. If such treatment is beneficial to husbands it will be good for wives, too. They might be kept from immorality in spending or dress, and many unhappy homes would be brightened."
